STRANGE THINGS AT SEA.

A Cloud Cradled Frog and a Cat That Would Not Drown.

A remarkable story about the American ship Iroquois picking a live frog off a cloud in midocean excited a murmur of comment along the water front, and had the story come to port with almost any other man but Captain Taylor it might have been doubted. Taylor's reputation for veracity is well established in Portland, so the strange story was taken without a grain of salt and with only a few drinks of whisky. An unusual tale of the sea always brings to mind another, and the frog story of the Iroquois was no exception.

"There's strange things happen on board ship, sometimes," said Al Betts, the well known river pilot, "and scragging frogs off the clouds with a topmast is not the strangest. I remember an occurrence on board the old clipper Plumduff, which was so remarkable that I am frequently accused of handling the truth in a careless manner when I re-

"The Plumduff was en route from Calcutta for the Columbia in ballast, and I was first mate under Captain Timbertoes. Among other live stock aboard was a maltese cat. The cat behaved very well for the first week or two, but when we got over on the equator she made the night hideous with her incessant yowling. Old Timbertoes had the goat and did not sleep well anyway, and this infliction nearly made him crazy, so one night he came out, and, finding the cat in a good, convenient position, kicked her over into the sounding sea.

"The only witness to the deed was a lascar sailor at the wheel, and when he told the rest of the crew we almost had a mutiny on our hands, as they prophesied all sorts of bad luck would happen to the ship. Nothing came of it, however, and as we were in good ballast trim we came flying along in rattling shape, and about 90 days after leaving the Ganges our mudhook went down in Astoria harbor. In due season the custom house boat came out, and when the officers clambered aboard Denny Curran, the boatman, slacked away on his lanyard and his boat came around under the stern. A moment later we heard a yell, and Denny was coming up the ladder hand over hand as though the devil was after him, and in his boat, making a united chorus of 'meows,' was our old maltese cat and five half grown kittens.

"When Denny recovered his breath, he stated that, as his boat swung around under the stern, the animals immediately sprang off the top of the rudder, and the unusual sight nearly frightened him to death. We then went back and made an examination of the rudder and found that with her claws the abandoned cat had scratched a cavity out of the top of the rudder, and while the lascar sailors had been mourning her death she was engaged in rearing a family. The rudder, being high out of the water, of course prevented her getting wet very often, and a number of fishbones still reposing in the cavity indicated the diet which had kept her alive. She was taken ashore, and I think Scott Johnson, the Astoria stevedore, has some of her descendants yet, and to this day they will eat nothing but sea fish."—Portland Oregonian.

The Founder of German East Africa.

Carl Peters, the German who has done more than any other man to give his country the doubtful glory of a colonial empire, appears at present to be in disgrace with his government for reasons that are not obvious. He was in high favor during the opening of the Baltic canal, and in the many talks I had with him I was much impressed by his knowledge and his vigorous manner of presenting it. He is the founder of German East Africa, and it was he who fitted out the German expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha. Of course in Germany he vigorously abused all things English, especially when they conflicted with the interests of colonial Germany, but aside from this pardonable political humbug no man knows England better or appreciates her services in Africa more highly than Carl Peters. He is just now in London fitting out another African expedition, about which he throws considerable mystery. He deserves success, for he has great physical strength combined with mental equipment of the first order. He has traveled in every part of the world and has a mind ready to acknowledge what is good in different systems. It is melancholy to reflect that this man, only 40 years old, and who yet has lived long enough to see the German flag carried into the heart of Africa, thanks to his courage and enterprise—that such a man should be by Germany turned adrift, while the colonial office in Berlin is lumbered up with a set of bureaucratic pedagogues, the whole volume of whose learning and training is practically valueless.—Harper's Weekly.

A Prosperous Farmer

will always have an air of success about himself and his farm. Nothing will give such an air of prosperity to your houses, barns, wagons, buggies, tools, etc., as the careful use of paint. There is economy in paint. A barn that is painted, and kept painted, will not wear out half as fast as one that is allowed to become weather beaten. That is true of everything paintable is exactly suited to the coarse-grained woods generally used in barns, fences, etc. It contains creosote. Creosote is a disinfectant and prevents decay.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS CREOSOTE PAINT

Our booklet, "Paint Points," tells why it is economical to use paint. It tells what to paint, and how to paint. It is a handy book to have about the house. Send for it to-day—it is free. For booklet, address 19 St. Antoine Street, Montreal.
