THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 27, 1879.

Reciprocity in England.

THE Mayor of Sheffield recently spoke out boldly on this subject. He disputed the correctness of the statements that the worst of the depression was over and that the silver lining to the cloud of depression had already appeared, quoting statistics of bankruptcies to show that English commerce was in anything but a healthy condition. He claimed to be a free trader in the highest sense of the term; but he found France, Russia, Germany and America closing their doors against the importations of British goods, and could not believe in any free trade that did not mean a fair system of commercial interchange. He did not recognize that as free trade which kept England open to foreign goods, and yet debarred her productions by prohibitive duties. He continued as follows:—

"Admission of goods on fair terms all round was the soundest free trading. (Hear, hear.) It was said by several friends: 'But you would not for a moment think of imposing a tax upon the productions of foreign countries.' Well, that was exactly what he would do. Supposing that America, which seemed to be the chief party at fault in this matter, continued to be so determined to resist the importation of our goods, it was high time for us to foster our colonial possessions. He would like to have colonial produce imported into this country to a much greater extent than at present. It could be done by imposing a tax upon American merchandise, doing at the same time a vast amount of good to our Colonial possessions and bettering ourselves.

This utterance shows that the influential men of England are waking up to the fact that, rich as they are, the English people cannot go on forever importing if their export trade continues to be hampered by foreign nations whose products they admit duty free. It shows, further, that the idea of a commercial union, in which England and her colonies shall have free trade among themselves, while they combine to protect themselves by hampering the trade of nations whose unfair policy is inimical to free trade, is taking root among the English people. "It is high time," said the Mayor of Sheffield, in concluding his remarks, "that thoughtful men, concerned for the national welfare, looked well into this important question, and he thought if they did so they would come to see that if the produce of labor in foreign lands was imported into this country duty free, the produce of labor in this country should be exported into foreign lands also duty free. (Cheers.) If we continued to accept the produce of foreign countries as at present, we should only continue the suicidal system of finding employment for people abroad by exporting our gold and impoverishing ourselves."

Result of the Conference Between Bismarck and Andrassy.

ADVICES from Vienna state that the Conference between Bismarck and Andrassy, has resulted in an agreement that the German and Austrian interests in all European questions are identical and that the condition of Europe is such as will leave no doubt that the two Empires will be able to assert those interests peaceably. It is asserted that Bismarck, by showing that he is prepared for war, has taken the most effectual means to secure peace with Russia.

English Trade Prospects.

ACCORDING to a prominent English newspaper, British trade will improve because the home demand of the United States will prevent United States manufacturers from exporting goods to points where they now compete with the products of English looms. Upon which the New York "Herald" remarks: "If the time ever comes when American manufacturers will not have goods to spare, there will be an extraordinary surprise on this side of the water."

THE Dominion Exhibition at Ottawa was attended by 30,000 persons Thursday afternoon. The sum received for admissions on the previous day was $28,500. The Governor General and the Princess were present, and saw the prize horses and cattle, the saddle and carriage horses, the races over hurdles, etc.

The Canadian Indians.

THE TRIBES IN THE SASKATCHEWAN REGION SUFFERING FROM HUNGER.

HUMBOLDT, N. W. T., via Winnipeg, 21st Sept.—Col. Osborne Smith's party passed here, 140 miles from Battleford and 80 miles from Fort Carlton, to-day, en route for Battleford. The destitution among the Indians is very great. Several slight breaches of the peace have occurred, but nothing very serious as yet. The buffalo are not coming in, and it is feared the winter will be a hard one among the tribes. Colonel Smith is pushing on to Battleford with all possible haste, in order to equip companies of infantry at that point. The traders throughout the Saskatchewan valley report that the Indians are suffering terribly from want of food, but so far they have not made any hostile movements.

Gambetta, Viceroy Lytton of India, King Thebau of Burmah, Pring Knug of China, the Emperor of Salem, the Mikado of Japan.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AMERICA.—A Panama despatch states that neither the Chilean fleet nor the land forces are doing anything. The Peruvian treasury is bankrupt and has no money to pay soldiers or buy rations. The Finance Minister has resigned and no one will take the place. The National bank is closed, and several directors are in prison for illegally using two and a half millions of the funds. If there are printing presses at hand there ought to be a chance for the "Rag Baby."

BANQUET TO MR. THOS. WHITE.—Mr. Thomas White, M. P. for Cardwell, and formerly editor of the Montreal Gazette, was entertained at a banquet by the Masons of the City of Winnipeg, Manitoba, on the evening of the 17th inst. Among the subscribers to the banquet were Messrs. C. J. Brydges, Hon. John Schultz, M. P., and Hon. D. M. Walker.

SAYS the Truro Sun:—"Eels were so thick at Brookside the other day that they prevented the water wheel of the grist mill from working."

Sporting News.

AQUATIC.

TORONTO, Sept. 25.—Hanlan left in good spirits by the morning train for Chatanqua Lake, taking with him the "Louise," "Toronto," and "Dufferin" shells. He was accompanied by Mr. Coulson, of Montreal, who will advise him in his business, and Adair, a boat builder and sculler of local repute, who will accompany the champion ashore and attend to his equipment. Hanlan's request that the race be postponed a week has been granted.

THE MARQUIS OF LORNE has made an acquaintance with Hanlan, the champion, who says His Excellency knows more about the rig of a shell and the various styles of rowing than many professionals. At His Lordship's request Hanlan, tackled the four-oared crew in a local regatta the other day, and beat them handily, and then made a stiff race with the Marquis's steam tug.

THE WALKING MATCH.

It looks as though the Astley belt will again be carried to England by Rowell, who is considerably ahead of the other competitors. Rowell has proved himself a "stayer" in previous contests, and it is expected he will be able to keep his place at the front. Weston, who won the belt in the last contest in Agricultural Hall, London, in June, is in the background.

THE CHECKER.

Mr. Forsyth of Halifax, N. S. who is on a visit to this city, is a well-known checker-player. He came here without any intention of playing match games with any one, but has had several friendly contests. He beat Dykes, of Wardville, and also Weaver, of Point Edward, both prominent checkerists.—London (Ontario) Advertiser.
