The Markets.

The oat market in the Maritime Provinces has failed, owing to the large supply.
In Halifax the price quoted is 48 cents and sales are very slow. The potato market in the United States is demoralized.
In Boston the tubers are not wanted at any price. Eggs in the Boston market have fallen to 18 cents. To buy them at present quotations here—14 to 15 cents—would involve a loss. The flour and pork market remains the same as last reported.

LIVERPOOL, June 2, 1882.

BEEF continues in fair request, and with stocks being in small compass, holders have obtained an advance of 2-6 per 304 lbs. on Extra India Mess; other grades are unchanged.
PORK is less active, but prices are maintained.
BACON—Business has been restricted, owing to the holidays. Stocks are getting very low, and fancy cuts are about 1 per cwt. and long and short boneless 1-6 per cwt. dearer on the week. Hams and shoulders very scarce, and extreme prices realized.
LARD—The market has been quiet, and declined 6d. per cwt. both spot and forward.
CHEESE—Finest factories move steadily at the quotations; the lower grades are difficult to sell, and very irregular.

Presbyterian General Assembly.

SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS.

THE General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada has, during the present week been in session in St. John. The following figures and facts will be generally interesting: Taking first in order the statistics, it is found that there are 777 pastoral charges in the church, 41 of these being in the Presbytery of Manitoba, which shows an increase of 10 upon those of last year. The number of vacancies as reported is 114, of which 33 are in the Synod of the Maritime Provinces, 10 of these being in the Presbytery of St. John, and 5 in that of Halifax; 13 in the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, 4 of these in the Presbytery of Quebec, and 4 in that of Glengarry; 35 in the Synod of Toronto and Kingston, 6 of these being in the Presbytery of Peterborough, and 9 in the Presbytery of Toronto; 24 in the Synod of Hamilton and London, 6 of these being in the Presbytery of Hamilton; 4 other Presbyteries having 3 each, and 3 having 2 each, and 9 in the Presbytery of Manitoba. The only Presbyteries without vacancies were Miramichi, Newfoundland and Bruce.

According to the returns received, there are 1,509 churches or stations forming ministerial charges, an increase of only 3 on the previous year, while there are 231 mission stations or groups of stations. Omitting the latter, there is an average of more than two congregations to each minister in the Maritime Provinces, and some of them have more than 5; an average of about 2 each in the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, and of nearly 2 to each in the Synods of Toronto and Kingston, Hamilton and London. There are 65,593 families, an increase of 490 on last year; 7,792 single persons, an increase of 1,176; and 113,731 communicants, with their names on the rolls of congregations, or adding those in mission stations, 116,687, showing an increase of 3,717 on those of last year. The additions reported to the membership of the church were 11,060 in congregations, and 203 in mission stations, while the removals from the former were 7,796, and from the latter 105.

From the Dominion census taken in 1881, the entire Presbyterian population appears to be 676,165, or striking out all but those under the heading "Church of Canada," and also those in British Columbia and the territories, the number is 625, 317. Our statistics give 68,178 families, or say 70,000, and supposing each family to consist of six persons, this would give a total of 420,000. Judging from the reports there is an average of 80 families in each congregation, and allowing for the 88 congregations that have not reported at the same rate, these should contain a population of 42,240, making a total of 426,240, or 163,077 of a difference from the Dominion census. In the course of the year the ordinance of baptism has been administered to 9,721 infants and 664 adults, or in all to 10,385 persons, who are thus in recognized connection with the Church of the living God, are under spiritual oversight to be brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, and taught to adorn the doctrine of their Savior in all things. Last year

A Warsaw, N. Y., despatch says dairymen in the southern part of the country are agitated over a new weed, "Long John," believed to have been brought in with Western grass seeds. It grows three feet high, has the appearance of mustard, and the cattle are extremely fond of it.
The milk from cows feeding upon it is worthless.
A short time ago a wood pile near the residence of W. H. McNeil, Lansdown, Ont., was discovered on fire early in the forenoon. As no fire had been burning anywhere near the woods, it was quite a mystery how it was started; but an investigation proved that it was caused by the heat of the sun reflected from some milk pans standing outside the kitchen door near the wood pile. To make the matter surer, the reflection was thrown on another part of the pile, and a fire soon started.

Mc. Searlett, the representative of the Dublin Freeman's Journal and several other Irish newspapers, is at Ottawa, en route for the North-West. He intends writing a series of articles to the newspapers with a view to placing before the Irish people his views of the claims which Canada presents as a field for Irish emigration. He thinks it possible that with proper effort, a considerable emigration from the country in question might be secured.
The ex-Empress Eugenie will not, it is said, recognize Prince Victor as heir to the Imperial claims of the Bonaparte family until an end is made of the estrangement that has long existed between the Princess Clotilde and the Prince Jerome. The Princess lives in seclusion at Moncalieri, spending her time principally in religious exercises, and positively refuses to meet her faithless husband, although the separation has so ill an effect upon the political prospects of her sons, especially Prince Victor.
She never was a favorite with the ex Empress Eugenie, but has always been with the Parisians the most popular member of the Imperial family.
FATAL FISHING EXPEDITION.—On Saturday afternoon last four men left Kingston, Ont., on a fishing excursion. The occupants of the small boat were J. H. Campbell, James Cooper, Richard Cowman, and Jos.
McKinstry, all employees of the cotton mill. When half way between Garden Island and Point Frederick, McKinstry remarked that he thought he would upset the boat and see who was the best swimmer.
He was cautioned not to attempt such a thing, but did so notwithstanding. Once in the water they discovered their helplessness, and clung to the boat and cried for help. Mr. Hammond, messman of "B" Battery was returning from Wolfe Island, and his little son drew his attention to the capsized boat and men in distress. Mr.
Hammond pulled for them, but before he reached them the rolling waves caused two to lose their grasp on the boat, and exhausted they sank. The other two (Cooper and Cowman) were rescued and conveyed to the Royal Military College.

the number of infants baptised was reported as 9,250, an increase this year of 471, while the adults were 474, showing an increase again of 230, or an increase in both of 601. The number of elders is 4,492, an increase of 62 on the previous year, or about an average of 6 to each pastoral charge and mission station. The number of both readers and trustees, whether deacons or managers, or trustees, as some report, is 6,698, an increase of 153.

Bells as a Protection from Dogs.

A correspondent of one of our American exchanges answers the question, "How shall I protect my flock from sheep killing dogs?" as follows:—After much experimenting, the following has proved the most beneficial in protecting sheep from dogs.
For a flock of from 20 to 100 and 150 head, put on from 14 to 16 bells of various sizes and tone, from the common little sheep bell up to a large cow bell. It is the variety of tone and sound that terrifies the sheep-killing dog. The flock should always be so situated that they can approach the house of the landlord, through a lane gate or a gap in the fence, and if occasionally assailed near the house will invariably approach it at night to sleep, particularly if disturbed by dog or person. No dog, I care not how much practice he may have had in killing sheep, can be induced, even under the most trying conditions, to attack a flock having from 14 to 16 bells of different sizes and tone. A dog severely pressed of hunger, may be induced to attack a flock while lying down at rest, or silently grazing; but the moment that doleful sound of 16 bells of different size and tone reaches his ears, his tail will be seen to tuck between his legs and he is off for other quarters in a moment.
Not one dog in one hundred can catch and hold a strong sheep in a run of 400 to 600 yards, hence the advantage of having a flock so situated that the sheep can at all times approach the house, which they will invariably do when opportunity admits. For over twenty years I have kept a flock of from 125 to 200 head, and although there are many worthless sheep-killing dogs around me in the neighborhood, I have not had one killed by dogs. The tenant and help residing on my farm, within 100 yards of my residence (who are prone to be dear lovers of worthless curs) often have from two to three dogs each, from ten to fifteen dogs, upon an average, on the farm, and many of them known to be notorious for sheep-killing, though, strange to say, yet true, they have never killed one sheep known to myself.—

GENERAL NEWS.

The Suez Canal is being guarded by British troops.

The Seventh day adventists of Battle Creek, Mich., have for several years been withdrawing as much as possible from social and business intercourse with other people, and now they are gathered in a quarter of the town themselves, with their own grocery, meat market, bakery, and dry goods store.
