

MAYBE

As a student, there are 1001 things to do and consider. Rather than be too committed, there is always MAYBE. This way you aren't saying "Yes", but you aren't saying "No", either. You're considering possibilities. Then if you participate; okay, and if you don't; okay. This is fine unless you become known as a MAYBE person. When you do this, you are effectively letting others control you.

You have already made a CHOICE — you are at UPEI in a particular program. Reality means that you choose one route and reject the others — AFTER you have considered the options. You cannot however, remain constantly in a state of flux or indecision. There comes a time when you must make a choice or others will make it for you. You can't always be a MAYBE — you can't be everything at the same time.

One of the things you might be considering is your future career path: MAYBE. You may be wondering about jobs and how best to get one: MAYBE. You might be thinking about the approaches to take: MAYBE. You may be able to spare an hour from your busy schedule: MAYBE. More information might be useful to me: MAYBE. So I might consider finding out: MAYBE.

To help you in making the decision the following is a listing of the various sessions being presented on Career Options, Job Hunting, and Improving Your Chances:

Tuesday, October 1 — 2:30 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. — Main 01 — Finding the Right Job

Tuesday, October 7 — 2:30 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. — Main 01 — Improving your Job Chances

Tuesday, October 15 — 2:30 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. — Main 01 — Preparing an Effective Resume

Tuesday, October 22 — 2:30 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. — Main 01 — The Successful Interview

Tuesday, October 29 — 2:30 p.m. or 7:00 p.m. — Main 01 — Letters and Application Forms

The choice is up to you: NO MAYBE.

Election of Psychology Department Student Representatives

Each year, junior and senior students majoring in psychology elect three (3) of their fellow classmates to represent them at departmental meetings and other departmental affairs. These three student representatives have full voting privileges on all departmental matters and may serve on all departmental committees. As a consequence, your student representatives are capable of having a significant influence on present and future affairs of our department.

We are now asking for nominations for these positions. You may nominate up to three students of your choice, but you should check with your nominees to make certain they are willing to serve as departmental representatives. After nominations are gathered, you will be asked to vote for three of them at a later date.

If you are a junior or senior psychology major and wish to make nominations, please see Eileen Blanchard, the Psychology Department Secretary in Room 01 of Memorial Hall. Closing date for nominations is Friday, September 20th. A listing of all Psychology majors is also available in Eileen's office if you wish to consult it in making your nominations.

Everyone interested in helping the Student Union organize its "Our Present Future — The Future of Work" series is asked to call VP Academic Carolyn Ryan at 566-0648.

The SU has received an $1800 grant from the Secretary of State to coordinate this lecture series in conjunction with the Canadian Federation of Students.

The six-week calendar of prominent Canadian speakers, local debates, theatrical presentations and political receptions will start in mid-October and will centre on the choices students need to make now to make the most of a changing workplace.

Weight Watchers On Campus

There is a group of staff and students interested in forming a Weight Watchers Group on campus.

The group would participate in an eight-week, pre-paid "At Work" Program. The cost of the program would be $50.00 for staff, and $25.00 for students. The instructor is Sharon Loral.

In order to have such a group on campus, we need 20 staff members, or 40 student members. If you are interested, please call Sharon in the Health Centre at 566-0616 by September 27, so further plans can be made.
