

Britain's Labor Government Reappraising Defence Plans

The AP world spotlight today tells of the British Labor government's reappraisal of its far-flung defence commitments, reports Singapore's prime minister is still showing his frustration at this country's enforced separation from the Malaysian Federation, reveals that Venezuela's terrorists have their own arsenals and writes "fists" to the political warbar that accompanied India's quest for a high-powered radio transmitter.

LONDON (AP) — "Gentlemen," the prime minister said, "there are no sacred cows in the Labor government's defence policy."

With those words Harold Wilson a year ago invited key ministers to justify, if they could, the abandonment of some of Britain's old but costly commitments to protect her friends, partners and interests around the world.

The reappraisal still is under way. More than 100 overseas obligations are under scrutiny. Some date to the 18th century.

The signs are that the Wilson government is shaping up a case to put to some of her Atlantic allies and Commonwealth partners, asking them to pick up part of Britain's overseas defence bill.

West Germany, for instance, will be asked to contribute toward the price of safeguarding Middle East oil which feeds its industries. Australia and New Zealand will be urged to share the cost of securing the east-of-Suez region.

Britain's defence review will affect its policies for the next generation. But no major obligation will be surrendered without consultation with the powers directly or indirectly concerned. These exchanges are foreseen for early 1966.

Several preliminary conclusions have emerged: —There will be no wholesale slaughter of Britain's big responsibilities, such as the key bases of Aden, Singapore and Hong Kong.

—There will be extensive cuts to take account of the reality that Britain today is a second-class power short of cash. Garrisons in Aden, Singapore, Cyprus and Libya will be trimmed. Fixed establishments elsewhere will be cut as huge troop transports transform old standards of military mobility.

—There will be fulfillment, even widening, of what Wilson sees as Britain's unique role in the vast areas east of Suez.

Wilson told a correspondent last month he foresees Britain linking up with the U.S., Australia and New Zealand in a new security system in that region. The underlying idea is to try to check Communist Chinese ex-panism. The British leader disclosed he aims to internationalize Britain's nuclear weapon resources, not only for the defence of Europe but also for the east-of-Suez region.

Popular support for the guerrillas and the terrorist activities is nonexistent.

NEW DELHI (AP) — With Russian help, the biggest political rhabarb of U.S.-Indian relations in 1963 finally has been buried.

The Soviet Union has agreed (for a price) to supply a 1,000-kilowatt radio transmitter that India will try to use in countering Communist China's propaganda in Southeast Asia.

Thus ends the celebrated Voice of America case of two years ago.

It started with the China-India border war of 1962 and India's sudden realization how antiquated its propaganda machine was in comparison with China's.

New Delhi decided to contest Peking's radio propaganda in Southeast Asia, and sought a powerful transmitter. The United States offered one.

This $2,000,000 transmitter was to cost India the token price of one rupee (21 cents). India quickly accepted—then somebody discovered the Americans had tied a string to the deal.

Communist members of Parliament tried to introduce a no-confidence motion against the late prime minister Nehru on grounds that the deal compromised India's non-aligned foreign policy.

Newspapers called the deal a U.S. cold-war weapon.

SINGAPORE (AP) — Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew wept last August when his tiny but strategic state was kicked out of the Malaysian Federation.

He displayed a bitterness and frustration that was surprising for a politician renowned for calculated successes. He had seen his longtime dream that he might one day lead Malaysia shattered overnight.

Lee was given another shock some two weeks later when security police uncovered a Communist plot to assassinate him and his entire cabinet.

Three months after Singapore's expulsion Lee's bitterness and frustration are still evident.

The 42-year-old ex-lawyer generally is regarded as an incorruptible, idealistic chief who personally controls all aspects of his administration.

SKILLED ORATOR In the past he was famous for his skill as an orator, his dagger-sharp logic and perfect control of English—an art he acquired at Cambridge University.

Lately he has tended to leave sentences unfinished, to grope to maintain his train of thought. He may throw up his hands to indicate he is having difficulty expressing himself.

Few political observers in Singapore and Malaysia deny that Lee suffered an emotional upset from the expulsion of Singapore. It seems to have left him with a grudge against Malaysia—not without cause, for Singapore's expulsion is generally considered to have been rather extreme action on Malaysia's part.

To replace lost trade with Malaysia, Lee is reopening barter trade between Singapore and Indonesia. This trade was stopped when Indonesia launched his crush-Malaysia policy in 1963.

The future of this 214-square mile island nation with its 2,000,000 people depends almost entirely on its ability to trade. It also depends on the stability of its brilliant but erratic leader—Lee Kuan Yew.

CARACAS (AP) — A Venezuelan army officer surveyed the formidable arsenal of locally produced weapons: Mortars, machine-guns, booty traps and small arms to equip a guerrilla army.

"I wonder how many more of these factories they have," he said.

"They" are the terrorist armed forces of National Liberation, the Communist-sponsored underground organization that, since 1962, has used sabotage and guerrilla tactics in attempts to overthrow the government.

The "factory" the government raided was an innocent-looking farmhouse in the hills 25 miles southwest of Caracas. The farmhouse, partly camouflaged by banana trees, concealed a complex underground system that included electrically-operated walls and modern machinery used in manufacturing weapons.

In caves dug into the side of the mountain, expert Communist technicians made mortar shells, mortar spare parts for machine-guns and mortars and ingenious booty traps.

CHEMIST KILLED The discovery of the arms factory and the killing in the process of a Spanish Communist chemist in charge of the operation were hard blows to the terrorist organization.

But the long war between the government and the terrorists is far from over despite the recent government successes. In recent months the govern-

THE FUTURE OF THIS 214-SQUARE MILE ISLAND NATION WITH ITS 2,000,000 PEOPLE DEPENDS ALMOST ENTIRELY ON ITS ABILITY TO TRADE. IT ALSO DEPENDS ON THE STABILITY OF ITS BRILLIANT BUT ERRATIC LEADER—LEE KUAN YEOW.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE ARMS FACTORY AND THE KILLING IN THE PROCESS OF A SPANISH COMMUNIST CHEMIST IN CHARGE OF THE OPERATION WERE HARD BLOWS TO THE TERRORIST ORGANIZATION.

BUT THE LONG WAR BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND THE TERRORISTS IS FAR FROM OVER DESPITE THE RECENT GOVERNMENT SUCCESSSES.

IN RECENT MONTHS THE GOVERN-

MENT SEEMS TO HAVE TAKEN THE OFFENSIVE AND IS REPORTED TO HAVE INFILTRATED THE COMMUNIST ORGANIZATION.

THE GUERRILLAS, WHOSE TOTAL NUMBER IS UNOFFICIALLY ESTIMATED FROM 400 TO 600, HOLD OUT IN THE HILLS IN THE INTERIOR STATES, LOOSELY FENCED IN BY APPROXIMATELY 5,000 TROOPS.

SABOTAGE GROUPS CONTINUE TO HIT UNITED STATES AND BRITISH OIL INSTALLATIONS, CAUSING LITTLE DAMAGE BUT MUCH HARASSMENT.

POPULAR SUPPORT FOR THE GUERRILLAS AND THE TERRORIST ACTIVITIES IS NONEXISTENT.

NEW DELHI (AP) — WITH RUSSIAN HELP, THE BIGGEST POLITICAL RHABARB OF U.S.-INDIAN RELATIONS IN 1963 FINALLY HAS BEEN BURIED.

THE SOVIET UNION HAS AGREED (FOR A PRICE) TO SUPPLY A 1,000-KILOWATT RADIO TRANSMITTER THAT INDIA WILL TRY TO USE IN COUNTERING COMMUNIST CHINA'S PROPAGANDA IN SOUTHEAST ASIA.

THUS ENDS THE CELEBRATED VOICE OF AMERICA CASE OF TWO YEARS AGO.

IT STARTED WITH THE CHINA-INDIA BORDER WAR OF 1962 AND INDIA'S SUDDEN REALIZATION HOW ANTIQUATED ITS PROPAGANDA MACHINE WAS IN COMPARISON WITH CHINA'S.

NEW DELHI DECIDED TO CONTEST PEKING'S RADIO PROPAGANDA IN SOUTHEAST ASIA, AND SOUGHT A POWERFUL TRANSMITTER. THE UNITED STATES OFFERED ONE.

THIS $2,000,000 TRANSMITTER WAS TO COST INDIA THE TOKEN PRICE OF ONE RUPEE (21 CENTS). INDIA QUICKLY ACCEPTED—THEN SOMEBODY DISCOVERED THE AMERICANS HAD TIED A STRING TO THE DEAL.
