I have been taking a fairly positive approach to these articles - announcing upcoming events such as recruiters coming on campus; sessions to help you write up effective resumés or other assistance being offered to you in terms of helping you find work. Now, I find myself having to adopt a different approach. I AM DISAPPOINTED in a large number of you. And here is why.

I have been advertising employment opportunities through these articles. Example, I announced Simpsons Sears would be interviewing here seniors interested in the retail industry. How many candidates did they interview? A total of six!. So can I conclude the rest of you have permanent employment for next year or that no one else was interested in the retail business?

Then, we have had several openings with federal departments for summer employment. You all know the competition is stiff and you all know the first screening will be done based on your applications. And yet, for some obscure reason, the quality of your applications is lousy. You then come in, disappointed, wanting to know WHY you were screened out!

What else do I have to pass on to you? The resumé writing sessions I have been giving weekly have had a 50% turnout. People leave their names indicating their interest but then half of you forget to show up. Should I mention here that out of 25 students who signed up for such a session for Monday night, only four showed up! Not the most encouraging turnout, is it?

I am too realistic to presume you all have meaningful careers lined up and will not withdraw my offer to assist you - for the moment. But perhaps this will nudge a few of you who could use it.

OF INTEREST TO EDUCATION SENIORS. The School Commission of Sept Iles, Quebec, will be here in the next few weeks. We will take names of interested persons until March 3rd. We also have two-year teaching positions in modern urban centres in Nigeria. Please enquire with us if you are interested.
