Let's Talk It Over A Prince County Viewpoint

The voters of Prince Edward Island, like the voters of other provinces, can be roughly divided into four groups. First, there is the group whose livelihood depends entirely or in part on the government in power. Naturally they can be expected to vote for the candidates supporting that government. Secondly, there are the disciples of staidness who have always voted for the party their fathers and grandfathers voted for. Thirdly, there are the "floaters" who will vote for either side if the inducement in lucre or liquor is strong enough. Lastly, there are the voters who carefully and conscientiously weigh the election issues and on occasion change their party allegiance.

The larger this last group is, and the smaller the second and third groups, the more desirable, and in a sense the more democratic the election will be. Where this group really hold the balance of power, a party must give good, sound, progressive government or its members will find themselves sitting on the opposition benches. Where the other groups predominate, to government sometimes holds power more by virtue of the efficient organization of their election committees than by the record of their performance in government.

Death Yesterday At S'side Of Mrs. Ellen Harkness

Death came quietly to an aged and highly respected resident of Summerside yesterday morning when Mrs. Ellen Harkness passed away at the home of her son, John Harkness, 76 King Street. She was 96 years old.

The late Mrs. Harkness was born in Summerside, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Milligan who came to Canada from Aberdeen, Scotland. All her life was spent in Summerside where by her kind and gentle disposition and Christian way of life she made a host of friends and endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact.

Bereaved early in her married life by the death of her husband, who passed away fifty-nine years ago, she provided for her family of three and earned a place in the hearts of each, which can never be filled. She was a life long and faithful member of the Summerside Presbyterian Church. Two sisters predeceased her some years ago and she leaves to mourn one son John, with whom she resided, and two daughters, O'Della, Mrs. Robert Heffle of Brookline, Mass., and Cassie, Mrs. William H. Phillips, Somerville, Mass., to whom sympathy is extended. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from her late residence where service will be held. Interment will be in the People's Cemetery, Summerside.

TO THE VOTERS OF P.E.I.

Bedeque, P. E. I. April 21, 1951. I'm delighted to know that the Premier, according to his letter in Friday's paper, agrees with me about the desirability of a clean election campaign.

Premier Jones says that my suggestion that election bribery is practised here is an insult to the electors of the Province. That is nothing more or less than an attempt to evade the issue I raised. Premier Jones knows very well that such election practices are not only "tolerated", but that they are all too common among old party workers here. It is significant that he does not deny that fact in his statement.

My letter, against which the Premier hits with such self righteous bluster, was addressed to the old party candidates in Fourth Prince. These men have replied that they don't intend to use bribery IN THIS CONSTITUENCY. Thus they frankly recognize a situation which the Premier tries to cover up with his frantic cries of "insult!"

Why the Premier should have intervened in this matter I leave you to guess. The C.C.F. on Prince Edward Island has given its pledge that it's candidates AND PARTY WORKERS will not use money, liquor, or any other form of illegal pressure to influence the voters on or before April 26th. I note, in spite of the action of the Fourth Prince Candidates, that Premier Jones is careful not to make this same pledge on behalf of his party as a whole.

Since the Premier has seen fit to intervene in this matter, let him make this pledge now - before the election - Clearly and without equivocation.

J. HARRISON MacFARLANE.

New Organ Dedicated At S'side Church

An impressive service was held yesterday morning at eleven o'clock at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Summerside, when the beautiful new electric Hammond organ, the gift of the Horne family, was dedicated to the service of God by the Rector, Ven-Archdeacon G. R. Harrison. The organ was donated in memory of the late A. B. L. Horne, who passed away about two years ago and who was for many years a faithful member of the congregation.

The dedication was very largely attended, not only by the members of St. Mary's Church but also by many of other denominations. It was held prior to the regular Sunday service. The choir entered singing a professional "Great God To Thee, Our Hearts We Raise."

Archdeacon Harrison in his sermon expressed sincere thanks to those who had donated such a magnificent gift and said that it would be greatly helpful in the congregational service and worship of God. A beautiful solo was sung by Mr. Ivor Phillips "Bless This House". The choir also rendered a special and appropriate anthem, Miss Dorothy Wyatt was the soloist during the Agnus Dei. Mr. James Peach presided at the organ both during the dedication and the regular Sunday service. The recessional hymn was "We Love Thee, O God, Wherein Thine Honor Dwells."

Mrs. Frank Richard and daughter Shirley of Duvar, spent Saturday visiting in Forest View at the home of Mrs. Margaret Arsenault.

Mr. Leo Arsenault and son Clifford of Howland on Saturday motored to Cole Bridge and back home in the evening.

Miss Bernice Gallant, teacher at Forest View School, spent Sunday at her home in Woodstock.

Mr. Vincent Perry of Howland is at his home now after being employed in Summerside for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gallant and Junior of Forest View, spent a few days in Bloomfield at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Arsenault.

Forest View School has re-opened on Monday April 2, after having been closed for one week while the teacher, Miss Bernice Gallant, attended the Teacher's Convention in Charlottetown.
