U.S. College Instructor Saves Vietnamese Toll Heavy

NEW YORK (AP)—A United States college instructor says that 100,000 civilians a year are being killed in battle-ravaged Vietnam, a figure nearly 10 times the estimates from the war zone.

"I think the record is there for all to examine," the instructor, William F. Pepper, said at a press conference.

He said he was referring to civilian deaths brought on by "both sides in the war."

In Saigon, figures from Vietnamese and U.S. public and private sources indicated this year's civilian toll has averaged 1,000 a month — a projected 12,000 total that would nearly parallel battle deaths of American and Vietnamese military personnel. There are about 16,000,000 civilian Vietnamese.

Pepper spent several weeks in Vietnam last spring. His civilian casualty estimate was contained in an article published Thursday in Ramparts magazine, which is opposed to the Vietnam war.

An instructor in political science at Mercy College, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., Pepper is executive director of the New Rochelle, N.Y., commission on human rights.

Pepper returned from Vietnam May 3.

One of Pepper's sources, Hugh Campbell, a former Canadian member of the Interna-
