WILLIAM WELSH, Esq., has arrived from England.

THE M. A. Starr will leave Halifax on the 19th for this port.

CAPTAIN EVANS arrived to-day to resume command of the steamer St. Lawrence.

By telegram to L. C. Owen, brig "Serran," McDonald, Master, from Lisbon, arrived at Port Hawkesbury April 16th.

THE steamer "Hibernian" arrived in Halifax on the 15th, with 1,054 tons of freight and 282 passengers. Among her cabin passengers were Capt. Maxwell, wife and children.

MR. MATTHEW ALLAN is responsible for a challenge on behalf of ten dead shots drawn from among the Grits, to ten Liberal-Conservatives, to a shooting match at Kensington range. Mr. Allan must be joking. If he means business, let him produce his Grits. We imagine that he will, just now, find some difficulty in producing ten Grits.

ON Sunday morning last a family living in Gottingen Street, Halifax, went to church, leaving the house in charge of a young servant girl, who seemed to be in her usual good health and spirits. When they returned they found the girl a raving maniac. She was so violent that outside assistance had to be procured to secure her in a room.

Mrs. Oiler will appeal, and test the validity of the License Law in the Supreme Court.

MR. YEO is reported by the "Patriot" as saying in the House of Commons that "Mr. Pope had pledged himself not to take a seat in the Cabinet." How Mr. Yeo could give utterance to such an unmitigated mistatement is a marvel. Mr. Pope addressed some thirty public meetings in this County during the electoral campaign; and thousands could be got to testify that he was never asked for such a pledge, and he certainly never gave one.

Mr. Brecken's Last Speech.

THE following is the Mail's summarised report of Mr. Brecken's short speech respecting the insults heaped upon this Province by the Leader of the Opposition:—

MR. BRECKEN said he learned one lesson from the member for Lambton, and that was that it was to no public man's advantage to use such contemptuous and improper language as that which gentleman was in the habit of using. (Hear, hear.) He had a respect for that gentleman. His position and ability entitled him to respect. The first time he (Mr. Brecken) rose to speak to this House he alluded to the valuable services rendered by the First Minister in the case of the Fishery Award. But he (Mr. Brecken) was told by the hon. member for Lambton that he came from a little island in the east, the people of which were an ignorant lot. The hon. gentleman's statement in that respect was indeed a proof of the saying that political gratitude was an "utter oblivion" to favors received and a lively expectation of favors to come." (Hear, hear.) He (Mr. Brecken) remembered the time he owed his position to the representatives from the Island of Prince Edward, (hear, hear,) and he was astonished to hear the member for Lambton now placing such little importance on an expression of opinion from that Island. But the hon. gentleman, though he had had the opportunity of making an able speech, and though he had had his agents as industrious as bees, but not half so honest, to misrepresent the policy of the Government, the free and independent electors of Prince Edward Island, who made the member for Lambton the Premier of Canada, had recorded their votes against him and against the member for Lambton.

MR. TILLEY—That's what the trouble is. (Hear, hear.)

MR. BRECKEN—The member for Lambton reminded him of what was said about Beau Brummel. He was once asked if he liked vegetables, and he said no; he had once ate a pea and it disagreed with him. (Laughter.) The hon. member for Lambton was almost as fastidious as Beau Brummel. The verdict of the people of Prince Edward Island had been against that gentleman's party, and now that he found that he had lost their support, he said it was an insult to the people of Canada to say that they had endorsed the policy of this Government. It was an outrage, was it? This decision of the people of Prince Edward Island, did it disturb the hon. gentleman on his rosy bed? It was time that the hon. gentleman knew better than to say that the vote of a free people was an insult to this House or to this country. (Applause.)

GARIBALDI daily receives numerous visits from political personages. To a deputation from the Italian committee at Trieste, Garibaldi said: "I never have been more concerned for the interests of our brethren beyond the Alps than now."

Ottawa and Foreign News.

OTTAWA, April 16.

In the House to-day Mr. King asked whether it is the intention of the Government to make provision for a fish-breeding establishment in the St. John River or any of its tributaries this year.

Mr. Pope answered that several members of the House had urged it strongly on the Government, and it was under consideration.

Mr. Doull, as a question of privileges, replied to a newspaper charge that he had shirked the tariff vote. His absence was caused by indisposition; it was not true that he was in his place a short time before the vote was taken. If he had been in the House he would have voted for the tariff resolutions. The adverse vote of the Picton Board of Trade, which the paper said scared him, was passed when only seven members were present, six Grits and one Conservative, and the latter being in the chair, the vote was unanimous.

LONDON, April 16.

There was fighting in Batousland on the 21st and 23rd March. A son and two grandsons of Morvisa and 80 Basutos were killed. A number of cattle and horses were captured. The British loss was insignificant. The Boers meeting decided to never rest satisfied with less than independence.

CAPE TOWN, April 1.

The Colonial Secretary of Natal has telegraphed the Colonial Secretary of Cape Colony that Cetewayo has sent messengers to Lord Chelmsford with overtures for peace. It is thought that this is merely a ruse to obtain information of the movements of British troops.

LAHORE, April 16.

The "Civil and Military Gazette" announces that the immediate advance of the 1st Division under General Maude has been ordered. Gen. Appleyard with the 3rd Brigade remains at Jellalabad.

The Late William Ireland, Esq., Kingston, Ont.

OUT of various references which occur in files of Kingston papers, now before us, as to this gentleman—the father of Mrs. MacLennan (St. James' Manse)—whose death took place on the 6th inst., after an illness of about ten days, we select the following:—

"The flags on the City Buildings and on those of the University of Queen's College stood at half-mast on Tuesday, the 18th,—the day of Mr. Ireland's funeral,—the deceased gentleman having been for a number of years the Chamberlain of the city, and also Secretary-Treasurer of the University.

"In the City Council, which met on the evening of the previous day, a resolution of respect for the deceased, of sympathy for his family, and of an intention to attend the funeral in a body, as a testimony of regard, was adopted—having received the support of Alderman of all shades of opinion, expressed in terms of high eulogium.

At the same meeting Mr. Frank Ireland, the sixth son of the deceased Treasurer, who had been his assistant for a few years, was unanimously appointed to the vacant office. In reference to this action, the Daily News says: "The appointment of Mr. Frank Ireland to the position held by his late highly esteemed father, is a popular one."

The funeral of Mr. Ireland took place on the afternoon of the 8th inst., and was very largely attended. The Rev. J. G. Smith and the city police preceded the hearse, after which came the seven sons of the deceased, and after that Principal Grant and the Professors of Queen's College, wearing their hoods, caps and gowns, followed by a number of the students. Then came Mayor Gildersleeve, wearing the chain of office, the ex mayors, members of the corporations, and city officials, and then a great number of citizens, followed by a long line of carriages.

France and England will agree on a joint course of action with respect to Egyptian affairs and the Khedive's hostility to financial reform.
