United States Nears Control Of Payments Balance Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The chief international watchdog of sound currency said here the United States is nearing control of a major money problem—its balance of payments deficit.

Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, told the UN Economic and Social Council:

"The payments imbalance of the United States, even though calling for continued vigilance, on the whole appears to be approaching manageable proportions."

A payments imbalance or deficit results when a country pays out more abroad than it takes in from overseas, usually by importing more than it exports.

The U.S. deficit results from overseas spending for imports, foreign aid, military commitments and private investment. The deficit amounts to a drain on the gold backing the U.S. dollar, a cornerstone of the International monetary system.

The U.S. balance-of-payments deficit averaged about $1,000,000,000 a year between 1947 and 1957. Since 1958 it has been above $3,000,000,000 a year, but Schweitzer said he sees signs of a slowdown in the deficit increases.

The International Monetary Fund is in a key position to help smooth out balance-of-payments problems. Its 102 member nations, including Canada, may borrow from the fund's $15,500,000,000 in resources to stabilize their currencies.

A factor helping to slow the flow of U.S. dollars abroad is the increased sale of American goods overseas. Schweitzer said the U.S. competitive position in world markets is improving because in recent years costs and prices have remained remarkably stable in the United States but have risen sharply in other industrialized countries.

Canada, United States Agree On Joint Emergency Planning

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States have agreed to set up a joint civil emergency planning committee, it was disclosed here.

The committee is to recommend to the Canadian and U.S. governments on co - operation and mutual assistance between the civil authorities in the two countries in the event of an attack on either Canada or the U.S.

Details of the agreement, reached between External Affairs Minister Martin and U.S. Ambassador Walton Butterworth Nov. 15, were tabled in the Commons.

Proposals for establishment of the committee were outlined by Mr. Butterworth in a diplomatic note to Mr. Martin. The proposals were accepted by the Canadian government.

"As far as possible, civil emergency planning activities in the United States and Canada should be co-ordinated for the protection of persons and property from the results of enemy attack as if there were no border," says Mr. Butterworth's note.

The committee is to meet at least once a year.

The agreement provides for the committee to arrange for direct communication between such national authorities of Canada and of the U.S. as the committee considers to be concerned with aspects of civil emergency planning in either country likely to be affected by comparable planning in the other.

Its terms of reference permit it to make arrangements for joint U.S.-Canadian civil emergency planning.

Membership of the committee includes the secretary to the Canadian cabinet, director of the Emergency Measures Organization of Canada, the director of the office of emergency planning of the United States, and the assistant secretary of defence (civil defence) of the U.S.

The new agreement replaces the U.S.-Canada agreement on civil defence co-operation of March 27, 1951.

Last Brother Of duPont Trio Dies At 86

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Irenee duPont, last of the three brothers who led the duPont company from a small explosives manufacturing concern to the position of the world's largest diversified firm, died here Thursday. He was 86 and had been ill for some time.

DuPont was president of the duPont empire for seven years, 1919-1926. Upon his retirement he became vice-chairman of the board, a position he held until 1940. He served as a member of the finance committee until 1946.

He severed formal connection with the firm in May, 1959, when he retired from the board of directors to be succeeded by his son, Irenee Jr. But he maintained active interest, visiting his office daily as long as health permitted.

Born Dec. 21, 186, near Wilmington, duPont always said he based his industrial success on three principles: (1) It's nice to be friendly with competitors, (2) A business falls when it doesn't make money, (3) Sometimes a man has to swear at his colleagues to drive home a point.

DuPont had a strong formative role in the growth of the $1,000,000,000 - a - year firm founded by his great grandfather in 1802. As president he led the company into major areas of diversification, directed its reorganization into the decentralized lines under which it now operates.

FEWER FARMERS

Canada's 1961 census showed the country's farm population had fallen to 2,073,000 from 2,632,000 in 1956.

Opening lead — eight of spades.

Many players find it difficult to count out a hand, but anyone willing to apply himself to the task will discover that the difficulty is more imaginary than real. About the only technical skill required is the ability to count to 13, and, since all of us are capable of that, there is nothing more to be done than apply simple arithmetic to those hands that require it.

For example, take this deal where South is in seven notrump and West leads a spade. Declarer starts with twelve sure tricks and is a strong favorite to make the thirteenth. The only real danger he faces is an unfavorable diamond break, and declarer's chief concern, therefore, is to cater to the possibility of a 4-1 diamond division.

In line with this he does not tackle the diamonds immediately, but postpones playing them until he first learns what he can about the makeup of the adverse hands.

He cashes four spades and three hearts, discovering in the process that East started with a doubleton in each of those suits (and simultaneously learning that West started with two five-card suits). After cashing the ace of clubs, he then plays the king and ace of diamonds, West showing out on the ace and proving that East started with four diamonds.

The count of the hand is now complete. East started with precisely two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and hence five clubs (three of which he has already discarded). Double-checking this, West started with five spades, five hearts, one diamond, and hence two clubs.

This information is important because South might otherwise be tempted to take a club finesse to try to overcome the bad diamond break. Such a move would be fatal and entirely contrary to the indicated facts.

After cashing the queen of diamonds and discarding a club, South leads a club towards his K-J and confidently plays the king, knowing full well that the king will catch the queen.
