NOTES AND COMMENT

—Couldn't the alien act be applied to foreign gold seekers at Klondike?

—The Gaulois of Paris points out that under the commercial treaty concluded between France and Canada in 1893, France will benefit by an advantage which Canada gives Great Britain.

—It is expected that the British Parliament will reassemble during the first week of February. The Globe says it understands its Government intends to deal next session with the redistribution of seats in the House of Commons, but it is added an exhaustive enquiry into the question will first be made by a House or departmental committee.

—Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, who has returned from his mission as President McKinley's envoy to London on the occasion of the Queen's jubilee, in the course of an exultant article on the triumph of American diplomacy, hits the blustering press and diplomats in the following vigorous fashion:

The American Secretary of State has set forth the American side of the sealing case with an emphasis and directness which some deemed harsh. That was the signal for a regrettable outbreak. The irritated British press replied in kind, and injudicious American critics added a strident chorus. For a time the ears of the groundlings were well nigh split. But the calm, self-poised and undemonstrative American Ambassador and the business-like British minister of foreign affairs pursued the even tenor of their way unmoved; and now, amid the vanishing wreck of the storm, they announce to the world their deliberate conclusion, unswayed by all the tumult. It is a lesson that many may well take to heart, diplomatists, journalists and private citizens alike. Those who are really responsible for international relations, and who are worthy to bear such responsibility, are able to talk without shouting and to bargain without fighting. And in such men the American foreign service has not been and is not lacking.

—The New York Journalist's advises the United States to better its own conditions before devoting so much time and attending to the shortcoming of its neighbors. It says:

"The true test of patriotism—of Americanism, of loyalty to 'Old Glory,' the American eagle and all the rest of it—is to pitch into England. Threaten to push in John Bull's face in Venezuela in one breath and beg him to look after the welfare of our unprotected citizens in South Africa in the next. Criticize his methods of dealing with the famine and plague in India, while the few bushels of wheat we have raised with much flourish of trumpets to send to the sufferers are lying useless because our system of politics has ruined our American shipping, and our politicians could not find an American ship big enough to send it in. This particular brand of patriotism, which finds its vent in picking holes in somebody else, is very wearisome to the reasonable man."

On the other hand the Buffalo Inquirer is spooling for a fight. "As a matter of fact, it would do this country a might of harm," says that paper, "to have a couple of brisk wars just to show our dearly-beloved mother country, England, and a few other monarchies, kingdoms and empires what we can do when the occasion comes."

—We are informed by our old friend Mr. Ross of "Magic Healer" fame who has just returned from a tour through the western part of the Island that there are excellent prospects of an abundant crop of every variety. A trip through that section of the country at this season of the year is all that could be desired. The greatest drawback to its full enjoyment is the disgraceful state of the western road for some distance beyond the flourishing village of Richmond. It appears that the supervisor will not attend to his duties although his attention has been called to it more than once. Perhaps now as we have the Liberal Government in full swing the supporters of the party may expect their requirements to be more promptly looked after. Mr. Ross states that the road was in such a dilapidated condition that night overtook him ere he reached Richmond station and were it not for the great kindness of J. R. Larkins, Esq., who kindly offered the shelter of his hospitable residence we might have been forced to travel for half the night as there is no public place for the accommodation of travellers. Mr. Ross gave a glowing account of some fishing exploits related by Mrs. Larkins who had just returned from a fishing excursion at the popular fishing grounds known as Beaton's Mills. Some of the fish caught were very large, one trout weighing about 2 1/2 pounds, the others varying in weight but all fine specimens of the finny tribe caught in that section.

For your summer home.—Camp stools and chairs, folding chairs, lounging chairs, camp beds, folding wire cots, cheap feather pillows and cheap mattresses, at prices that will please you.—John Newson.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

At the Prorogation of Parliament.

The Queen's Speech at the prorogation of parliament on Tuesday last makes interesting reading. It is as follows:

"My Lords and Gentlemen:—
"At the close of the session, during which there has been disturbance and conflict in Europe, I am glad to be able to inform you that the cordiality of my relations with foreign powers remains unchanged. The united influence of the six powers, signatories of the Treaty of Paris was earnestly exerted early in the year to dissuade the King of Greece from a war upon which he unhappily desired to enter. Though they failed in this endeavor, they were able to bring about an early suspension of hostilities between the two belligerents and open negotiations for peace. These proceedings are protracted and a formal treaty has not yet been signed; but there is good ground for believing that all the most important matters in controversy have been adjusted and that in return for an adequate indemnity the territory conquered by Turkey, with a slight modification of the frontier, will be restored to Greece."

"I have given notice to the King of the Belgians and the German Emperor to terminate the treaties of 1862 and 1865, whereby I am prevented from making with my colonies such fiscal arrangements within my empire as seem to me expedient."
"In consequence of the infractions by the Chinese Government of certain stipulations of the convention of 1849 a fresh convention has been concluded establishing the frontier of Burma and China more advantageously to my empire and opening the west river of China to European commerce."

"I have concluded a treaty of commerce and friendship with King Menelik."

"The presence of representatives of the colonies and India at the ceremonies of the celebration of the sixtieth year of my reign has contributed to the strength of the bond of union in all parts of my empire, and additional proof of the attachment of the colonies to the Mother Country has been furnished in the fiscal legislation of Canada and the contribution that Cape Colony, following the example of Australasia, has offered for our naval defence."

"The famine which in my profound grief, has prevailed in large portions of my Indian domains, since the first of last year, has taxed severely the resources of that country. I gladly acknowledge the energy and self-sacrifice of my officers of all ranks, both European and natives, and of the many private persons who, with untiring zeal and anxious desire to avoid offence to native feeling, have labored to save life and relieve suffering. An appeal to the sympathy of my subjects in all parts of my Empire was responded to in the most generous manner, and I rejoice to learn that owing to the satisfactory rainfall there is every prospect that the area of distress will be very greatly diminished."

"The plague, which caused a large number of deaths, has almost disappeared. The improvement is mainly due to the energetic and judicious steps of the local governments. Every precaution will be adopted in view of the possibility of the recurrence; but, at present there is a steady decrease both of its prevalence and fatal effects."

"Gentle men of the House of Commons:—
"I am grateful for the liberal provision to which you have assented for increasing the maritime forces of my empire."

"My Lords and Gentlemen:—
"It has given me great pleasure to sanction the arrangements you have made for enlarging the important harbors of Dover and Gibraltar and for strengthening the military defences of my Empire. I anticipate that the facilities you have given for the practice of military manoeuvres will conduct to the greater efficiency of my army."
"The assistance your legislation has

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES.

Montreal Gazette: Mr. Tarte says that in the darkest days of the Liberal party Mr. Greenshields took $20,000 stock in the Herald. The Herald says he did not. Thus another division in the ranks of the Liberal party is registered.

Montreal Star: Sir Wilfrid apparently has his self-adjustable policy abroad with him. The British "enthuse" over it; the French cheer it, and the Germans are comforted by it. Like certain other things, it is guaranteed to please in any climate."

Montreal Star: "If a lot of our people are going 'gold hunting' under the Arctic sky, we ought, if possible, to do two things,—establish a permanent line of communication with the district by means of which the commissariat may be kept supplied, and make ample arrangements to enforce British law. Gold mining in the Arctic is a new kind of venture, wholly different from the same sport pursued in the wildest temperate or tropical region where cold has not to be reckoned with and where the soil can produce food."

La Verite: "Our First Minister has great talent, that of pleasing his hearers, no matter who they are. He can be everything to all men and he has been honored by two Governments who have hated each other for centuries. This is a clever stroke, and our First Minister is decidedly a great man. Only the Manitoba school question is not settled; the official usage of the French language is abolished in spite of the constitution, and Mr. Tarte remains a member of the Cabinet. That is the Tarpeian rock on which Mr. Laurier's triumph rests. His name will be forever linked to this new era which honors Canada, and will be inscribed on one of the brightest pages of the country's history."

A despatch from Hull, England, reports that the magnificent twin screw passenger steamer Prince Edward, built to the order of the Dominion Atlantic railway by the Earl Shipbuilding Co., made an average running capacity of nineteen and one-tenth knots an hour on the long distance trials, against a heavy sea. On her measured mile runs she exhibited easily a speed of twenty knots per hour. She will be in Boston in a week or two to commence her important service with the maritime provinces, and for the first time in their history Boston and Halifax will be brought within touch of one another in a time considerably under the twenty-four hours.
