WINDOW GARDENS.

Bulbs are Better for Winter Cultivation Than Geraniums, Fuschias, Etc.

Much more satisfactory results would be obtained by those who desire to brighten their homes with flowers during the dreary wintry months, if bulbs were planted instead of geraniums, fuschias, roses, etc., usually to be found in the windows of the fleur-loving housewife. Flowers of this description, although making a good growth of strong healthy foliage, seldom blossom freely under ordinary circumstances during the winter weather; while they require fully as much care and attention as do the bulbs whose blossoms rarely if ever fail, and whose rapid growth and beautiful fragrant flowers are sure to prove a source of continued pleasure to the owner.

One does not need to be an experienced gardener in order to have success with bulbs; they are easily cultivated, will do well in any good garden soil, and as they will grow and bloom with little or no sunlight, seem particularly desirable for those whose windows are shaded from the direct rays of the sun. There are so many desirable bulbs that one finds it hard to make a selection for the window garden, but as each and every variety of crocus, tulip, hyacinth, narcissus, etc., has its own particular charm, one cannot fail to have a nice collection whichever kinds may be selected. And if the bulbs are planted in succession during September, October and November one can be reasonably sure of a supply of flowers during all the winter months.

In order to prevent premature top growth all bulbs should be kept in a cool, dark closet or cellar after being potted until strong, healthy roots are formed. The length of time required for this process varies somewhat according to circumstances. But as soon as they have become well rooted the top growth will appear to announce the fact, and they should then be brought to the light.

Those who desire a beautiful floral ornament for the parlor or sitting-room should not fail to try the Chinese sacred lily. It is one of the very best bulbs for window culture, sending up from five to twelve flower spikes bearing large clusters of beautiful fragrant flowers. The bulb itself is large, and when in bloom is well deserving of a place by itself upon stand or mantel, where it can be seen to better advantage than when surrounded by other plants. Like hyacinth the sacred lily can be grown in water if one desires to watch the formation and growth of the roots. And if placed in a prettily shaped glass dish, with the pebbles that are to hold the bulb firmly in place placed artistically around it, it is both beautiful and interesting.

This lily to the Chinese is the emblem of good luck. Not only is good fortune supposed to reign wherever it is cultivated, but to its magic charm the Chinese accord the power of bringing to a happy termination the hopes of any lover who chooses to be in a house where a Chinese lily blooms on New Year's day.

RUNS ON THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

The Famous Concern Has Suspended Several Times and Has Been Accorded Favors

The Bank of England has never failed, though according to The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, it has more than once suspended payment and several times has come very near to failing. In 1696, two years after it began business, the bank was compelled to suspend payment, its notes being at a discount of 20 per cent. In 1745, on account of the invasion of Prince Charles Stewart, the Young Pretender, there was a run on the bank, which was met by paying drafts and notes in shillings and six pences. In 1797 there was another run on the bank, which Mr. Pitt and Mr. Dundas feared that it might not be able to meet, so on Sunday Feb. 26, an order in council was issued forbidding the bank to pay cash, and this order was approved by parliament. On May 1, 1823, the bank again paid the notes in coin. In December, 1825, in the middle of another panic, a run on the bank began. The bank would probably have gone under had not a number of £1 notes been discovered in a box. These were paid out, and the panic and run subsided. Peel's act of 1844 allowed the bank to issue notes to the amount of £15,000,000, based on government securities, but for every note issued in excess of that amount required actual gold to be kept in reserve. In 1847 the bank was in trouble again, and Lord John Russell, the premier, "relaxed" the bank act, so as to permit the bank to issue notes unsecured by gold, but the relaxation was not availed of. In 1857, during the panic, the act was relaxed a second time, and £2,000,000 of notes were issued unsecured by gold; and a third time, in 1866, the act was suspended, although a further issue of notes was found unnecessary.

Never Invites a Guest to Dinner.

The Spaniard, however courteous he may be, never invites a guest to dinner; in Italy, too, the privacy of the family is seldom invaded at the dinner hour; the Frenchman is delighted to entertain, but prefers to do it at his club, while the Englishman is never so genial as when seated at his own table with company surrounding him.

Room for Doubt.

"Don't you," said the pious landlady to the boarder, "believe that all flesh is grass?"

"No;" hesitated the boarder, as he took another hold on his knife," I think some of it is leather.

He Was Convinced.

A man in Nova Scotia was in doubt as to the genuineness of the reported cure of Mrs. Bernard Maguire and ex-Councillor Lingley, of Petersville, Queen's Co., by a course of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic and Hawker's Liver Pills. He wrote to Squire Lingley, and that gentle man promptly assured him that the testimonials were genuine.

Testing His Honesty.

Your druggist is honest if when you ask him for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion he gives you just what you ask for. He knows this is the best form in which to take cod liver oil.

CAPTAIN JOHN R. HIRE, of schooner Lillian, says: "I was suffering with inflammation of the chest, brought on by exposure at sea. Took a good supply of Puttner's Emulsion, which perfectly cured me. It has given me a new set of lungs.

WARD off the cholera by getting your system in healthy working condition. Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic, with a course also of Hawker's Pills, will excite every organ of the body to healthy action and afford the surest safeguard against disease.

GRATEFUL, PLEASING RELIEF AFTER MANY DAYS.

How a Queens County Man Found Permanent Healing.

His Own Experience Tells Fully and Freely some Truths which all Readers of this Paper Should Know.

Here and there, in almost every town of our province, are "chronic" cases over which doctors disagree; cases that become worse year after year. It is to reach such that the gentleman to whom these lines refer, and whose portrait is here given, has written the story of his case.

Mr. Branscomb's home is a Chipman, Queens Co., N. B. It was there that a representative of the Groder company called upon him, Sept. 1st, of the present year. His greeting was most cordial. He gladly acknowledged his thanks, giving expression to the following statement:

"It is five years since I first became afflicted with a form of indigestion. Last winter it became more severe, developing into chronic diarrhœa. I cannot tell you how much I suffered for SIX LONG WEEKS. It seemed as though relief could not be found. You will remember how I told you of my condition and asked your advice about taking a bottle of GRODER'S SYRUP. You told me that the medicine was a laxative and might not meet my needs. I delayed buying for a few hours until I began to hope that it would help me. Even my clothes seemed a burden because of bloating of stomach. It was with difficulty that I kept about sufficiently to attend to my business.

But I am a well man now from the use of your remedy. In three days after I bought GRODER'S SYRUP the terrible pain and distress across my stomach were removed. My bowels rapidly assumed a natural, healthy condition. Now I eat and drink as well as I ever could. I have gained constantly in flesh since March last. I am perfectly cured.

It seems a duty for me to state my case fully, that others who suffer as I did may know where to find a cure."

Truly yours,
E. A. BRANSCOMB.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ar.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

TEA! TEA!

Our TEA TRADE last season was the largest for some years, and we attribute it to the fact that the Teas we offered the public suited them both in QUALITY and PRICE.

Numbers of our customers have come back to us this Fall, and told us that if we could give them as good value this year as we did last year they would want no better.

We believe that WE CAN give them, and everyone else who favors us with an order, BETTER VALUE than even last season, as this year's crop of Tea seems to run more even than last year's; and having bought a much larger stock of it this year, we were in a position to buy it at very close figures.

We don't advertise to sell Cheap Shoddy Teas, as we don't keep them at all and would not sell them at any price; but we believe we do sell the best 20, 24 and 28 cent Teas in the city to-day. We make reductions off above prices on quantities of five pounds and upwards. Every Pound of Tea sold warranted by
