ENGINEER GRAHAM.

Of Montreal, Cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—Proof positive and convincing has been already given in Montreal, that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only sure cure for that dread disease Diabetes. And day after day fresh evidence comes to light, to make the proof more emphatic and convincing.
 Engineer James Graham, 50 Victoria Square, says:—"I suffered with Diabetes for six years. One of the best doctors told me I could not be cured.
 "I read of Dodd's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. Three boxes made me well, and I have not suffered from Diabetes since."
 "Such cures as this prove the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

 Papa—Fond of me? Why, he sleeps all day when I'm not at home, and stays up all night just to enjoy my company.

What Is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

In appearance Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an oval, chocolate coated pill. In the condensed form it contains all of nature's most strengthening and invigorating tonic and restoratives and for this reason it is unapproached as a blood builder and nerve restorative. It cures all diseases caused by thin blood and exhausted nerves and makes pale, weak nervous men, women and children strong and healthy. 50 cents a box.

A Good Stomach.

Is essential to health and happiness, but don't blame the stomach for biliousness. It is deranged, and causes indigestion, headache and irregular action of the bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels and by their direct action on these organs effect prompt and lasting cures of biliousness, dyspepsia, headache and all kidney ailments. One pill a dose, 2 cents a box, at all dealers.

PICTURE OF BOER TOWNS.

LIKE TOPSY, THEY JUST GROW, WITHOUT ANY PLAN OR BEAUTY.

A Boer town is not laid out on systematic lines, as one sees towns in Canada or Australia. The streets seem to run much as they please, or as the exigencies of traffic have caused them to run. I doubt if the plan of a town is ever drawn in this country. People arrive and settle down in a happy-go-lucky manner, and straightway build themselves a home. Their homes are places to live in, not to look at. There is an almost utter absence of architectural adornment everywhere. As I sit writing this epistle my eyes can range over a large number of dwellings. They are nearly all alike—plain, square structures, plastered snow white. There is a double door in the centre of the front, and a window at each side of the door. A stoep, about six feet wide, rises a foot from the pathway, and there is nothing else to be seen from the outside front. These houses look bare and bald, and are as expressionless as a blind baby. To me, most houses have an expression of their own.

In an English town a quiet walk in the dawning, making a survey of the dwelling places, always leaves the impression that I have gleaned an insight into the character of the dwellers therein. The cheery-looking villa, with its superabundance of ornament, is a monument in masonry to the successful mining jobber on a small scale. The solemn-looking, solid dwelling, standing in its own grounds, where every flower bush has its individual prop, where the lawn is trimmed with mathematical exactitude, and not one vagrant leaf is allowed to stray, speaks with a kind of brick and mortar eloquence of virtue that has never grasped the sublime fulness of the Scriptural text which saith:—"The way of the transgressor is had!" This is the home of the middle-aged Churchman, whose feet from infancy have fallen amid roses. He has never erred because he has never known enough of human sympathy and human toil and human struggle to feel temptation. The coy little cottage further on, surrounded by climbing roses and sweet-smelling herbs, where the gate is left just a little bit open, as if inviting a welcome, seems to advertise itself as the home of two maiden sisters, who though passed the giddy girlhood stage, still have hopes of being some body's darling by-and-by.

But in a Boer town most of the piety is knocked out of a man. You stare at the houses, and they stare back at you dumbly. There is nothing pretentious or rakish about any of them; no matter how riotous a man's imagination might be, he could never conjure up a 'wink' from a Boer house though I have seen houses in other parts of the world that seemed to cock an eye at a passing traveller and invite him to try the door.

They have only two styles of roofing to the dwelling—either the old-fashioned gable roof or the still older kind of 'lean to,' the latter being nothing but a flat top, high at the front and running lower toward the back, in order that the rain water may carry off rapidly. They paint their doors and windows a sober reddish brown, for your true Boer has an utter contempt for anything gaudy or gay. He leaves that sort of thing to his nigger servants, who make up for the master's lack of appreciation in the matter of color by rigging themselves out in anything that is startling in the way of contrasts, for if the white master is a Puritan in such things the nigger servant, male or female, is a perfect sybarite.

One of the most charming things noticeable about a Boer town is the plentitude of trees in the streets. They are often ornamental, always useful for purposes of shade. There is no regularity about their distribution; they seem to have been planted spasmodically, at odd times and at odd positions. There is little about them to lead one to the belief that they had received overmuch care after they had been put in the soil. I have found a very creditable library in pretty nearly every Boer town that I have visited, and it is a noteworthy fact that all of our most cherished authors find a place on their bookshelves. One other thing I have noticed, which, though a small thing in itself, is yet very significant. In nearly every hotel, and in many of the public places, portraits of our Queen and members of the Royal family have been hanging side by side with portraits of notable men, such as Mr. Gladstone, Lord Salisbury, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Rhodes. During the course of the war all kinds and conditions of Boers have had free access to the rooms where the portraits were to be seen, but now I find that no damage has been done to any of those pictures, excepting those of Mr. Rhodes and Mr. Chamberlain. This has not been an oversight on the Boers, for I defy any person to find a solitary picture of the two last-named gentlemen that has not been hacked with knives. But the Queen and Royal family photographs have in every case been treated with respect.—London News.

SCHREINER'S ATTITUDE.

Mr. W. P. Schreiner, the late Premier of Cape Colony, speaking in the Cape House of Assembly recently, announced his intention to support an amendment to the Government's treason bill, which, without disapproving martial law, declares it continuance in certain districts contrary to the rights of British subjects. He took the ground that the amendment would not hamper Imperial action. The occasion was seized by Mr. Schreiner to make a long and eloquent explanation of his attitude throughout the war in South Africa.

"If I have been guilty," he exclaimed, "regarding the insufficient colonial defences, the military authorities have been ten times more guilty. I delayed calling out the volunteers until the invasion of the colony compelled it. I was not aware at that time of the weakness of the Imperial force." He vigorously denied the existence of an Afrikaner conspiracy declaring that sympathy with the Boers did not mean disloyalty, provided allegiance was maintained. Mr. Schreiner paid an enthusiastic tribute to the humane methods of Lord Roberts.
