

LIFE.

Life is wrought of little things,
Little joys with azure wings,
Little cares with barbed stings.

Little moments swarm in showers,
Bringing weeds and bringing flowers,
Dying in the silent hours.

Fall the silent hours away,
Clad in white and clad in gray,
On the bosom of each day.

Every day its burthen rears,
Sorrows, Joyance, pleasure, tears,
Tribute to the hungry years.

And the years sweep out to sea,
Bearing you, and bearing me,
To the wide eternity.

Kidnapping and Murder.

(Via French Cable to the New York Evening Telegram.)

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The particulars of a most atrocious crime, committed a short time ago, are published in the English papers this morning.

MURDER CONFESSED.

William Marius de Jongh, clerk to the Minister of the Colonies at the Hague, confesses to murdering a school boy named Marius Bogaardt, a son of a former Secretary General, now living a retired life. The murderer laid his plans very cunningly, and before securing the boy had written a letter to the father asking for 75,000 guilders, or 30,000, for the surrender of his son, but how and where the ransom was to be paid was not clear, though it is supposed De Jongh had accomplices. The confession of how the murder was committed was told by the prisoner to his sister, to whom he was devotedly attached. De Jongh wept bitterly while giving the following account of the motives and circumstances under which the murder took place:—

PLANNING THE CRIME.

He said that on September 23, before he committed the crime and before he had even possession of the boy, he wrote the letter referred to, demanding the ransom on a certain date. The letter was written in the Cafe St. Hubert, from which he went to William's Park, where Mr. Bogaardt resided. It was two o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Bogaardt had just left her house and driven in her carriage to Schevingen. De Jongh thereupon went to the Rhinish railway station, and, having directed a letter, put it into the post office letter at the station. He then took a cab, but as the cabman was asleep when De Jongh entered the vehicle he did not notice his face. De Jongh drove to the school and asked for young Marius Bogaardt, a fine looking boy, thirteen years of age.

THE KIDNAPPING.

'Do you know me?' he asked of the boy.
'To be sure,' the latter replied. 'I have often met you in the park.'
'Now, my boy, your mamma asked me to fetch you from school,' said De Jongh.
'Did she not, then, go to Schevingen?' inquired the lad.

'Yes,' replied De Jongh, seeing that the boy knew his mother's intentions, 'but she told me she would on her return wait for us at a peasant's house on the downs near the town.' The boy then fetched his school articles, asked permission to leave school and accompany De Jongh in a cab.

THE MURDER.

When they arrived on the downs the murderer sought a quiet place where he threw the boy on the ground, bound his hands and feet with cord, which he had bought that morning. 'Remain here,' he said to Marius, 'till I return with the money I have demanded from your father. Stop your crying if you do not want to be killed.' He covered the youth with his coat and intended to go, but the boy cried so loudly that he returned. Fancifully he heard footsteps, De Jongh took his sword out of his walking stick and killed the child, stabbing him seven times in the breast. In a very agitated state of mind the inhuman ruffian fled to Schevingen, washed his hands at the sea shore and returned to the Hague, after having thrown away the swordstick in a little channel by the roadside. De Jongh was arrested on the downs, whither he returned early the following morning; but after being confronted with the coachman and the other witness he was liberated. He was arrested afterward on his own confession.

MOTIVES FOR THE CRIME.

After his avowal of his crime his sister asked him what motive he had for the horrible deed. He answered:—
'I saw our father die in poverty. As for myself I could not make my way in India, but I had a place in the same office where father worked, with no better prospect than he had. What would be my mother's lot and yours? I wish to assure to her a comfortable old age, and when I heard from a family who are acquainted with his circumstances that Mr. Bogaardt was a very rich man I was seized with a desire to constrain him to give me money by stealing away his only son. I did not intend to kill the child except in case he should become my accuser. My only motive was my wish for money. Nobody assisted me either before or at the murder.'

Fever and Ague.

Are you troubled with Ague, Chills and Fever, Bilious Fever, Remittent or Intermittent fever, Night Sweats or any disease that comes from Malaria or disordered Liver and Hot Suns? If so, procure a bottle of Green's Ague Conqueror, which is an acetic extract of strong tonic roots, combined with Sulphate of Magnesia, etc., and positively contains no Quinine, Arsenic or other poisons. It purifies the blood, cleanses the liver, spleen and other secretory organs so effectually that the chills will not return. We have never found any case of Fever and Ague it will not cure. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. One large bottle has cured as many as five in one family. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

MORTGAGE SALE.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Court House, in Charlottetown, in Queen's County, on WEDNESDAY, the Seventeenth day of NOVEMBER, A. D. 1880, at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in an Indenture of Mortgage, bearing date the twenty-third day of July, 1877, and made between DONALD WILLIAM PALMER, of the one part, and HENRY SKEFFINGTON POOLE, of the other part.

ALL that tract, piece and parcel of land, hereditaments and premises situate, lying and being on Township Number Twenty nine, in Queen's County, in Prince Edward Island, bounded and described as follows, that is to say: Commencing at the intersection of the Lower Tryon Road with the County line between Prince and Queen's Counties; thence southwardly along the said County line to the shore of Crapaud Harbor; thence following the courses of the said shore easterly until it meets the Settlement Road leading from said shore to Crapaud Corner; thence along the said Settlement Road northwardly until it meets the Lower Tryon Road aforesaid; thence westwardly along the said road to the place of commencement, containing about fifty acres of land, a little more or less, and is bounded on the west by the said County line; on the south, by Crapaud Harbor; on the east, by the Settlement Road; on the north, by the Lower Tryon Road; and is part of ninety-four acres of land demised by an Indenture of Lease dated the first day of November, A. D. 1859, and made between the Hon. Lady Cecily Jane Georgina Fane, of the one part, and the said Donald William Palmer, of the other part; and also all the estate, right and privileges belonging to the said Donald William Palmer at the time of the execution of the above mentioned Mortgage in and to the shore adjoining the said tract of land to the extent of low water mark, as comprised in and demised by the said Indenture of Lease of the first day of November, A. D. 1859—saving and reserving from the above described fifty acres of land a piece of land conveyed by the said Donald William Palmer to Her Majesty the Queen, as particularly described in an Indenture bearing date the third day of April, A. D. 1880, and registered in the office of the Registrar of Deeds for said Island.

REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:
"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality."
