

Holiday And Business Seen For West Indies

By BEN WARD
OTTAWA (CP)—Interested in new overseas markets? got a yen for a winter vacation in the sunny south?
 The latest issue of Foreign Trade, fortnightly magazine published by the trade department, contains some intriguing information for businessmen who would like to kill these birds with one expensive account.
 "Foreign trade doesn't come right out and suggest a West Indies holiday trip this winter with some sales-hunting on the side. But its special issue on trade prospects in the Caribbean Commonwealth area appears to be timed for just such a purpose."
 It discusses expanding market demands on the various islands, lists the kinds of Canadian items that are enjoying increased sales and in general urges the Canadian businessman "not to overlook the promising market potential which lies in the West Indies, just beyond his doorstep."

buying already being done by the Commonwealth islands:

1. Jamaica—bought $187,000 worth of truck tires from Canada in 1963 and bumped this to $274,000 last year.
2. Trinidad and Tobago took $281,000 in Canadian refrigerators in 1963 and $430,000 in 1964.
3. Purchases of furniture by the Leeward and Windward Islands jumped to $149,000 from $77,000 in the same period.
4. Barbados bought $12,000 worth of radio and TV equipment in 1963, $102,000 worth in 1964.

Old Dugout Is Possible Escape Craft

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—A battered old dugout canoe, found at Martin, 110 miles west of here, may be a relic of an escape from a Canadian prisoner-of-war camp during the Second World War.

Kauno Luoma, foreman of a pulp-cutting crew, found the canoe sunk in muskeg at the northwest corner of Gulliver Lake.

The design is definitely not Indian, and men at the pulpwood camp estimated, from moss growth and other signs, the canoe had been abandoned for 20 to 30 years.

Nearly 10 feet long and 16 inches across the gunwales, the canoe was carved out of white pine with an axe it has a keel to add stability.

Local amateur detectives found that German prisoners of war had worked at White Otter Lake, the nearest place where white pine grows, and that several had escaped during the war.

Gulliver Lake, where the canoe was found, is at the end of the best water route to White Otter Lake to Highway 17 and a railway line. Also, it was judged unlikely the canoe had blown ashore artificially, since it was found at the upwind corner of the lake.

IS OLD MARKET

Canada has had an active trade with the West Indies for more than 200 years, mainly supplying flour, salt fish and meat in exchange for raw sugar, molasses, spices, petroleum and rum.

In recent years, however, the growth of Canadian manufacturing has added dozens of new items to the list, among them footwear, electrical appliances, soups, prefabricated buildings, milk powder and fabrics.

Last year Canadians bought $886,000 worth of West Indies

 Declarer is usually in a better position to predict the outcome of a hand than the defenders. This is because he sees before him every one of the 26 soldiers under his command. The defenders, however, each see only 13 of the 26 cards held by their side and hence find it more difficult to assess their combined strength and coordinate their efforts to the best advantage.

This is not to say that the defenders are therefore helpless. On the contrary, there are very few hands where the handicap they suffer should prove fatal. It is only that it must be realized that a good defensive player

For business executives interested in the prospects, the trade department publication lists the names of shipping lines that operate to the islands from Canada, detailed reports from its trade commissioners on each market area and tips on how to make business contacts.

Meteor Count Is Important In Space Age

OTTAWA (AP)—Technicians and astronomers of the National Research Council regularly spend a night out in the open air, lying in padded "coffins" and looking fixly at the sky.

They are on the meteor-counting watch, which takes place several times a year, summer and winter, at Springhill, near here.

A circle of eight "coffins," fitted up with oil heat and blankets, is on the top of an observatory building. Once inside one, the scanner is protected from the weather, except for his or her face.

Women as well as men employees lie there for 1½ hours, each watching his own sector of the sky, before taking a half-hour rest in the kitchen below.

When a brief streak of light indicates a meteor, the scanner presses a button on the automatic recording device.

About 100 meteors are sighted on the average night, though in August and December 500 a night have been seen. The automatic apparatus gives each meteor a number and some of them may be recorded as well on cameras or radar sets.

The importance of finding out more about meteors is that "if we are sending men into space we need to have some idea of the probability of their encountering... a meteor," says Dr. Peter Millman of the research council.

Besides, meteorites are "the only solid extraterrestrial matter we ever have the chance to examine."

Folk Festival At Orillia Is Due With New Format

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—The Mariposa folk festival, booted out of town two years ago for being too rowdy, returns next year with an entirely new format.

It will be staged indoors in mid-February, the first time in its five-year history that the festival has not had an outdoor summer setting.

Promoters of the new festival, the Orillia and District Chamber of Commerce, made the change to return the festival to its birthplace. Orillia's town council banned the festival after 1963 rowdiness resulted in vandalism, property damage and liquor violations. The council said it would favor the festival only if it were held in winter, when the snows are deep and the only nip is in the air.

Plans now are to hold the festival in Orillia's Opera House, which seats 750 persons, starting with a concert Feb. 18. Other concerts will be held on the two following days. A folk song workshop also is being planned.

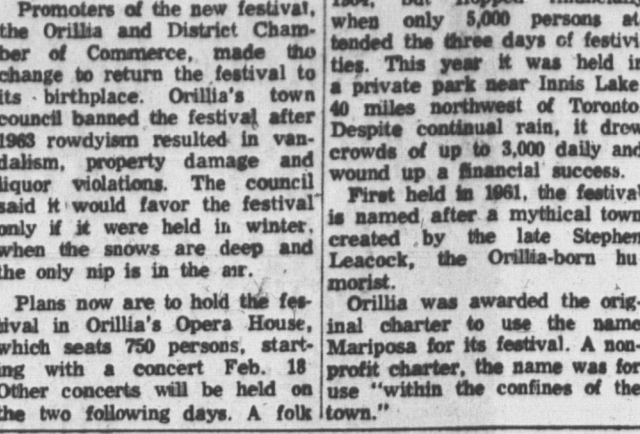

Discussions aimed at returning the festival here began more than a month ago. The final decision was made earlier this week at a joint meeting of town council and the chamber of commerce.

The festival was held in Toronto's Maple Leaf Stadium in 1964, but flopped financially when only 5,000 persons attended the three days of festivities. This year it was held in a private park near Innis Lake, 40 miles northwest of Toronto. Despite continual rain, it drew crowds of up to 3,000 daily and wound up a financial success.

First held in 1961, the festival is named after a mythical town created by the late Stephen Leacock, the Orillia-born humorist.

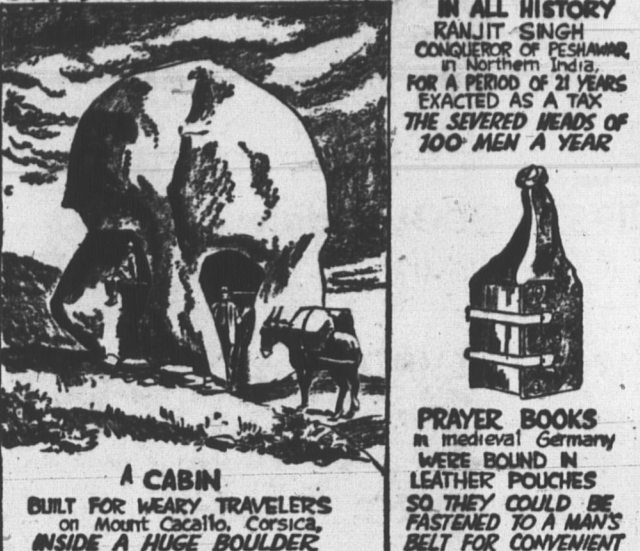

Orillia was awarded the original charter to use the name Mariposa for its festival. A non-profit charter, the name was for use "within the confines of the town."
