PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

The amendment being lost, the Speaker took the chair and the chairman reported the bill agreed to.

In amendment to the motion that the report of the committee be adopted Mr. DesRoches moved that the bill be re-committed for the insertion of the amendment he had previously moved.

The House divided on the motion, which was declared lost on the same division as before. The third reading of the bill was set down for to-morrow.

On motion of Hon. Mr. MacDonald the bill regarding public holidays was read a second time with Mr. Prowse in the chair. Reported agreed to. Third reading to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. Farquharson submitted the following resolution:—

Resolved, That an humble address be presented to Her Majesty the Queen, setting forth that the provisions of the British North America Act of 1867, respecting the legislative functions of the Senate of Canada, are unsatisfactory and should be so amended as to bring that body more into harmony with the principles of representative government and praying that Her Majesty may be pleased to recommend to the Imperial Parliament such an amendment to the said Act as will provide that if the House of Commons passes any Bill and the Senate rejects such Bill or fails to pass it, or passes it with any amendments to which the House of Commons will not agree and to which amendments the Senate adheres, the Governor General may by message upon the advice of his council convene a joint sitting of the two Houses, which sitting shall decide by a joint vote without debate the question in controversy between the two Houses.

Mr. Campbell rose to a point of order claiming that the resolution was not properly before the House as the rule regarding the formal tabling of resolutions of this description had not been complied with.

Hon. Mr. Farquharson said he had copies of the resolution struck off and they had been on the desks of hon. members for about ten days.

Mr. Campbell said that this was not complying with the rule of the House which required that resolutions of the class introduced by the Leader should be publicly tabled and the House informed of the fact that such had been done.

Mr. Shaw pointed out that a resolution he had introduced at a former session regarding an address to the Lieutenant Governor asking him to have certain papers and documents bearing upon the state of the province brought down had been ruled out by the Speaker who claimed that the attention of the House had to be directed to the tabling of the resolution. The present Leader of the Government was the very man who coached him as to the subsequent tabling of the resolution.

Hon. Mr. Farquharson said he did not remember the circumstance, but accepted the hon. member's word. He had no recollection of the rule being called up before.

After the point had been discussed at some length the Speaker sustained the objection raised by Mr. Campbell and declared the resolution out of order. The House adjourned.

FRIDAY, May 19.

The House met at nine o'clock, and after routine proceedings Hon. Mr. Farquharson submitted his resolution regarding the Senate. He said this was an important resolution, but as the time was short his remarks would be brief. He regretted that it was necessary to bring such a resolution up in this House. The Senate had become an anomaly. Our Senators from this province were good men, but the Senate had become a political machine. We picked men out for the House of Commons who are second to none in America, still men were appointed to the Senate to defeat and block their legislation. The majority in the lower house must prevail, and why should they be vetoed by the Senators. Last year the Senate on the Teslin Railway acted seriously. Two or three steamer loads of men awaited the building of that railway, and were ruined for life by the defeat of that road bill. That road was virtually to be built for nothing. The Senate thinks it is going to continue ruling the country. He thought, however, that the vote of this House would declare that the people shall rule.

Hon. J. R. McLellan said he did not wish to cast reflections on the Senate. But the Senate should be elective. Under the present circumstances we must do the best we can. The Senate is blocking legislation and retarding the opening up of the country. When such a great work as the Teslin railway was stopped by the Senate it was a great loss to the country.

Hon. Mr. Gordon looked back to the state of the provinces at a time when they were almost in anarchy. Then the greatest men in Canada put their heads together and said that if the provinces were not united these British possessions would become a thing of the past. They copied part of the constitution of other countries and founded the best constitution the world has ever known. The Senate is the keystone of that constitution, and he was surprised to find the Leader of the Government bringing in such a resolution. When the great union was consummated after much labour it was not supposed that future legislators would try to break it up. He (Mr. Gordon) hoped the members here today would take the stand that the people took in King John's day and raise their voices to save their liberties. When the Senate stopped the Teslin Railway they saved the country 3,750,000 acres of land. When the Senate defeated the Drummond Railway they saved the people $1,000,000, and he hoped that now the people would save the Senate and thus save their own liberty. He moved an amendment to the resolution as follows:

Whereas, After the most mature deliberation by the ablest minds that Canada has produced it was resolved that party issues and political partizanship should be buried in view of this great and momentous question of the confederation of the British Provinces in North America;

And Whereas, By the North America Act the manner in which the Commons and Senate are constituted is clearly defined; and Whereas, by the number of Senators apportioned to the Maritime Provinces it is evident that the interests of these Provinces have been most amply guarded, and whereas, after 52 years of confederation the public affairs of the Dominion have been so wisely administered as to command the admiration of the Mother Land and the respect and attention of all civilized nations; and whereas an effort is now being made to interfere with the constitution of the Senate and to remove the counterpoise between the Commons and the people and thus subvert the very foundation of Confederation;

Therefore Resolved, That the carrying into effect of the proposed change in our constitution would act injuriously to the best interests of the people, and should not be entertained by this House inasmuch as it would destroy that grand principle hitherto preserved, that of consulting the electors on questions of the most vital importance to the Dominion of Canada.

In seconding the amendment Mr. Shaw said this was a very important matter. We know that this resolution did not originate with the gentlemen opposite; we know that they are only obeying their masters at Ottawa. In 1867 there was a movement for the confederation of the British provinces. The people in some of the provinces were divided on political and religious matters. So even were parties balanced that three Governments were defeated in one year. A series of meetings was held in Charlottetown, Halifax and St. John.

One reason for confederation was that there was a great and well organized nation south of us while we were disjointed and would ultimately be absorbed by that nation. The greatest minds in Canada saw the necessity of confederation. If there was one thing more than another laid down by the lower provinces it was that the Senate would not be elective. They were prepared to be represented in the Lower House according to population, but confederation would never have existed if it were not that they got the same representation in the Senate as the people of Ontario. The Hon. Leader said the Senate blocked confederation. Their most important duty was to do this when that legislation was not in the interest of the country. This was the object sought for by the fathers of confederation. This constitution was framed when party feelings were rank and the unbiased feelings of the greatest statesmen were engaged for the benefit of the people. The Leader of the Government said we should do away with this, and the people should rule. How would they rule with a joint house. If the Laurier Government thought that the opening of the Mann-McKenzie contract was important the Government would have appealed to the people and then the Senate would not have to object to the contract if it was backed by the people. The fact that they did object is conclusive proof that the whole matter was a deal. They condemned the Senate because they defeated the Drummond Railway. But the result was that we got a better bargain by $1,000,000. They condemned the Senate for not allowing the $300,000 of Manitoba School money, and the fact that Mr. Laurier said this year to Greenway that it was not in the interest of the country that it should be paid is sufficient to justify them in that matter. VANDALISM—Last night the summer cottage of W. S. The deed seems to have been wilfully committed because the adjoining cottage owned by Mr. R. M. Young was broken into and a number of articles taken from it. It is to be hoped that the perpetrators of these lawless acts will be discovered and punished.

EXPORT OF CATTLE—There left by special train last night at nine o'clock nine (9) cars filled with young cattle for Mr. Benj. Heartz's ranch near High River Station about seventy (70) miles from Calgary, N. W. T. These will be joined at Summerside by three (3) cars purchased from Senator Yeo, making in all about three hundred (300) animals, including nine (9) pure bred bulls. These cattle are principally Holstein, Hereford and Shorthorn, and are suited better than any other breeds for the plains. Mr. Heartz also shipped his pure bred Percheron stallion "Souris" and a brood mare. This large shipment which filled the "Northumberland" this morning will go through direct from Point Du Chevre by special train, and is in charge of Mr. William Ward who has been for the past ten years foreman of Mr. Heartz's Farm here. He has as assistants, Mr. Lea Davison, late of the Telephone Co.; Mr. Harry Gates, another of Mr. Heartz's men and Mr. John Cogger, of Klondike fame. They expect to arrive at their destination in about eight days. Mr. Heartz has at his ranche already a herd of about three hundred (300) cattle and forty (40) horses. Should these animals turn out satisfactory it will lead to further shipments.
