The Summerside Aces made it six straight without a defeat in the Island League at Civic Stadium last night by defeating the Parkdale Royals by the score of 13-4.

The second period showed the home team ahead by a 10-2 score, and the Aces outscored the Royals 3-2 in the final frame. Referees Walter Lawlor and Joe Bernard handed out thirteen minor penalties.

Both Leroy Clow and Claude Gaudet got the hat trick for the Aces, and Greg Deighan scored a brace of tallies. Benny Grady, Vance Harris, Doug Williams, Ulric Gallant, and Ron MacArthur chipped in with single counters. Duffy scored two for the Aces.

Eleven businessmen, in a unique display of community pride, rejected an offer of $67,000 for the Cape Breton Sports Centre last week in a move which will guarantee the continuation of harness racing in Sydney.

The men, all creditors of the Sports Centre, joined forces with the 18-member Cape Breton Turf Club to form a new company to operate the $120,000 plant. The new company will be formed later this month.

The Sports Centre was organized in 1945 as a community enterprise. The plant cost a total of $120,000, but only $43,000 was raised through a community sale of stock. The eleven businessmen placed another $40,000 in the kitty to keep the track in operation. During the first year, the track made money, but eventually went bankrupt. A few years ago, the Turf Club was formed by eighteen men who contributed $17,000 each, and harness racing received a new lease on life.

However, the Turf Club went broke. Three men - R. J. Logue, Jimmy Ferguson and Murvale Vail - came to the rescue, and with substantial financial commitments, kept the track in operation. Later more money was needed, and Mr. Vail and Mr. Ferguson endorsed another bank note. This was the beginning of a new era.

Last season the track netted $20,000 and $10,000 the year before. "We still have every intention of paying the original shareholders," a spokesman for the group said last night. "The Sports Centre will continue to be placed at the disposal of schools and other organizations for track meets. However, the businessmen will need the cooperation of everyone to make the project a going concern."

The creditors who rejected the $67,000 offer were: M. R. Chappell, Fred and Bill Stephens, Murray Mitchell, Sylvester Phelan, P. J. Cadevan, W. J. Eshby, Dr. A. Calder, R. J. Logue, Roy Young, Gordon Elman and Murvale Vail.

Our comment is that the above men are deserving of the greatest praise for the time they can have given and the money they have spent to keep the Cape Breton Sports Centre in operation. We are confident that the growing public support which they had last year will continue on an even greater scale when the general public become acquainted with their unselfish efforts to keep Sydney in the front ranks as a harness racing centre.

The programs last year were good, and we have every expectation that they will be even better this season. We were particularly pleased to see the name of our friend of long standing - P. J. Cadevan - in the above list. Mr. Cadevan has brought some of the best pacers to the Maritimes that have raced through the years, including Lucky Chief 2:04 1/2, and was always helpful in supporting Old Home Week programs here.

The above account was taken from the Cape Breton Post issue for January 10.

SYDNEY ACTIVITY
John A. Gillis, the great horse lover of 58 Mercer Street, Sydney, N.S., writes that there are about 25 horses wintering at the Sydney track and they are being jogged daily. "There is every expectation of this being Sydney Raceway's best year," he writes.

The splendid contests that are taking place on the Hon. Dougald MacKinnon Speedway will be good tune-ups for the International Harness Ice Races, sponsored by the Eastern Driving Association, which will be held at Dartmouth, N.S., on February 7 and 8.

A free-for-all Trot and a free-for-all Pace, each carrying a guaranteed purse of $1,000, will highlight the two-day racing program to be held on Lake Banook. All entries over ten in both trot and pace will see a purse increase of $100 per horse. Any trotter or pacer, regardless of age, is eligible. Each entry carries a starting fee of $50. The racing distance is one-quarter mile straightaway dashes. An engraved trophy and a cooler will be presented to the winning owners during the banquet on the evening of February 8.

Free stable accommodations and feed will be taken care of

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

Harness horsemen racing over by the association. Entries must be in the hands of the President, Fred M. Lahey, not later than January 26.

Our Island horsemen have many fine memories regarding previous international races, where they have carried off a good share of the purse money, and have always been genially treated by Fred Lahey and his associates. There were several contests similar to this one held on the Dartmouth lakes, but the mild winter seasons in recent years made the continuance of this popular event impossible.

Now that this international meet has been revived, we predict the greatest attendances and the greatest enthusiasm of all time. This is based on the fact that last fall, on a trip to Halifax, we saw the immense amount of building that had taken place in Dartmouth and vicinity in recent years, and the great prosperity evidenced everywhere.

Stakes for future harness horse races are increasing in money value every year. Yesterday we received the folio and entrance form for the "Messenger Stake" No. 6, that will be raced in 1961. Foals of 1958 are eligible, and the first payment will be made on February 1, 1959, and it will be $4.

The second payment will be $200, to be made on February 1, 1960, and the third payment, $300, will be made on February 1, 1961. The starting fee, in 1961, will be $1,500. The above payments are for colts and geldings; the payments for fillies are smaller, excepting the starting fee, which is the same for all.

Roosevelt track, the site of the stake, will guarantee $75,000 for the event, and it is estimated, that with the payments received from entries, it will have a value of $175,000.

The first of the Messenger Stakes was raced in 1956, and was won by Belle Acton, driven by Billy Haughton; her share was $34,320, and the total amount paid out was $71,500. The second Messenger Stake, raced in 1957, totalled $100,000, and it was won by Meadow Lands, driven by Del Miller; her share was $41,434. Alier Express, driven by Joe O'Brien, was second and picked up $18,015.

Last year's Messenger was won by O'Brien Hanover, and his share was $55,182; Flying Time was second and won $29,916. The total purse was $138,065.

From the above it will be seen that the managers of Roosevelt Raceway have good reason to expect the 1961 stake to have a value of $175,000.

ANNUAL MEETING
The annual meeting of District 11 U.S.T.A. will be held in the Hotel Brunswick on Monday afternoon, February 2, at 2:30 p.m. In the morning several appeals will be heard. The total membership of District 11 is over 1200, which made it eligible for a fourth director to be appointed, and B. C. Cruikshank, Halifax, was named by the directors.

A rough total of the Maritime membership is as follows: Nova Scotia - 331; New Brunswick - 256; and P.E.I. - 159. Some members of District 11 reside as far away as British Columbia, but Ontario and Quebec made up the great bulk outside the Maritimes.

Don't forget the program of ice races for this afternoon at the Hon. Dougald MacKinnon Speedway, North River. Five classes are programmed, and the speedway will be in tip-top order, so fast times may be expected. No doubt some of the tops from the speedway's racing will be seen in action at the International Harness Ice Racing Meet to be held at Dartmouth on February 7 and 8.

Atkinson Says Farewell To Great Racing Career

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Atkinson, the scholarly Canadian-born jockey who became one of the world's greatest riders; came down to the finish line Friday for the last time.

Plagued by a chronic back ailment that has bothered him for months, the little "professor" of the jockey ranks bowed out amid the odors of ether and other smells associated with the examining room of a hospital.

Atkinson, always the gentleman and one of the most affable of the little men who ride horses in a dangerous living, quit on the advice of his physician.

"It wasn't easy to say goodbye to what has been my life for more than two decades," he said. His wife, Martha, nodded assent.

HAS DONE WELL
He has ridden horses who have earned $17,449,360. Since jockeys get 10 per cent, Atkinson has done well. His farm on Long Island, where he boards horses and breaks yearlings for various clients, also brings in a good income.

Kensington Plays QCHS Tonight
Tonight at Sports Arena at 8:15, Jack Ready's Queen Charlotte High School boys will be at home to Sterling Bonness' Kensington Juveniles in a return engagement for a visit to Kensington last week by the city school boys.

These teams are evenly matched and produce an action-packed game so a good crowd of spectators is expected.

Rounding off the evening will be a Rock 'n Roll skate for all and proceeds from the usual nominal admission for Saturday night's activities will go to help defray the expenses of city minor hockey.

Saints Play N.S. Tech
Saint Dunstan's Varsity basketball squad gets a taste of mainland intercollegiate competition tonight when Nova Scotia Tech pays a call at the Red and White gym.

Although this is purely an exhibition tilt, it's a taser-up for the Saints who start in earnest on their Maritime intercollegiate basketball trial next Saturday. First stop is Sackville where the Mount Allison University team will be the host club.

The visiting Nova-Scotians are reported to have a strong squad and Saints will have their work cut out for them to come up with a victory.

A former Saint Dunstan's player, Tom Ledwell, is a member of the Tech team. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Only three other jockeys have ridden more winners than Atkinson—Johnny Longden, Sir Gordon Richards and Eddie Arcaro. Longden, with 5,241 and Arcaro, with 4,206 winners, still are active. Richards retired with 4,870 winners and Atkinson bowed out with 3,795.

Atkinson, now 42 and the father of three children, is just another Horatio Alger story. Born in Toronto in 1916, Ted always worked after school and during vacations to help bring home some money to help out.

Ted moved with his family to New York State.

He went to Brooklyn and worked for $8 a week packing labels on bottles in a chemical plant. He also helped load trucks in the shipping department.

TRUCKER STARTED IT
A big-truck driver told Ted he should become a jockey, since he weighed only 98 pounds. The driver knew a man who got Ted into racing.

Atkinson began riding at Boulah Park in Ohio in 1938. His rise was rapid and he was the leading rider in the United States in 1944 and 1946.

a lot to help our boys become better citizens.

Today there will be a lot of minor hockey activity all over our Island province. In addition to the regular Saturday activities four Charlottetown teams go to Summerside and one to Montague with Kensington sending in a team to the city as well.

Next Saturday will see Minor Hockey Week in Canada get under way and this Province will be playing its part in a big way. Plans are well along for a busy week featuring a special Minor Night in Charlottetown, with an exceptional program. Why not make a start during Minor Hockey Week and "Take your boy to the Arena" — don't just send him. Minor hockey is a Family Affair; Once you watch your minor hockeyists playing Canada's National game, you guarantee you will want to see more and even want to get in on the fun and important job of building better Canadian citizens.

Every booster for Minor Hockey will help more boys climb the "Ladder of Success".

Following are the lineups: Y.M.C.A. - H. Phillips 20, I. MacLaine 15, Atkinson 9, Scantlebury 9, Doiron 8, W. MacLean 6, H. MacDougall 2, J. Turner 2, Kibble 2.

Saints: Lefter 26, Kelly 1, Purchase 6, Howlett 5, Anderson 4, Ray 1, Rawson 1, Little, Teren.

HOCKEY PLAYERS in this C and D league who were spectators at Thursday's game between Navy Tars and Garrison Juniors got a real eyeful and the sailors were the lads who provided the spectacle.

With Billy Hughes leading the attack (and what a leader he was—he scored four times and set up three) the Tars looked really good and gave strong indication that they would be a club to reckon with the rest of the way to the wire.

Navy played it solid Thursday and every man on the lineup was giving everything he had in an effort to sink those Juniors. For one period the Garrison fought the Tars on even terms but the tide turned in the second and there was no stopping the seamen from then on.

JUNIORS, on the other hand, didn't look any too good. Perhaps, it was the Navy's fault but whatever it was the Garrison boys left a lot to be desired. It may have been just a bad game that the youngsters had to get out of their system. Let's hope it was because if they play similar hockey in Maritime Junior playdowns, they need not expect to win any Maritime laurels.

Time and time again Navy caught the Juniors out of position and Ward was left alone more time than he'd like to remember. We like to think it was just an off-night for Orin Carver's boys. We are confident they'll give another such performance this year. They have, we are sure, much more hockey ability than they showed us Thursday.

If we thought for a moment they could do no better, we'd just pass Thursday's show over. But we want to see a strong contender for Maritime junior honors come out of the capital city and we still think we have one. Now is the opportune time to take stock and correct the mistakes that would prove fatal in competition with the mainland.

Come on Juniors. Let's get really down to business the rest of the season. If you do, you can be mighty difficult opponents for New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Juniors to handle. But if you don't, then don't expect miracles to happen.

THAT BATTLE for the fourth playoff spot is still as hot as ever.

Boston Bruins came out of their shell Thursday night and hung a 3-0 blanking on the Detroit Red Wings. The victory moved the Bostonians into a tie with Detroit for fourth place. Each team has 38 points. However, Boston has played 43 games compared to Detroit's 41. Back in the cellar (they seem to love that spot) are Toronto Maple Leafs. These are the Leafs who blew a big chance Wednesday night in Maple Leaf Gardens when they bowed 3-2 to the New York Rangers. However, Toronto with 35 points, is only back three. They played one more than the Red Wings but one less than the Bruins.

Tonight the Imlach-Olmstead gang has a great chance to close ground on the Wings. They entertain the Detroiters in the Gardens and a Toronto win would leave Leafs a mere point behind the Motor City outfit. The Leafs will be expecting an assist from Montreal Canadiens who play hosts to Boston Bruins. A Boston loss and a Toronto win would leave Bruins and Wings with 38 points, Leafs with 37.

And we confidently expect that's the way things will stand after action has ended this evening.

Sunday all six teams go at it again. Montreal is at Chicago, Toronto visits Boston and Detroit entertains New York. Every one of these battles means a whole lot to all with the exception of the Canadiens. They are the only ones who haven't got any worries.

WE WERE NOT the only ones who ranted and tore our hair when Leafs played Chadwick in Detroit last Sunday night. The night before at Maple Leaf Gardens Johnny Bower had been terrific in beating Boston and was selected as the game's outstanding star. As a reward, he was benched for Sunday's battle with a team Leafs must win (particularly those in Ontario) did a job on Punch Imlach for his move but Imlach was unaffected by it all. Bower claimed he had decided before Saturday's game to use Chadwick in Detroit and Bower's showing Saturday night wasn't making him change his mind. He reasoned this way:

"Chadwick had shut out Detroit in his last two games there. Wasn't that a good enough reason to put him back in the nets?" Chadwick recently had a bout with the flu and he was wondering during the Detroit game if this ailment had affected his eyesight. "Every time I looked up I saw a red sweater. I thought every team in the league was shooting at me."

By the way, Leafs and Red Wings, who produced one of the highest-scoring games of the National Hockey League season, are the two lowest-scoring teams in the league.

EVERYBODY SEEMS agreed that Larry Regan, late of Boston Bruins and now wearing a Toronto uniform, will be a great help to the Maple Leafs.

Watching Regan last Saturday night against his old team couldn't help but be impressed by the Irishman. Of course, if Larry was ever to come up with a good performance, it could be expected that Boston Bruins would be the opponents. However, we look for many good games from Regan and we still insist that Larry will help Leafs make those playoffs.

"I had a feeling, two months ago," said Regan, "that I wasn't long for this club (the Bruins). Sure I'm glad they traded me to the Leafs. I used to belong to this outfit. Yeah, ten years ago. But how could I make a team that was called leafs Leafs were?"

So Larry, badly out of condition because the Bruins used him so little this season, played his heart out in an effort to impress his new bosses and also to try to prove to his former employers that they made a big mistake.

Yes, Regan was a real bulldog centre on Saturday last. He worked like a real trojan for that puck in the corners, digging, refusing to give up.

We're sure the Bruins made a big mistake.

Jap Fighter Beats Champ

TOKYO (AP)—Sadao Yasuda of Japan outpied and outfought world flyweight champion Pascual Perez of Argentina Friday and won a unanimous decision in a 10-round non-title fight.
