come a citizen of the United States, and they do become so, and they not only bring their capital, but their talents and industry, to the land of their adoption, and thus augment the productions of art and industry, and contribute to the wealth, riches and power of that mighty and astounding Republic. Whereas, if they seek to be allowed to develop the resources of these Colonies, they are informed that they are aliens, and as such, are not to be allowed to gain a footing in the land. Is there any wonder then, that Prince Edward Island, with all its advantages of soil and situation, should have remained in the humble condition that it now is, when such are the impediments that have been placed in its path? Had Nova Scotia, at the time of the American Revolution, made a fourtenth in the Union, Prince Edward Island would of necessity have have gone with it—for New Brunswick was not—and both would have been now densely peopled and highly improved States. If, therefore, we are to derive the proper advantages from the Fishery and Reciprocity Treaty, we must raise our tariff and admit foreigners to the privileges of subjects. In other words, we must invite men of capital and enterprise to come and settle among us, and afford them security that the payment of whatever advances they may make to those engaged in trade, fishing or farming, may be secured to them in the usual way; and, that if they are disposed to settle and invest their gains in Real Estate, they shall be at liberty to do so. If Responsible Government can not effect this, it is powerless for good, and not worth having or contending about.

John Young has been elected for Montreal to the Canadian Parliament. In his speech he says:

When I had the honour of soliciting your suffrages, at the last General Election, I did so as a Member of the present Administration. That Administration I now oppose; and I oppose it not only because I think it unworthy of public confidence from having failed to redeem its promises, but also because the Hon. Inspector General, the leading member of it, has notoriously been engaged in speculations some of which were of a most questionable character, and has publicly avowed the principal, that he, holding the office of first Minister of the Crown, had a right to speculate in public Lands and Stocks on his own account, the same as any other individual. Against that doctrine I consider it necessary to protest, believing that if it be allowed to prevail, it will be subversive of morality in public men and fraught with danger to the best interests of the public. Nor can the Administration, as a whole, be held free from blame from this cause; for, by their silence upon the point, they have given it a tacit approval, for which they must be held responsible.

By the present General Election, the constituency of Montreal, the Commercial Emporium and first city in British North America, will have an opportunity of recording its verdict for or against the doctrine thus denounced.

The two deserters from the barracks at Sydney, who have been arrested in Boston, it appears have a fair chance of escaping punishment. They were arrested on a charge of robbery, and a demand made that they should be delivered up for punishment under the terms of the Ashburton treaty. Their Council objected that their was no evidence to convict them of robbery, legally so called,—their crime being that of larceny and desertion, neither of which were included in the provisions of the treaty mentioned. The case was deferred for further consideration, and the prisoners in the mean time were committed without bail.—Eastern Cronicle

Report of the Northern Branch Royal Agricultural Society.

The Committee of the Northern Branch of the Royal Agricultural Society, in presenting their annual Report for the past year, beg leave to place before you the Financial State of this Society. The amount of sales for the past year is £136 4s. 4d. after discharging the debts of the Society, together with incidental expenses, amounting to £140 14s. 10½d., leaves a balance in favor of the Society including stock in hand of £56 1s. 0½d.

Your Committee regret that owing to the inability of the Royal Society to furnish us with Seeds, we could not obtain a sufficient quantity for our consumption, indeed, the large extent of Country to the Northward, and Westward, the emulation among Farmers generally within these few years, has a consequent demand on this Society.

Your Committee would remark that it is rather pleasing than otherwise, to witness the rivalry in the growth of turnips within the bounds of this Society; an article this last two years especially, of much value for cattle, the hay crop having materially failed.

We much regret not being able to procure any Timothy seed from the Royal Agricultural Society, and would recommend that this Society do grant a premium for raising this valuable seed, more especially as the clover in consequence of the dry summers and hard winters has in general failed the past two years.

And we would earnestly press upon the attention of this Society the necessity of adopting improved methods in our Agricultural operations, as it is only by high cultivation that casualities of this kind are to be avoided, nay more, we would assert that by adopting an improved system of husbandry, the Farmer will be less exposed to failure than any other profession.

Your Committe would hail with pleasing anticipations the prospect of a new era in our history as Farmers; we refer to the Scientific Lectures of Mr. Stark, which we regret to say by some mistake only a few of your Committee were enabled to hear, when the learned gentleman again makes us a visit we hope that the information to be obtained from him may be heard and appreciated by a crowded audience.

The report having been read, it was Resolved that it be adopted and published.

The nomination of Officers for the current year then took place, when the following Gentlemen were appointed.

The Hon. Judge Peters, Patron,
G. W. Deblois, Esq., President,
Mr. James Forsyth, Vice President,

Committee,—Mr. John Forsyth, Mr. Alexander Matthews, Thomas Hopgood, Thomas Sturgeon, N. Conroy, Esq., John Oliver, James Wells, John Keefe, Maurice C. Connor.

J. D. WOODMAN, Acting Secty.

Died,

At his residence, on Monday, the 14th instant, in the 65th year of his age, Commander John Rayner Mayne, Royal Navy. The funeral will take place at one o'clock on Friday, 18th August.

On Sunday last, Maria Augusta, infant daughter of the Rev. John McMurray.
