

A FAMOUS MAN!

What his Researches have done for the World.

Dr. Chase's researches have done for the world what no other man has done. He has discovered the cause of all diseases, and he has found the cure for all of them. His researches have done for the world what no other man has done. He has discovered the cause of all diseases, and he has found the cure for all of them.

FORTUNE ESCAPED HIM.

Major De Austin is a type of the old-school farmer who retains all the elements peculiar to that school. He has been a resident of this city for many years, and during that period he has met everything peculiar to a pioneer's life. For a number of years he has been a resident of Meina, Mont. Major Austin has been in the city for the past ten years. The writer met him at one of the broadways along with him everything he possessed on earth, and it wasn't much of a load. It can assure you—just an old carpet sack and a chunk of a boy. That boy was Austin, well, as I say, he landed there in Chicago, but at that time a few scattered log cabins was all there was to it. It was only a pioneer settlement, and a shabby one at that. I was a small, lanky-legged lad, just big enough to stand equal over our scant worldly possessions when we had pitched our tent, while my father skirted about second for an outfit. He was milder; grim preparations to begin life over again, this time in the overland freight business.

Paine's Celery Compound Puts Rheumatism to Flight After the Doctors Failed.

It is now an established fact that Paine's Celery Compound cures ninety-nine out of every one hundred cases of rheumatism pronounced incurable by the doctors. Day after day reports are received giving particulars of cures effected by the great Compound. These cures are astonishing to the medical profession, and compel the doctors to acknowledge the claim so often made, that no other medicine in the world possesses like curing virtues. The following letter from Mr. F. McManis, of Thorold, Ont., should read every rheumatic sufferer to use the medicine so strongly recommended:

THE SQUARE-BUILT MAN.

Two Occasions on Which He Said "Well, General," to Wolsey.

"War correspondents" exclaimed Lord Wolsey. "Some of them are desperate—some are weak, others are anxious, but never the majority. I think, do they look like you, even when it leads them into tight places. By the way, talking of tight places and war correspondents, I remember an incident that may interest you. It was at the beginning of the Ashantee campaign, just after our landing; a square-built little man came up to me and said, speaking slowly, and with an unmistakable American accent: "General, allow me to introduce myself. I am the correspondent of the New York Herald. I—"

Timely Warning.

The great success of the chocolate preparations of the house of Walter Baker & Co. (established in 1780) has led to the placing on the market many misleading and unscrupulous imitations of their name, labels, and wrappers. Walter Baker & Co. are the oldest and largest manufacturers of pure and high-grade Cocos and Chocolates on this continent. No chemicals are used in their manufactures. Consumers should ask for, and be sure that they get, the genuine Walter Baker & Co.'s goods.

trust him

You want Scott's Emulsion. If you ask your druggist for it and get it—you can trust that man. But if he offers you "something just as good," he will do the same when your doctor writes a prescription for which he wants to get a special effect—play the game of life and death for the sake of a penny or two more profit. You can't trust that man. Get what you ask for, and pay for, whether it is Scott's Emulsion or anything else.

Another Victim of Bright's Disease.

Because he had not learned of South American Kidney Cure.

Lacking the stable door after the horse is stolen is disappointing, and yet in the particular matter of kidney trouble it is done in many cases. Every day the newspapers are telling of the death of people from Bright's disease, and Bright's disease is only a development of kidney disease, which can positively be cured by South American Kidney Cure. It is not necessary to wait until one has Bright's disease to take this medicine. Why not take it when some of the earlier symptoms of kidney trouble have become manifest? There is only one way to talk of this medicine, and that is to call a spade a spade, and say that it positively and absolutely cures all forms of kidney disease. It is most dangerous and it's most distressing.

Quebec License Amendments.

During the recent session of the Quebec Legislature, which has just closed, some important changes were made in the liquor license law of that province. Among them are the following: Any of the municipal councils, except those of Montreal and Quebec, must certify their willingness to the issue of liquor licenses, or they cannot be issued at all, and the decision of the council is absolute. In case the applicant has been previously convicted of violating the license law his application must be refused. If the majority of the electors in the municipality, or of a portion or subdivision, have filed their opposition to any license being granted within that limit, none can be granted. Special license can be issued for picnics, races or large gatherings. In municipalities where local option by-laws are in force, licenses are issued for the sale of liquors for medicinal purposes, but no such licenses can be issued to public houses. The reason is obvious. A purchaser of liquor from an unlicensed person, or during prohibited hours, is liable to a penalty of from $5 to $10 for each offence. Any licensed person harboring a constable while on duty, or giving him liquor, or attempting to bribe him, is liable to a penalty of $50.

THE Causes of Death in Pneumonia.

Dr. Hollinger maintains that croupous pneumonia is a typical local infectious disease, pursuing in the majority of cases a very regular course. It is not dangerous on account of the duration of the intensity of the fever. The impairment of the function of the lungs is likewise insufficient to explain death. The oedema so frequently found in the parts of the lung spared by the disease is not the result of a passively increasing collateral hæmorrhage, but of cardiac failure. The collapse symptoms in croupous pneumonia and the fatal weakening of the heart are dependent on oligæmia, which leads to impaired nutrition of the cardiac muscle, already weakened by the fever and the extra demand upon it. Anæmia of the brain may cause disturbances of innervation of the heart, and this may be an additional factor. The exudate into the lung tissue may be likened to a venesection produced by the pneumococcus, which in a few days deprives the blood of a large quantity of important constituents. The reason why death takes place so early, and usually in the same stage of the disease, from the sixth to the eighth day (corresponding to the transition from red to gray hepatization), is probably because the exudate has to attain a certain acid before life is imperilled. If these facts are applied to therapeutic measures, it follows that, in addition to the usual treatment of pneumonia, every effort should be made to combat the oligæmia. Large quantities of fluids should be supplied to the system through every available channel, even in the form of saline infusions. This should be done as early as possible, before collapse symptoms have manifested themselves. Mûnchener medicinische Wochenschrift.

NOTE SPECIAL DIVINE SPEAKS.

Rev. John Langtry, M. A., D. C. L., of Toronto, has used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and tells his Experience.

Among the most distinguished citizens who have secured relief by the use of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is the well-known Episcopal clergyman and controversialist, the Rev. John Langtry, whose familiar signature has been appended to many able newspaper articles. Having used the remedy here named for cold in the head and catarrhal troubles, he is likewise over his own signature spoken in favorable terms of this medicine. In the case of cold in the head, the relief is so speedy that it is appreciated by all who suffer in this manner. In hay fever it acts like magic, relieving in ten minutes. At druggists, price 60 cents. Sample bottles and boxes sent on receipt of two three-cent stamps. S. G. DeChon, 44 Church Street, Toronto.

Sound Teeth for Mail Clerks.

Most of the postal clerks in the smaller offices in England are women. Candidates must have excellent teeth. The regulations, according to a Paris paper, is that no one shall be employed who has not absolutely sound teeth, no matter how fit in other ways for the post. The reason for this regulation is shrouded in mystery. To comply with this rule an English woman the other day exhibited strange behavior. Having passed the other tests, the dentist reported against the condition of her teeth, his assistant stating that two of her molars were quite hollow and that twelve others were in various stages of decay. Without hesitation the fair candidate hurried to the nearest dentist's shop, and at a single sitting had extracted the fourteen teeth that constituted her dental career. Her official career before it had fairly begun. Armed with a fresh certificate, testifying that her remaining teeth were sound, she in good condition, she again applied for employment and was appointed.

How to Revive the Colors of Faded Carpets.

After a carpet has been thoroughly cleaned, the original color may be brightened and renewed with Diamond Dyes. Thoroughly dissolve a package of Diamond Dye, the color wanted, in a quart of boiling water, and strain into a glass jar. Brush this over the proper color or colors in the carpet, using flat, bristle brushes, not too stiff. If necessary, go over it again after the first application has perfectly dried. Be sure you use the Diamond Dyes for this work; other dyes give poor results.
