

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

APRIL 7, 1883.

Waking Up.

The Editor of the Patriot appears in his issue of yesterday like a man roused from an uneasy slumber...

Having given such good evidence as this, of his reliability as a financier, he produces some further figures relating to the transactions of the years 1877 and 1882...

In order to account for the expenditure of over $74,000 more in 1877 by the Sullivan Government than by the Davies Government in 1882...

The Patriot's statement about Mr. Dodd handing over $40,000 to Mr. McLeod in March, 1879, being an evidence of the healthy state of our finances at that time...

In 1881 there was held in London a University boat race commemorative dinner, to which all living who had rowed in the Oxford-Cambridge races since the first one in 1829...

It is stated that Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt's wonderful bath-room was as much admired at the late ball as the bower of cedars and roses into which the gymnasium was converted...

Georgia is probably the only place in the world where a railroad builds culverts of white marble and lays its ties on a bed of the same material...

With the money spent on that Vanderbilt ball on Monday night week, what a noble hospital, remarking the Graphic, could be built for the care of maimed and mangled employes and passengers of the New York Central.
