IN MEMORIAM

ADEN McIVER

On Sunday evening, February 8, the residents of Newton and vicinity were shocked by sudden and early death of a most esteemed citizen. Aden McIver, who had up to this time been enjoying his usual good health, was stricken by a heart attack, which was the means of calling him from an earthly life to an eternal one.

Spending all his life in Newton as a prosperous farmer, Aden showed himself always to be a man devoted to the interests of his family and of his community. The large number of friends who came to share the sorrow of the bereaved family testify to the honor and respect paid in return for his spirit of kindness and neighbourliness.

A parishioner of St. Malachy's Kinkora, Aden exemplified in his life the qualities of an ardent Christian and a loyal member of Holy Mother, the Church. His life, indeed, was a preparation for his death.

He leaves to mourn him his father, Peter D. McIver of Newton, his wife, the former Ethel Deighan, and eight children from eighteen to four years of age, all of whom are at home: Peggy, Betty, Billy, David, Donald, Freddie, Anne, and Paula. There are also following brothers and sisters: Eugene of Newton; William of Port Borden; Justin, of Truto, N.S. ; Cletus of Boston, Mass.; Adele, Mrs. Dr. Clarence Coady of Charlottetown; Teresa, Mrs. Arthur Rogers, of Dartmouth, N.S.; Eileen, Mrs. Francis McAvinn, of Ottawa, Ont.; Ita, Mrs. Gerald Smith of Camp Petawawa, Ont.; Tina, Mrs. Dr. Shawn Kennedy of Vancouver, B. C.; Bernadine of Ottawa; Genevieve, Sister Margaret Pierre, St Pauls Minn., his mother predeceased him thirty-one years ago, and in 1944 his brother Joseph gave his life in his country's service.

The funeral from his home was on Wednesday morning to St. Malachy's Church, Kinkora, with Solemn Requiem Mass celebrated by his pastor, Reverend Harold Croken.

Reverend Frederick Cass acted as deacon and Reverend Phelan McKenna as sub-deacon. Reverend Joseph LeClair acted as Master of Ceremonies Reverend Reginald MacDonald and Reverend Austin Bradley were present in the sanctuary. Father Croken also conducted the service at the grave.

The pall-bearers were: Charles McIver, Lorne Driscoll, Hugh John McIver, Louis McKenna, Clayton McCabe, and Charles McCardle.

May the God whom he served in life grant him rest eternal!

CARD OF THANKS

The wife and family of the late Aden McIver wish to convey their sincere thanks to relatives, neighbours, and all friends for the kindness and sympathy extended to them in their recent heavy sorrow. A public recognition is here given to the many donors of Masses, Spiritual Bouquets, Messages of Sympathy and Enrolments. Deserving of special thanks are those men who, under very difficult conditions, made the grave.

Steel Output Down Slightly

CLEVELAND (AP) — After a steady two - month climb that raised operation rates in the steel industry 20 per cent, production levelled off last week at 92.5 per cent of capacity, Steel magazine said Sunday.

That was half a point under the previous week and equal to 2,619,000 net tons of steel for ingots and castings.

"Mills are in an era where they are meeting resistance to raising operating rates above 92.5 per cent," the trade weekly commented.

Although the big Chicago district slipped half a point downward to 93 per cent of capacity, and the eastern district, another large one, remained unchanged at 91, the Pittsburgh and Cleveland districts' production rose by two points to 94 and 96.5 per cent, respectively.

"Demand is so widespread that, if automakers decided to cut back their orders for sheets, producers could ship the cancelled tonnage to a host of other consumers," the magazine said.

The downward slide of the scrap market halted last week, and Steel's composite on No. 1 heavy melting held unchanged at $41.67 a gross ton.

Stock Prices At New York Turn Easier

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week backed away from historic highs on the biggest volume of 1959.

The key industrials were down enough on average to show a moderate loss for the list as a whole. Rails and utilities were off slightly.

In view of the upsurge of successive peaks the week before, the market's decline this week was anticipated.

Volume of 21,612,790 shares compared with 21,187,160 the previous week. For the third straight week turnover has been the greatest since the week ended last Oct. 18 when 24,402,570 shares changed hands.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.70 to $223.80.

The market suffered its worst shakeout in more than a month Monday as profits were taken on the previous week's advance

Philadelphia and Reading, spurred by merger rumors, advanced 17¾ points to 129¾. Bell and Howell rose 9 to 102¾. Polaroid fell 6½ to 115.

Coppers took it on the chin as news came of weakening foreign copper prices. Kennecott and Magma dropped about 5 points apiece while Anaconda lost more than 3.

American Motors recouped 3 points to 32¾ as the outlook brightened for makers of economy cars. Oils were unsettled by mandatory import controls but record sales for Standard Oil (New Jersey) helped this giant to a net rise of 1½ and bolstered some of its sister oils.

The five most active issues on the New York exchange were:

Avco, off ¾ at 13¾ on 691,500 shares; Budd Co., up 3½ at 24½; Benguet, up ¼ at 1⅝; Callahan Mining up ? at 8⅝; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), up 1½ at 53¾.

TIMELY NOTES ON FUR TOPICS

Retail furriers are becoming somewhat confused because of the various names being used for types of mink. At a recent meeting at which some leading mink breeders were attending, New York furriers brought up this point. While none of them could commit their group officially, several of them went on record as favoring a reduction of names.

Mr. Gonfan stated that the different shades are confusing to the retailer, and that the answer might lie in cutting out the subsidiary names and not disturbing the major types.

Mr. Nicholson claimed that there didn't seem to be enough difference in some of the shades to warrant creation of new names. On this point, Mr. Taylor, who represented the mink breeders, contended that the so-called sub-divisions were actually ranch terms and were never intended for the eyes of the public—only for the guidance of the manufacturer and the retailer. He pointed out that ranchers developing these new shades often demand that they be given subsidiary names, and that it is not easy to turn them down.

Mr. Taylor added that he would refer the issue on mink names to the E.M.B.A. Board of directors in April.

AT OSLO

And here is some news of the last Oslo, Norway, sale held March 8th. "United States buyers were active at the week-end selling of 25,000 dark mink at unchanged prices. The four-day sale ended with all skins sold, and European buyers giving American buyers some competition.

"Approximately 5,000 white mink, 3,500 homozygous pastels, 2,500 homozygous silver blues, and 500 homozygous sapphires were sold at firm prices. Prices of interest were: dark mink males averaged $22.75, with a top of $49; white mink males averaged $26.50 with a top of $43.50, and females averaged $15 with a top of $24.50; homozygous silver blue males averaged $47 with a top of $60.25, females from this class averaged $25.25 with a top of $27.25; homozygous sapphires averaged $58.25, with a top of $69.50, and females averaged $31.50 with a top of $35."

Our mink breeders will, when they read the above, probably think we are "drawing the long bow" but the figures are accurate and were cabled by the Fairchild News Service from Oslo, Norway to "Women's Wear Daily" New York.

One thing they do show is that the Norwegians can produce mink as good as any produced anywhere else in the world. We can remember very clearly when they took up fox farming in Norway, and we in this Province, who were then producing the best in the world, didn't consider that the Norwegians would ever amount to anything, as the breeders of that most-wanted fur.

In a few years, they had progressed so far that they closed the door on further imports, and a few years later were competing with Island Furs at the London sales.

JUDGEMENT

A Federal court judge, Frederick V.P. Bryan, in the U.S.A., has given a decision in favor of the Mutation Mink Breeders Association of Racine, Wisconsin, which recognizes their right to protect the value of the word "MINK".

The ruling was made in denying a motion to dismiss the suit filed by the Association to enjoin the use of "Normink" for women's coats. Defendants were: Lou Lirenberg Corporation, manufacturers of women's coats out of a synthetic fabric resembling mink.

The Great Lakes Mink Association will revolutionize its advertising concept beginning next fall, introducing a new approach to photographs and copy that will emphasize the romantic past of mink, and the respective roles of the rancher, manufacturer and dresser in making it the No. 1 fur.

G.L.M.A. represents 2,600 mink ranchers who produce dark or standard mink. The program calls for an expenditure of $50,000.

STRONG MARKET

And here is just a brief item that shows how strong the mink markets are: "A release from New York states that E.M.B.A. goods were 90 percent sold at the eight-day auction of Hudson's Bay Company held in New York last week. For the last two days of the sale, a total of 108,805 miscellaneous skins were 96 percent sold, with the report stating there was excellent competition and strong prices.

Our readers may wonder why mink is being so profusely bought Well, here is one of the big reasons. A year and three months ago, United States steel common was selling at around $50 a share. Since then, it has touched $100, and it is only one of the many stocks in United States that have made sensational gains in that period.
