[Written for The Examiner.]

Loving Thee.

When morning breaks in happy thought,
And evening is with pleasure fraught,
Your name comes singing to my heart,
And friendship's music takes a part,
Giving joy.

I wish some fairy sweet would tell,
What binds the heart in happy spell;
Whether 'tis friendship's voice alone,
Or Cupid's smiles and gentle tone,
Impels me?

This much I know, I wish thee well,
Thoughts are happy, which on thee dwell,
Self no longer rules—another takes a part,
In governing mind, and will and heart—
'Tis thyself.

Oh! chide me not, it is my fate;
'Twere better far to love than hate.
'Tis friendship firm, eternal, true,
Which binds my heart and soul to you—
You alone.

We may part; perhaps 'tis better so,
A wanderer wide, thy friend can go;
Then he who wins that heart of thine,
Will bury deep; dead hopes in mine—
My heart.

I will not blame thee, Oh, never, never,
Tho' joyful peace and my spirit should sever,
As strangers we met,—a wanderer now,
I still can remember my friendship's vow,
To thee.

This much I ask, 'tis all I crave.
That when my home is deep in the grave,
You will kindly think of your absent friend,
Who lived his life to the very end,
LOVING THEE.

Love, in my dreams, gives sweet thoughts of thee,
O'er the bright waves, floating were we;
Under the sunlight played the soft wind,
In friendship dear, our heart's were entwined,
Songs in sweet music, swelled o'er the sea,
And fondly thy true eyes, beamed out on me.

O'Connell's Monument.

Canon Brosnan writes to the London Tablet on the result of his interviews at Rome with the American bishops regarding the proposed erection of an Irish memorial church to Daniel O'Connell. The Archbishop of Baltimore, the Canon writes, called it a great Catholic and patriotic work. The Archbishop of Chicago said: "I will send word to Chicago to my faithful and thoroughly Irish flock to give your great national project a generous reception." Bishop Fitzgerald and Archbishop Ryan also warmly approved of the movement.

Arrangements have been made for the laying, on August 6 next, of the foundation stone of the O'Connell Memorial Church at Cahiroiveen, county Kerry, Ireland, the birthplace of the great liberator, the day selected being his birthday. The church is to stand on the site now occupied by the Church of the Holy Cross—a very old building—and is to be a very handsome structure, worthy of the man in whose name it is to be erected. Pope Leo XIII, is greatly interested in the project, and a short time ago granted several audiences at Rome to Canon Brosnan of Cahiroiveen, who originated the idea. The Pope has sent the foundation stone for the church from Rome, and has appointed Archbishop Croke, of Cashel, his delegate to lay it. He has also granted special indulgences to all persons who may forward the building.

The cost of the church, it is estimated, will be $125,000, of which only about $15,000 has yet been raised. The Rev. Father James K. Fitzgerald, deputed by Bishop Higgins, of the Diocese of Kerry, has for about a year been collecting funds for the church throughout the New England States with considerable success. He is now in New York, and says many of the leading citizens of Irish nationality have promised to subscribe liberally.

The Lost Explorers.

The examination of Lieut. Melville was continued before the Jeannette committee of inquiry at Washington on the 29th of April. A series of questions respecting the geography of the region where DeLong went were asked by the judge with a view to show that with the information in possession of the expedition the wisest course open was that taken by DeLong. Melville expressed his belief with emphasis that the course taken was the wisest for the safety of the party, under the circumstances. The witness said he had never seen any of the officers, while on the retreat, resting and sunning themselves while the men were compelled to work, as had been stated by some of the witnesses. The witness, himself, was constantly at hard work with the men. The witness did not see any interference by DeLong with the movements of Collins on the retreat. Melville was asked if he said anything about poison or had any poison with him on the retreat. He said he and Dr. Ambler frequently talked about the proper course to pursue in an emergency, and arrived at the conclusion that under no circumstances was anything like cannibalism to be permitted. If an emergency arose which would suggest cannibalism, they determined to take cyanide of potassium and put themselves out of the way. As a matter of fact, however, they left the vessel in haste and took no poison with them.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 2e, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My suffering was great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully,

HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

MRS. SOPHIA POTTER'S

Bone Rheumatic Liniment

IT is a fact worth knowing that Mrs. Sophia Potter's Bone Rheumatic Liniment cannot be excelled for removing pain and soreness. It is no worthless trash, as some may suppose, simply because they have been imposed upon by others but is positively the "King of Pain." Sore throat cannot stand before its power.

All we ask is a trial that you may be convinced of the truth of our statement. Our experience is that one bottle tried also sells many more.
