Strange But True

By F. M. MacArthur

Sidis, the famous U. S. prodigy, and the son of Dr. Boris Sidis, a professor at Harvard University, could recite the alphabet when only six months old; at the age of two this amazing child could read and write; and at the age of 11 he matriculated at Harvard and stumped his instructors by discussing the 4th dimension.

Spoke Just Two Words — "All right", were the last two words Mrs. Mary Chew, 48, of Palo Alto, Calif., heard her husband say — and that was 17 years ago. The pint-sized town boasts two paved streets, 34 houses, a city hall, community playhouse and playground. Mayor Aldrich Popichal says "Our town is never faced with a serious problem"—a sort of little Utopia, we'd say.

The person who sets out to make a blooming fool of himself ought to be nipped in the bud.
