ELLEN'S DIARY

Quiet, Peaceful Sabbaths Were Recalled By James

So we sewed and hung the curtains this morning at two small six-paned windows up toward the eastern eave. One gives light to the back stairwell, the other contributes to lighting our bedroom above the kitchen. The latter gives us stars through the winter-branches when we lie a-bed with sleep delayed or broken. Stars to light thoughts, as we look back over our day to reckon its values, to take stock of its errors, to plan for the morning and the day ahead. Here the bluish of the dawn's break comes in, reflected on a mirror and wall. Here through the summery seasons, we hear the first stirrings about the rustle of a little wind in the leaves of the golden willow, the great tree we with Jamie planted as a mere twig one spring when he was only a little lad; the chirp and trill of the birds, the gentle lows of the cow-kind the bleats of lambs in the meadow. Here springs have broken, summers have winged away. aut-

Talked Down By Church, CWL Becoming Moribund

EDMONTON (CP)—The Catholic Women's League of Canada is moribund, says Douglas J. Roche, editor of the Western Catholic Reporter. Mr. Roche said in an article in the independent weekly newspaper, produced in Edmonton by Roman Catholic laymen, that the Catholic Church has discriminated against women for centuries. "By talking down to the women of the CWL, the church has allowed them to undersell their own power for good. "And by frittering away their time (compounded by the delusion that effectiveness is measured by the amount of money raised) the CWL has dwindled into a paralyzing bureaucracy that fails to attract the dynamic young women of today whose world extends beyond church, cradle and kitchen. "The CWL can't move without the okay of the priest-directors, and the priests wait for the approval of the bishops. Small wonder that the image of the CWL has been tied to shows and socials and fashion shows. "You can always count on the CWL to take a whack at dirty books or the CBC, but what have they ever done constructively to alleviate the problems of prostitution, alcoholism, drug addiction, child neglect, juvenile delinquency, political corruption, slums, inferior education, not to mention merely fanning out through the community as apostles of love?" PROVIDES REBUTTAL Mr. Roche's article, reprinted in the Edmonton Journal, provoked a reply from Rt. Rev. J. A. Maclellan, Alberta director of the CWL. Msgr. Maclellan said the CWL's work in fighting social maladies such as prostitution...

The article in The Reporter, which has a paid circulation of 18,000, said: "A woman can rise to the leadership of 485,000,000 people in India, but let her try to tell her pastor that his sermons are weak and do not convey the purity of the Christian message." Mr. Roche said at the Vatican council, "a vast assemblage of bishops and experts rebuilding the Catholic Church in a way that has not been done since the time of Christ," not one woman was allowed to speak. Women would never win their full rights as creatures of God in the church unless they fought for them.

New Officers Installed At Morell CWL Annual Meet

The 23rd annual meeting of the St. Teresa Parish Council CWL was held in the hall recently with a large number of members in attendance. Rev. T. P. Butler opened the meeting with prayer and president, Mrs. E. Gallant presided. Minutes of last annual and last monthly meetings were read by sec'y, Mrs. Alphonsus Kelly. After reports from all following committee routine business and correspondence was attended to, reports for the year were read from following conveners, spiritual membership, press, girl guides, social service, radio and television and report forms. An interesting report of Annual Red Cross meeting given by Mrs. Reta McCarthy RN. During the year Rev. Director, Fr. Butler celebrated his silver Jubilee, 25 years since his ordination to Holy Priesthood also two CWL members celebrated golden wedding anniversaries. The work carried out by the Parish Council for the year was very well summarized in interesting reports by the president, Mrs. Gallant, secretary, Mrs. Alphonsus Kelly and Mrs. Frank Dunn, treasurer. The nominating committee, chairman Mrs. Chas. Eldershaw, brought in the following slate of officers for coming year: president, Mrs. John MacDonald; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Cecil McCarthy; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Wilfred Hogan; 3rd vice-pres., Mrs. Marlin MacDonald; secretary, Mrs. Alphonsus Kelly and treasurer, Mrs. Edmond Gallant. Conveners and councillors are to be appointed later. The meeting closed following the installation of officers and recitation of Act of Consecration to Blessed Virgin.

Mrs. Vivien Davidson, a former Islander and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Gay of Pownal, was recently in attendance at a reunion in Florida of about 85 doctors and nurses, some of whom were survivors of torpedoed vessels during World War II. This group were all staff members of the American Red Cross Harvard University Field Hospital Unit which was first set up in Salisbury, England, in 1941. Mrs. Davidson is an aunt of Mrs. Alan H. Holman, Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Burleigh and son Jeffrey have returned to Ellerslie after spending the winter in Toronto, Ont. Ronnie Gallant, sophomore science student at SDU spent the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Emily Gallant and brother Gerald, at Richmond. Claude Goodwin, AAmherst, N. S. spent some time visiting with his mother, Mrs. Mary Goodwin, Wellington.

Heath Bryanton, Vic Harding and D. McCarroll of Toronto, Ont. spent the weekend at their former homes in Kensington and left on return by car on Tuesday. They were accompanied back by Mrs. Edgar Bryanton and Mrs. Grace Harding, Kensington, who plan to spend the next month visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Praught, Wellington, had as Easter guest their son Gerry, junior art student at SDU and their son Leo, who is employed in Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson and son Jamie of Moncton, N. B. were Easter-time visitors to Kensington where they were the guests of Mrs. Gibson's parents, Rev. Alexander and Mrs. Mackay.

Ida Skerry, who is employed in Halifax, N. S. motored to the Island to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skerry, Grand River. She was accompanied by Sheila McLellan, Halifax, who also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cel McLellan, Grand River.

Roger Caseley left on Sunday to return to Truro, Agricultural College after spending the Easter weekend at his home at Kelvin Grove.

S-Sgt. Carroll Kadey, Mrs. Kadey and family of Halifax, N. S. were Easter visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, Ellerslie.

Audrey MacKinnon, of Halifax, N. S. spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard MacKinnon, Grand River.

Mel McPhee, Souris has returned following treatment in the Souris Hospital. The Eastern Packing Co. and USEN Fisheries, Souris started processing fish the latter part of last week. This was the earliest date on which fish landings were made since the plants were established.

Flue is quite prevalent in this vicinity resulting in a large number of students missing class in both Souris and rural schools.

Plans have been made by the Provincial Training Committee, Girl Guides of Canada, for the forthcoming visit of Mrs. C. A. Locke of Montreal West-Quebec. Mrs. Locke - a diploma'd trainer, will be in the province from April 20 - April 25th, and will conduct training sessions in Prince division on Apr. 20 and April 21st, and in King's division on April 22nd. On April 23 Mrs. Locke will be in Queen's division and that morning will conduct a Provincial Training for ranger guides, trainers and commissioners at the Basilica Recreation Centre. In the evening a brownie-training session will be held under her direction in Sherwood Hall.

Wife Dreads Upsets After Mother-In-Law's Visits

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Would you be so kind as to publish, for the benefit of a weary daughter-in-law, your concept of the appropriate role and behavior of a mother in her married son's home? And in relation to others involved - his wife, children et al, regardless of financial position? I was brought up in the Victorian tradition to be a disciplined Christian, respecting the rights of others, and honoring mothers especially, just because they are mothers. Despite obstacles, I have practised this creed, but in relation to my mother-in-law it pays no dividends. Her annual trip East is scheduled for later this month. And if she were to be confronted with your views, in print, it might help to prevent her leaving us in an emotional shambles, atop ourselves, our children, our house, our habits, our food and so on. Kind words to you, meanwhile for your work of trying to help people in their perpetual struggle to understand themselves and others. Sincerely, W. L. DEAR W. L.: In your opening paragraph you seem to be hinting, delicately, that your mother-in-law is arrogantly and insensitively rude in the role of matriarch, and also wealthy. ly differentiates decent mankind from the brutes, and from demons. Assuming that his is a recognizable portrait of your mother-in-law's personality, in her dealings with kinfolks vulnerable to her warped-ego vibrations, I would say: Don't both figuratively speaking. There isn't a thing you can do for her, on the constructive side, by concentrating would-be helpfully on her performance. What you can do, antidotally, is get yourself in shape, spiritually and psychologically, to abide serenely out-of-reach of her poison-dart throwing, during her visits. Fortify yourself with morning and nightly Bible reading and prayer. Digest a few verses daily from the psalms or gospels. Steep your mind in the message of 1 Corinthians 13. Study Emmet Fox's two life-changing classics, "Power Through Constructive Thinking" and "The Sermon on the Mount" (Harpers). Read Hannah Whitall Smith's classic "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life" (Revel). In short, become a tower of strength in your own right, a transmitter of God's peace and power in life, instead of a covering sponge, in hostess relation to your afflicted and afflicted mother-in-law.
