All Votes At The Next Session Said Expected To Be Crucial

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
OTTAWA — Party whips will be under heavy pressure when Canada's 27th Parliament opens Jan. 18.

The minority position of the Liberal government and the avowed intention of Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker to try to bring it down, will make every Commons' vote a crucial one.

The whips are the men appointed by their fellows to ride herd on their attendance in the House and to ensure they are present for every division.

Liberal whip is Toronto MP James Walker who is expected to carry on in the new Parliament even though the pressures of the job resulted in an illness of several weeks in the last session.

Conservative whip Eric Winkler was re-appointed to the post at the recent party caucus. Whips of the minor parties in the last parliament were Stanley Knowles for the NDP, Bert Leboe for Social Credit and Charles Gauthier for the Creditists. All were re-elected Nov. 8 and are expected to continue.

MORE MONEY
About two years ago whips were recognized as officers of the House and the whips of the government and official opposition are paid $4,000 a year over and above their $16,000 as MPs. Conservative Winkler says the money is not a great inducement as the extra work and longer hours more than offset the comparatively minor salary advantage in the higher tax brackets.

The two major whips are provided with larger offices, special assistants and additional clerical staff to ease the burden of their job.

The position of the Speaker is

EASTERN FUNERALS

RICHARDS FUNERAL — The funeral for Henry William Richards was held Tuesday, Nov. 30, from the Murray River Funeral Home to the Baptist Church, Murray Harbour where services were conducted by Rev. A.G.J. Steeves and Rev. M. Carl Currie. Hymns were: "We Meet Beyond The River" and "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." The pallbearers were: Spence Sharam, Roy Summers, Silas MacKay, Clarence Cuddy, James Richards and Edward Mutart. The flowerbearers, all grandsons, were: Sydney Beck, Bellama Beck, Ronald Penny, Roy O'Connor, Everett Richards and James Richards. Interment took place in the Murray Harbour cemetery.

Working Union Seen As Miracle

HALIFAX (CP) — It is a miracle that Canadian confederation is still working after a century, the chairman of Prince Edward Island's Centennial Committee said Monday night.

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, president of Prince of Wales College at Charlottetown, told the Halifax Canadian Club that the odds have been against successful development of union, with so many diversified interests in Canada's far-flung provinces.

He said Canadians know little about the first meeting of the Fathers of Confederation and the period of the nation's history immediately following. There was a definite need for the continued development of a Canadian culture, he said.

The best way to develop it is through centres for the performing arts, such as the Shakespearean Theatre at Stratford, Ont., and the Confederation Theatre at Charlottetown.

Dr. MacKinnon was the first chairman of the organizing committee for the Island's Confederation Memorial Building.

Rink Campaign Quota Reached

MONTAGUE — A cheque for $600 was presented to the Community Welfare League Ltd., last evening for the new hockey and skating rink being erected at Montague.

The cheque was presented by Kenneth R. MacDonald, chairman of the Montague Regional Strawberry Festival to G. Arnold Wightman who represented the Community Welfare League Ltd. The presentation was made during a meeting of the festival committee chairmen in the council chambers.

The financial report of the festival for the 1965 season showed a net profit of $619.23 with a gross take of $2,797.64 and expenses of $2,178.41.

In his report, the chairman, Mr. MacDonald strongly urged the association to drop the Lower Montague Regatta in the future. "It is a lot of work for very little return," he advised, "and it would be better to concentrate on a three-day festival at Montague."

With a new rink as the centre it would be much less work to make the same amount of money and in case of rain or bad weather the rink would be ideal. He also pointed out that work should begin almost immediately to make plans for the 1966 festival, July 20, 21, 22.

He had high praise for the Women's Institute, the CWL, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion, the Y's Men and many individuals for their cooperation and assistance. To make mention of the more successful events he pointed to the general parade, the lobster supper, the doll carriage parade, the queen contest, the strawberry ball.

Following the report a discussion on changes for the 1966 festival took place with several new ideas being presented.

OBJECTIVE REACHED
Mr. Wightman on receiving the cheque advised that the cheque would put the campaign over the top, however he said the objective was a minimum and "we hope this will not give the public the idea we do not need more. There are several individuals to come along yet and a number of organizations will no doubt be making a donation."

Work to date on the rink has been on schedule he said. "We have the forms already in and hope to get the walls started this week. Workmen have said the weather has been pretty good as there has been no hard frost to bother the pouring of the cement, and if all goes well the rink will be completed as planned."

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says a weak ridge of high pressure will cross the district early Wednesday, followed by the approach of a disturbance now over Hudson Bay. This disturbance will pass across Quebec to the north of the Maritimes, so that only northern New Brunswick should receive any measurable snowfall from it. In most regions cloudiness will vary with slightly milder temperatures expected in the afternoon.

Generally cloudy weather with a few snowflurries is predicted for Thursday.

Regional forecasts:
Prince Edward Island, Eastern New Brunswick Counties, Lower St. John River Valley: Variable cloudiness, becoming overcast with occasional snowflurries this afternoon and evening. Turning a little milder in the afternoon. Winds southwest 20 to 25, Monday 15 and 35, Fredericton 16 and 35, Saint John 20 and 35. Outlook for Thursday: Mostly cloudy with scattered snowflurries. Little change in temperature.

High tide today at Charlottetown 3:02 a.m. and 4:59 p.m. At Rustico at 10:50 p.m. Summer-side tide eighteen minutes later than Charlottetown. Sun rises today at 7:15 a.m. and sets at 4:40 p.m.

MR. AGNEW
William Agnew Dies In Calgary

Word was received yesterday by George Agnew, Charlottetown of the death of his brother, William E. Agnew in Calgary, Alberta. Mr. Agnew, 77, had apparently been in his usual good health but died in his sleep.

Mr. Agnew was a partner with his father, John Agnew, for many years in a large fox ranch in Alberta—the business went back to 1911. Later in life he became associated with the provincial civil service and was director of trade until he retired in 1958. His mother was the former Agnes Ireland.

Mr. Agnew took an active interest in community life while he lived and worked in Charlottetown. He was president of the Y's Men's club and the Caledonia Club among other things. He went to western Canada about seven years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Agnew celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last year.

The late Mr. Agnew was married to Evelyn Morrissey, Cardigan who survives. Members of their family are Douglas and William in Vancouver, Edith who is in Victoria, B.C., also Phyllis, Mrs. Olive Holmes, Vancouver, and Robert in Regina.

In addition to George, the brothers and sisters are Edie, who is Mrs. A.F. Hansuld, and Amy, both of whom live in Galt, Ontario; Bell, Mrs. Philip Meek, Peterboro, Ontario; John in Calgary, and Florence, Mrs. John Fielding, who lives in California, U.S.A.

The funeral service is being held Thursday from Jacques Funeral Home, Calgary.

Ghana Critical Of Canada For N-Free Zone Conditions

By BORIS MISKEW
UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Ghana Tuesday criticized Canada for offering a number of conditions as a basis for the establishment of a nuclear-free zone in Africa.

Ghanaian Delegate N. A. Quao told the United Nations General Assembly's political committee he hoped the African states would not be confronted with conditions such as those enumerated Oct. 19 before the committee by Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canada's chief disarmament negotiator.

Speaking during a debate on a resolution which would make the continent of Africa a nuclear-free zone, Quao said the problem of the denuclearization of Africa should not "be further complicated by conditions susceptible to different interpretations and partly motivated by cold war considerations."

OUTLINE PRINCIPLES
The Ghanaian delegate was referring to a speech in which Burns expressed Canada's view that arrangements for nuclear-free zones can be useful in limiting the spread of weapons provided they take account of the following principles:

—Any proposal for a nuclear-free zone should be acceptable to all the countries of the geographical area in which the zone would be located.

—It should provide for arrangements for verifying that the commitments undertaken are carried out.

—It should be consistent with the generally accepted principle that no disarmament measure should create a unilateral advantage for any state or group of states.

Replying to Ghana's criticism, Burns said Tuesday he was not thinking specifically of Africa when he had outlined Canada's proposals for the establishment of nuclear-free zones.

He said the proposals were aimed at covering various parts of the world, adding that he was especially thinking of Europe, where Canadian forces are involved.

Burns said the proposals were not meant as concrete conditions but more as suggestions to be taken under consideration when the subject of the establishment of nuclear-free zones was being discussed.
