

RUSSIAN FAMILY

Mrs. Victor Podzayev, Moscow, shakes hands with James McKenzie as Mrs. McKenzie (right) waits her turn. The Russian family, on a trip arranged by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, spent Christmas at the McKenzie home in Portsmouth, Ohio.

Watching the handshake was Mr. Podzayev, while daughter, Olga, watches newsmen outside the home. The Podzayevs flew home from Cincinnati on Dec. 27. (AP Wirephoto)

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Yummy Baked Yams Are Served With Ham

DOWN South, the months of January, February and March are known as Louisiana 'Yam' Supper Season. It is during this period that the yams are not only plentiful supply but also at their prime. Due to 'curing' in storage houses called kilns, the yams are more melon-like and sweet than when harvested in the fall. And in most homes you'll find yams appearing at the dinner table with another favorite, tender, succulent ham.

Cover, bake in 350 degrees F (mod) oven 30 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 min. longer, basting occasionally.

MONDAY DINNER LONGISHAS

- Tomato-Onion Soup
Seasoned Water
Grilled Thin Round Slices Ham
Yam and Apple Escalloped
Spinach or Mustard Greens
Roman Potato Salad
Pecan Pie
Or
Compoie of Stewed Figs and Orange Sections
Coffee Tea Milk
PECAN PIE
1 recipe pie pastry or mix
3 eggs
1 c. light molasses
1 c. light corn syrup
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 1/2 tbsp. flour
1 c. roasted pecan nuts, thick and sliced
Roll pie pastry scant 1/4" thick and line 9" glass pie plate. Build up sides and edges; stud at intervals with pecan nuts.
Dust pastry with 1 tsp. fine dry crumbs, and press in to prevent crust from absorbing moisture.
Beat eggs until frothy. Stir in molasses, corn syrup, salt, flour and butter. Stir flour into mixture.
Transfer to pie plate. Arrange pattern top-center of remaining pecan nuts, but leave room for cutting pie.
Bake 5 min. in hot oven, 425 degrees F., then 35 min. in mod. oven, 350 degrees F., or until firm to touch. Cool. Serve dry if desired.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Try serving a milk-plus breakfast to hurrying commuters or light eaters as a glass of milk with a dash of cereal. It's a supply of important nutrients. To keep white nylon from turning yellow by picking up color from colored garments with a white towel, always wash with other whites, and use an all-fabric bleach every time. When cleaning closets, shelves and drawers, dusting brooms and crevice tool of the vacuum cleaner are especially useful for removing dust accumulations from surfaces, corners and crevices. If you are marking lines with indelible ink, first dip the piece in cold starch, let it dry, and dip it in the pen. The pen will then write without scratching or smearing.

EDITOR'S CHOICE YOU always look tasteful, trim, pretty. YOU always choose a soft, classic line, and never go wrong! For cotton, fabric, wool, Printed Patterns, 4907, Misses Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 requires 5 yards fabric. Fabric: 100% Cotton. Price: 99 cents (no stamps, please) for this pattern. Other residents add 2 cents sales tax. Plainly sized. NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER, 4907, Misses Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Send order to ANNE ADAMS, care of Guardian, Patriot Post, Dept. 40, Front Street West, Toronto 1, Ontario.

4907 10-20 by Anne Adams

Women HAPPENINGS

Audrey Jenkins, Women's Editor; Phone 43806

Mrs. Marjorie Campbell, Kingsboro, is spending the Christmas and New Year holidays with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Lewis, and family, Moncton, N.B. Albert Dixon, Sudbury, Ontario, is spending the holidays with his mother, Mrs. R.W. Dixon, East Baitic. Albert Bruce has returned to his home in Powell after having received treatment in a hospital. Mr. and Mrs. William Robertson, Kingsboro, are spending the Christmas and New Year holidays with their family in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, Fortune, spent the Christmas and New Year holidays with relatives in Moncton, N.B. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Bell, Fitzroy Street, spent the Christmas holidays in Halifax with Mr. and Mrs. Bell's nephew, Capt. Leslie Simms, RCN, Mrs. Simms and family. Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Barrett, Admiral Street, returned over the weekend after a spending Christmas with their son, Dr. Lieut. Albert Allen, M.R.S. Allen and Jocelyn. Mr. and Mrs. David Boswell, Longworth Avenue, had as their holiday guest, Mrs. Boswell's mother, Mrs. Hope Macalister, Montreal West. Barrie White, formerly of Charlottetown and now residing at 4839 Graham Drive, Calgary, is a patient at the Calgary General Hospital, following surgery. Mr. and Mrs. Preston Affleck and family, Mount Stewart, motored to Charlottetown to spend Christmas with Mrs. Affleck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynton Jay, 55 Upper Prince Street. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Castello and son Mark, formerly of Montreal and Dartmouth, are spending the holidays with Mrs. Castello's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynton Jay, 55 Upper Prince Street. ACI Edward Carson Jay, RCAP Station, Summerside, is spending Christmas and New Year holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynton Jay, Charlottetown. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Charleishaw, M. Stewart, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. McIvor, and family motored to Charlottetown to spend Christmas with Mrs. Elder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynton Jay, 55 Upper Prince Street. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howat and daughters Anna Lee, Lou, Jennie Mae and son Bill, of South Burnaby, B.C., are holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown, North Wiltshire. The Bowling Club of which Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mitten are members honored them with a housewarming Friday evening at their new home, Smallwood Crescent. The presentation of two Indian scenes, the work of George Lewis, was made by Bill Munroe and Mrs. Louis Simmons. Miss Rae Blakney has returned to Montreal General Hospital where she is in training after spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Blakney, Paradise. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

North Rustico couple observe 50th Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Gauthier, North Rustico, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Nov. 9 with the celebration of High Mass by the parish priest, Rev. Francis Corcoran. An estimated 50 relatives and friends met at the Legion Home after mass to enjoy breakfast, served by the Ladies Auxiliary. Joseph Gaultin, master of ceremonies, called upon Father Corcoran to present Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier with a scroll from his Holiness, Pope Paul V. An address was read and a purse from members of the family was presented by great-granddaughter, Donna Larkin. Gifts from friends and neighbors were received by the happy couple and messages of congratulations included telegrams from His Excellency Governor W.J. MacDonald, Premier Walter Shaw and Heath MacQuarrie, MP for Queens. Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier invited all present to their home in the afternoon where refreshments were served with Mrs. Emma LeClair and Mrs. Vincent Blakney assisting Mrs. Gauthier at the tea table. Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier, the former Antoinette LeClair, were married in St. Augustin's Church, South Rustico, Nov. 11, 1913, by the late Monsignor Chisholm. They have 12 children, 45 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

AMERICAN ELK The American elk, or wapiti as the Indians called it, is the second largest deer in the world after the moose. Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Johnston, Montague, had as guests last week, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Keenan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. MacLeod and family, Stellarton, N.S. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Crane and family, and Charles Stewart, Charlottetown, were holiday visitors in Montague.

Miss Elsie Jardine, Kingsboro, left Saturday to spend New Year's with her sister, Mrs. Murray Beaton, Kingston, Ontario, before returning to Worcester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Massey, East Baitic, left recently to spend the winter months with her family in the United States. Miss Pauline MacPhee, of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Halifax, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacPhee, Little Harbour. Mr. Dougald Stewart and his sister, Mrs. L. Beaubien, Wood Islands, on Saturday visited their father, Mr. Murdoch MacPhee, Hopfield, who is a patient at the Campbell Nursing Home, Lower Montague. Miss Judy Acorn was a holiday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington B. Campbell, Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Miss Rae Blakney has returned to Montreal General Hospital where she is in training after spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Blakney, Paradise. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

North Rustico couple observe 50th Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Gauthier, North Rustico, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Nov. 9 with the celebration of High Mass by the parish priest, Rev. Francis Corcoran. An estimated 50 relatives and friends met at the Legion Home after mass to enjoy breakfast, served by the Ladies Auxiliary. Joseph Gaultin, master of ceremonies, called upon Father Corcoran to present Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier with a scroll from his Holiness, Pope Paul V. An address was read and a purse from members of the family was presented by great-granddaughter, Donna Larkin. Gifts from friends and neighbors were received by the happy couple and messages of congratulations included telegrams from His Excellency Governor W.J. MacDonald, Premier Walter Shaw and Heath MacQuarrie, MP for Queens. Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier invited all present to their home in the afternoon where refreshments were served with Mrs. Emma LeClair and Mrs. Vincent Blakney assisting Mrs. Gauthier at the tea table. Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier, the former Antoinette LeClair, were married in St. Augustin's Church, South Rustico, Nov. 11, 1913, by the late Monsignor Chisholm. They have 12 children, 45 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

AMERICAN ELK The American elk, or wapiti as the Indians called it, is the second largest deer in the world after the moose. Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Johnston, Montague, had as guests last week, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Keenan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. MacLeod and family, Stellarton, N.S. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Crane and family, and Charles Stewart, Charlottetown, were holiday visitors in Montague.

Miss Elsie Jardine, Kingsboro, left Saturday to spend New Year's with her sister, Mrs. Murray Beaton, Kingston, Ontario, before returning to Worcester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Massey, East Baitic, left recently to spend the winter months with her family in the United States. Miss Pauline MacPhee, of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Halifax, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacPhee, Little Harbour. Mr. Dougald Stewart and his sister, Mrs. L. Beaubien, Wood Islands, on Saturday visited their father, Mr. Murdoch MacPhee, Hopfield, who is a patient at the Campbell Nursing Home, Lower Montague. Miss Judy Acorn was a holiday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington B. Campbell, Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Babcock and son Hal, Milltown, N.B., were holiday guests of Mrs. Babcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Fred Clair, RCN, Halifax, was a recent visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clair, Montague. Miss Faye MacDonald spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Atwood MacLeod, Montague. Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, had as their holiday guests, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacLaine. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, John and Jeanne, Beauport, Quebec, spent the Yuletide season with relatives in Montague. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Westaway, Eastern Passage, N.S., spent the holiday season with Mrs. Westaway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gillis, Main Street, Montague. Miss Carol Bohner, Montague, spent the holiday in Lunenburg, N.S., a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schwartz. Edgar Dewar, who is in his senior year at the Nova Scotia Technical College, Halifax, is spending the holidays with his

MARY HAWORTH Girl Should Not Smoke In Front Of Her Father. The doctor remarked in their hearing, for their benefit, that parents have a duty to drill their children in sensible hygiene practices. They should provide right example, systematic instruction and firm supervision in formative years, to impress upon youngsters the vital importance of balanced diet, regular exercise and rest, avoidance of cigarettes, sweets and the like, he said. But then he added that youngsters of high school age are old enough to be personally held responsible for cultivating health or neglecting it. He emphasized the unwisdom of cigarette smoking, specifically, and took issue with teen-agers who willy nilly fool around with this health hazard, in a false approach to feeling grown-up. I was grateful and impressed that a busy general practitioner concerned himself to teach "preventive" medicine in this fashion, meanwhile conducting a diagnostic inquiry. But back to your family statement: I feel the conflict between father and daughter should be resolved in terms of filial courtesy. If Linda aspires to be well mannered (indispensable ingredient of charm) surely she will refrain from smoking around her father, since she knows it offends his sensibilities.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer recess.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer recess.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer recess.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer recess.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer recess.

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband and I are having trouble over our daughter's wanting to smoke publicly. She was 18 yesterday and pushed the issue in our presence, in front of a guest who had just offered her a cigarette. Her father (who had just given her a beautiful new watch) blew his top. This caused the guest (one of the nicest girl friends I've met) to be disgusted because she smokes. Our daughter says that every girl she knows smokes, which cuts no ice with her daddy, he says it is "common". My view is that I am so relieved to have gotten her to this age safely that I don't worry about a cigarette now. She has caused me quite a good deal of anguish but seems to have calmed down and I am grateful. Maybe if I smoked it would be better. I might have smoked at her age as all my friends did, but I considered it an expensive habit and wouldn't have dreamed of such extravagance. Such reasoning would be ridiculous in Linda's case because truthfully money is no problem with us. To tell her of the dangers of cancer, etc., is to waste one's breath, as I am sure she doesn't want to live past 30 anyway! What do you think? P.S., Smoking wasn't allowed in my husband's family. They probably wouldn't have let him marry me if I'd been smoking. D.S. Dear D.S.: A proverb says "You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." By the same token you may expose your daughter to reason, concerning the senselessness of smoking, but you can't "smoke" her assimilate reason for you see it or act upon it. A 15-year-old has long since reached the age of reason, which begins around age 7 (assuming the person is endowed with average intelligence). But the use that she can make of this reasoning power is up to him (or her). I recall a family doctor's little dissertation to my daughters, then-teen-agers, on the subject of good health habits, during a routine check-up they were having, preliminary to returning to school after summer