

The Residence Rap...

Nunnery News The Bernardine Hall Column

SOON, IT WILL be Spring Break - time to relax and get caught up on some of that work you let slide over the past 1 1/2 months that seemed to just fly by. Unfortunately, there are some people in Bernardine that just can't make it home for the Break for various reasons. So if you live close by, why not take a friend home with you for a few days. You'd be suprised how much a change it is from being cooped up in Residence!!

As we speak now, there are probably a lot of people suffering from hangovers from the House Party held last night or getting drunk at the Pub tonight, or BOTH!! Hope you all had a good time. And for all the non-residents who decided to check out a good party, hope you were impressed. When we party, we PARTY!

Jackets for Bernardine will be in by the time everyone returns from the break and will be available to everyone about 2 - 3 weeks after that or just as soon as we can get them printed.

Just a reminder of the Tri-Residence Trivial Pursuit Tournament coming up after the break. If you like Trivia, this should be an interesting challenge, so sign up soon. Remember that teams must consist of two girls and two guys. Beginning after the break, the Bernardine 'Nunnery News' will feature a reasonable facsimile of 'Dear Abby'. Letters may be dropped off at the Gem office, basement of Security, addressed to 'Dear Bernard' (as in Bernardine Ian Hall, our Mascot, the Party Animal!). Here's an example:

Dear Bernard:

I am a sophomore in Bernardine Hall with a BIG problem - my roommate is always stealing my food and my boyfriend. She can have --, but my KD? Help!! — Hurt and Hungry

Have a fantastic break, everyone!

Hall Happenings

by Sean MacIntosh

Although it has had its moments of illrepute, Marian Hall is still a great place to live. If, that is, you can put up with a few things... Those wonderful things that we, the residents of Marian Hall, must put live with every day of our stay at the University of Prince Edward Island.

1) The broken toilet in the second floor girls wash-room. (It has been broken since an unfortunate accident occurred on the 17th of October) The proper forms were filled out by the proper persons and yes the men from maintenance did come in one day last semester and look at the broken pieces lying on the floor. But still it was not fixed.

2) There is nothing more pleasant than going out into the hall during a power failure to see that it is just as dark out there as it is in your room because the wonderful emergency lights that line the halls and stairwells are broken and have not worked in as long as anyone can remember.

3) When its snowing outside and the temperature is -20 degrees, it is nice to know that your heat works. And that is the case with rooms

314 and 204. It has had the heat turned on full blast since the thermostat fell off the wall in September.

4) Down the hall from 314 (the ever heated room) is the never heated room. It contains the guys who wake up every morning with a covering of frost on their beds. The one good thing about that room is that they don't have to use a refrigerator.

6) The bathroom at the south bathroom on the second floor of the building has two showers. One with a shower curtain, one without. It sometimes gets embarrassing when the broken door on that bathroom is stuck open and certain personages of the opposite sex walk by.

Students at Marian Hall pay on an average of $2500 per semester for residence and tuition. This is a large amount of money for a student to pay. Especially if the conditions in which they live are as poor as they are at Marian. No matter how much they try, the residences cannot get anything done. They have tried forms, telephone calls and all else to get someone to do something about the above mentioned grievences and still nothing is fixed. What else can we do?!

Marian Hall Joke of the Week

Question: How did the Engine-ear die from drinking milk?

Answer: The COW fell on him!!
