

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD JOHNSTON
Summerside Church Is Scene
Of Wedding And Reception

Baskets of red and white flowers decorated the Summerside Presbyterian Church, and white tapers burned at the altar on Tuesday, December 29th when Marcia Ellen Hunter daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Hunter of 346 Central St., Summerside was united in marriage to Charles Edward Johnston of Cornwall, Ontario. Officiating clergyman was Rev. Donald MacKay.

During the signing of the register, the soloist, Gladys Dymond of Summerside, sang "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. Amos Hubley at the organ, and the choir sang, Praise the Lord O King of Heaven.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of full length white brocade of satin. The fitted bodice had a gently curved neckline and long sleeves tapering at the wrist with chapel points. The softly pleated skirt included a self-train. The dress back and sleeves featured tiny self-covered buttons. Her headpiece, a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms held a veil of bridal tulle, with petal-shaped shoulder length tiers. She carried a bouquet of red roses and trailing ivy. The bride's jewellery was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

The matron-of-honor Mrs. Claudia Simpson of Fredericton, N.B. and the bridesmaid, Carla MacKinnon of Summerside, wore floor-length gowns of red velvet in an empire style. They carried white bunny fur muffs and wore Tom Jones bows of matching velvet in their hair.

The best man was Mr. Herbert Johnston, of Cornwall, Ontario, brother of the groom.

Laurence Simpson of Fredericton, N.B. and Gerald Hopkirk of Summerside, P.E.I. ushered guests to pews marked by white satin bows and pine cones.

For the reception at the Church Hall, the bride's mother received wearing a street length ensemble in deep green velvet, with accessories in matching green and gold brocade and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother was in a dress and jacket of cranberry red and black with a black hat and flowers of white carnations.

The bride wore a matching coat and hat in winter white with accessories of brown for a honeymoon in the Maritimes. The newlyweds will reside at 321 Regent Street, Fredericton, N.B.

ELLEN'S DIARY

The Barns Settled Cozily Into White Surroundings

Through this morning's twilight, by way of which comes the dawn, we heard it the shrill crow of a speckled bantam in the stables, reminding the households at Alderlea, that now it was quite time to stir James threw back the bed-covers.

"It's snowing, Ellen" he presently observed at the window. "Oh, not falling in any amount, but..." Now he was down the stairwell, stepping off into his day.

Snowing, it was. Gently however, as if winter standing on the highest Island hilltop had nodded and decided, "a bit more it needs: a fresh cover to keep the clovers warm and the grasses, so that, when the time comes, they will catch quickly and thrive well for the herds and the flocks." For winter contributes no small share to that lushness.

To the south, in the valley and below the spruces - great trees, large of boles, and with stout wide-spread branches, were catching a share of the fall. Across the stream and mill and above, Mr. C's house and barns on the hilltop, freshly white-roofed were settled cozily into the all-white surroundings.

We spread the breakfast cloth on the table, inspected the effect. It was somewhat stained by use. It would never do against this clean white morning! We quickly replaced it with one as freshly laundered. There! that was more in keeping with the spirit of the brand new day and week.

"We can't call it a snowstorm, Ellen, as it is now. But let the wind rise, and it could soon become a blizzard!" James remarked at breakfast. We saw a wild duck lift from the stream below, and in a blurred flight, wing away up the creek to the west. Going home, the thought came. It was indeed the best place to seek or be, when winter skies grew snowfall.

"It's good," we said, "the one girl of the place returned to town in advance of this. No worry now over her getting to classes." "It won't be the nicest one to get the stables cleaned away, I'm thinking." But James glanced to the outdoors, "if it keeps as it is, I reckon we'll manage it."

And what a busy day it proved to be for our farmers, with, as a quick of fate would have it, Mack at hand to assist them.

"It's curious," he commented, come by through the afternoon for a pail of hot water for the stables, "but have you ever noticed that young things usually arrive in a stormy time? Yes, calves and little pigs and..." "babies" we chuckled. "I guess you're right" he grinned. "Do you know what's new at the barns?"

"A lamb?"

"Three! A single and a pair."

Margate WI
Receives Letter
From England

Mrs Charles Dennis was hostess to the members of the Margate Women's Institute at their regular monthly meeting. A letter from the WI Link in England was read, and a newspaper enclosure of their "Margate Wharf Fire" was passed around for viewing.

The president, Mrs. Lorne Adams, opened the meeting with the Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect repeated in unison. A Thought for the Day was read by the president.

The secretary, Mrs. Philip Henderson, read the minutes of the last meeting. Fourteen members responded to roll call with a suggestion for a school lunch. The treasurer, Mrs. Heath Mayhew, gave her report. The correspondence contained a letter from "Guanam" the adopted child, and the visitation committee reported calls made. Red Cross work was given out.

Mrs. Keith Warren and Mrs. Chester Howland were invited to go on a winter visitation, committing a card party was planned to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson.

The program consisted of a contest prepared by Mrs. Charles Dennis and Mrs. Edward Andrews. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Heath Mayhew.

Sterling WI
Will Hold
Valentine Party

Mrs. Elois MacEwen was hostess for the January meeting of the Sterling Women's Institute, Stanley Bridge, when roll call was answered by 18 members donating something for the WI kitchen.

It was decided to hold card parties every second Monday of the month. Correspondence was read and discussed and a questionnaire on the Provincial Convention was filled in.

The lower room of the Masonic hall which has been leased by the Women's Institute, and has been undergoing extensive repairs and decorations, is to be reopened with a Valentine Social and pot luck supper on February 11th.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and committee in charge, and the meeting closed with the singing of the "Queen."

IDA BAILEY ALLEN
Special Kitchen 'Play'
Stars A Birthday Cake

Scene I: It seemed like "party day" in our test-kitchen at 4 p.m. on-the-dot. It came two late afternoon guests, bringing with them were 6 yes in it. If you please, these 6 lovely birthday cakes. These guests, from American Airlines, wanted to help me celebrate a birthday I had coming up. The cakes were delicious.

"May I have the recipe for our readers?" I asked Harry McGuire, manager of food services planning for American Airlines.

Must Be Cut
"With pleasure," he promised. "But first I must cut down the recipe to a household-size cake."

Scene II: The same evening in the home kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGuire. They are busy at work trimming a 50-servings sponge cake recipe down to one of household size. Next day the recipe arrived, typewritten step-by-step — a routine Mr. McGuire might use in giving a TV sequence or cooking demonstration. Here it is for your own home kitchen show.

BIRTHDAY CAKE
Harry McGuire speaks: "First preheat the oven. Next read through the recipe and assemble the ingredients you will need: 5 eggs, separated; grated rind and juice 1/2 medium lemon; 1 c. granulated sugar; 1 c. instantized flour; 1/2 salt; and butter cream icing (follows). All measurements are level."

To mix the cake: Using wire whip, beat 3 egg yolks until light and fluffy; add grated rind and juice 1/2 lemon. Set this aside, keeping it at room temperature.

"Next beat 5 egg whites until light and they form peaks. Set also aside at room temperature."

"Now into egg yolk mixture stir and fold in slowly 1 c. sugar. When well folded in, add 1 c. instantized flour (stir and fold in slowly); lastly, add 1/2 tsp. salt."

Batter Well - Mixed
"Now fold in beaten egg whites until batter is well mixed. "Portion into 3 (7") cake pans, which have either been oiled and floured or lined with parchment paper."

To bake: Start cake to bake at 325 degrees F. (slow oven) until 15 min. Then increase heat to 350 degrees F. (moderate) for 10 to 12 min. or until cake is as brown as you like it to be. Then reduce temperature to 325 degrees F. to finish. This entire baking time will be 40 to 45 min.

"Remove cake from oven and cool in pans on wire-rack. Layers are then ready to remove from pans, ice and decorate. Cake serves 6 to 10.

"Finishing the cake: Spoon 2 or 3 tsp. of either strawberry OR raspberry OR English orange marmalade OR lemon marmalade about 1/4" thick atop each layer. Put together. Spread top and sides with butter cream icing; chill, then decorate.

"By setting aside some of the icing for 8 min. to stiffen slightly, you can use it in a pastry bag and tube to make the decoration very fancy, and also add a "Happy Birthday" greeting. It's more work, but worth the effort!"

"Cake colorings can be mixed (drop by drop) into the icing and are available in your supermarket in assorted colors. Sometimes we dust gaudy sweet chocolate at the base of the cake while the icing is still moist.

"If you want a TERRIFIC effect, you might like to use a cake decorating set. However, most persons prefer to use only the traditional colored candles and candle-holders."

BUTTER CREAM ICING
Cream together 1 1/2 c. sifted powdered sugar (3 c. superfine XXXX) and 1/2 c. softened butter or margarine. Flavor to suit your taste with 1/2 tsp. pure vanilla, or lemon or almond extract.

Less Violent TV Programs
Desired By Most Women

By BRENDA LARGE
OTTAWA (CP) — The 700,000 affiliated members of the National Council of Women have expressed an "almost unanimous" desire for a reduction in the number of television programs featuring violence, sadism and immorality.

The program consisted of a contest prepared by Mrs. Charles Dennis and Mrs. Edward Andrews. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Heath Mayhew.

The speaker said, more women are taking an interest, and this of course, is good, since all church women should be part of the whole church "loyalty and devotion to Christ," Mrs. MacKay said, "must motivate all our work". Christian witness may be expressed through study for we need to know the aim of the work in which we are engaged; fellowship carried out in different ways; service, in the total mission of the church, in a few words the speaker summed up "the broader concept of the church's work, God's will to do; God's will to love."

Prior to Mrs. MacKay's address a pot luck supper was enjoyed. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Elmer Moss and Mrs. D.L. McNis thanked her for her interesting and enlightening address.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. E.J. Fiander.

The implication of such programs being seen in the home is that they are acceptable by the standards of society and morality of the day.

"Herein lies the danger. It is almost impossible, if children watch TV at all, to prevent them from viewing such programs. We believe that they tend to create a frame of mind which is not shocked by violence, cruelty or lack of ethics simply because they have been viewed so repeatedly."

UCW Hear Talk
On Organization

Mrs. Alexander MacKay, who played a major role in the organization of the Kensington United Church Women, addressed the women of St. Mark's Anglican Church at a special meeting held recently in the church hall, on the organization and progress of the UCW.

Among reasons given for the change in the women's organizations of the United Church, was the fact of too many organizations, the WMS, the WA and others, all beginning to do similar work in the church.

The time has come for a united group and Mrs. MacKay's pointed out that united is the first and most important word in the title, United Church Women, and could well be United Anglican or United Presbyterian Women. She told how the new organization was set up and explained the Purpose by which it is maintained.

Since the change in organization

The red-bearded civil servant and his wife said they would like to adopt Eva legally, but Quebec law makes it unlikely. A child is legally adoptable in Quebec only if its parents are dead or insane or if the child is illegitimate.

Eva's family visit her often, Mrs. Fournoux said, and they hope she will grow up able to speak Eskimo as well as English and French.
