

Food Plant views Aired By Premier-MacRae

By DON MACLEOD
Guardian-Printed Staff Writer
"Contracts and prices are a matter between a processing plant and the growers, and I don't feel that I should comment, or that the government should interfere in any alleged, manager-grower disputes," Premier Walter St. John said Saturday.

At the annual meeting of the Prince County Federation of Agriculture Thursday night at O'Leary, strong expressions of dissatisfaction by some growers were heard over the operations of the frozen food plant owned by Fraser Valley Frozen Foods Limited.
RESOLUTION PASSED
A resolution passed at the meeting condemned in principle cases where some growers of crops for processing received bills, rather than payment, for their crops.

The premier said that growers should discuss the matter throughly with the plant management, and that they would have a thorough understanding of company operations in this province.
"Prices on any farm commodity fluctuate," he said, "and many times growers say they are not getting a good price. But I think that there is a great chance for re-adjustment in the situation through company-grower discussions than there would be on an open market."

This checking-out could be carried out only if the country suspected of smearing secret tests agreed to invite international inspectors onto its soil. A country which failed to invite such an inspection would carry the onus of proving the treaty to be broken.

The lack of compelling in this arrangement strikes the Americans and British. The U.S. state department has said that, without an adequate inspection arrangement, "it is simply impossible to tell whether secret testing is going on in a closed society."

The Soviet Union is such a society. It is assumed that an open society such as the U.S. and Canada would be impossible to conduct such tests.

MISSED BARGAIN

NANCY, France (AP)—An auctioneer disposing of the estate left by widow Andrew Stool could not get a bid for an old suitcase offered at two francs (40 cents). AWAKE NIGHTS

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed—and then are dull and listless the next day. All of which may be due to a temporary toxic condition which calls for the use of the DoD's Kidney Pills. You can depend on DoD's!

ASLEEP DAYS

Healthy kidneys filter poison and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you never get a good night's sleep—call for the use of the DoD's Kidney Pills. You can depend on DoD's!

head of the representatives of the parishes. He emphasized that this democratic process could scarcely have gone farther and the assembly has often been likened to a Scottish Parliament. Sgtn. Ldr. Beveridge related the relationship of the church and state going back to the year 400, and revealed how the Scottish people chose St. Andrew as patron saint mainly due to the tenacity and loyalty to old ways and to retain their identity as a people in face of European influences, as well as their desire for independence.

Sgtn. Ldr. Beveridge was introduced by Chief Justice Thana A. Campbell and thanked by retiring Legion president, C. Ross MacKenzie. James P. MacInnis was chairman and welcomed the large gathering especially the women who were attending for the first time. Rev. J.D. Mackay delivered prayer.
