Long-Standing

Blood Diseases are cured by the persevering use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

This medicine is an Alterative, and causes a radical change in the system. The process, in some cases, may not be quite so rapid as in others; but, with persistence, the result is certain. Read these testimonials:—

"For two years I suffered from a severe pain in my right side, and had other troubles caused by a torpid liver and dyspepsia. After giving several medicines a fair trial without a cure, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was greatly benefited by the first bottle, and after taking five bottles I was completely cured."—John W. Benson, 70 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Last May a large carbuncle broke out on my arm. The usual remedies had no effect and I was confined to my bed for eight weeks. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than three bottles healed the sore. In all my experience with medicine, I never saw more

Wonderful Results.

Another marked effect of the use of this medicine was the strengthening of my sight."—Mrs. Carrie Adams, Holly Springs, Texas.

"I had a dry scaly humor for years, and suffered terribly; and, as my brother and sister were similarly afflicted, I presume the malady is hereditary. Last winter, Dr. Tyron, (of Fernandina, Fla.,) recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and continue it for a year. For five months I took it daily. I have not had a blemish upon my body for the last three months."—T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers st., New York City.

"Last fall and winter I was troubled with a dull, heavy pain in my side. I did not notice it much at first, but it gradually grew worse until it became almost unbearable. During the latter part of this time, disorders of the stomach and liver increased my troubles. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after faithfully continuing the use of this medicine for some months, the pain disappeared and I was completely cured."—Mrs. Augusta A. Furbush, Haverhill, Mass.

A Wheat Field.

Like liquid gold the wheat field lies,
A marvel of yellow and russet and green,
That ripples and runs, that floats and flies,
With the subtle shadows, the change, the sheen,
Such as play in the golden hair of a girl,
A ripple of amber, a flare
Of light sweeping after, a curl
In the hollows like swirling feet
Of fairy waltzer, the colors run
To the western sun
Through the deeps of the ripening wheat.

Broad as the fleckless, soaring sky,
Mysterious, fair as the moon-led sea,
The vast plain flames on the dazzled eye
Under the fierce sun's alchemy.
The slow hawk stoops
To his prey in the deeps;
The sunflower droops
To the lazy wave; the wind sleeps,
Then all in dazzling links and loops,
A riot of shadow and shine,
A glory of olive and and amber and wine,
To the western sun the colors run
Through the deeps of the ripening wheat.

O glorious land! My western land,
Outspread beneath the setting sun!
Once more amid your swells I stand,
And cross your sod-lands dry and dun;
I hear the jocund calls of men
Who sweep amid the ripened grain
With swift, stern reaper, once again.

The evening splendor floods the plain,
The crickets' chime
Makes pauseless rhyme,
And toward the sun
The splendid colors romp and run
Before the wind's feet
In the wheat!

Thoughts on Tea Drinking.

Tea drinking may become as vicious, so far as the health of the individual is concerned, as the drinking of alcoholic liquors. There are temperaments that cannot endure safely the medicinal effect of tannin. The consumption of tea has become so enormous as to have suggested a study of its effects upon the health of the people. There are those who look upon it as an evil only second to that connected with the excessive use of alcohol. Tea is spoken of as an agreeable cerebral stimulant, quickening intellectual operations, removing headache and fatigue, and promoting cheerfulness and a sense of well-being. When it is used to excess, the digestive and nervous systems are especially affected. There is no doubt that there are cases of dyspepsia caused by the inordinate use of strong tea; it is also a matter of common observation that sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, and nervous irritability often follow the prolonged use of this beverage. Tea drinkers, by which we mean those who use tea to excess, are to be found in all classes of society. The fact should be impressed upon such persons that tea is not a food, and cannot, therefore, be substituted for articles of diet which form both flesh and bone. The dependence of the habitual tea drinker on the beverage is one of the strongest proofs of its evil effects, and should be a warning against its excessive use. A scientific journal says: "Tea exercises a powerful inhibitory effect on salivary digestion, and this appears to be entirely due to the large quantity of tannin it contains. It appears that tannin exists in two conditions in the tea leaf. One, the larger portion, is in the free state, and is easily extracted by the hot water; but about one-fourth is fixed and remains undissolved in the fully exhausted tea leaves. Some persons have supposed that by infusing tea for a very short time—only two or three minutes—the passing of tannin into the infusion would be avoided. This is a delusion; you can no more have tea without tannin than you can have wine without alcohol. Tannin in the free state, is one of the most soluble substances known. If you pour hot water on a little heap of tannin, it dissolves like so much pounded sugar. Tea infused for two minutes was not found sensibly inferior in its retarding power on salivary digestion to tea infused for thirty minutes. One gentleman of my acquaintance, in his horror of tannin, was in the habit of preparing tea by placing the dry leaves on a paper filter and simply pouring on the boiling water. In this way he thought to evade the presence of tannin in his tea. But if you try the experiment, and allow the product as it runs through the filter to fall into a solution of prechloride of iron, you will find that an intense, inky black coloration is produced, showing that tannin has come through in abundance. In order to diminish as far as possible the retarding influence of tea on salivary digestion, it should be made weak and used sparingly, and it should not be taken with, but after, the meal."

The Highlandman's Prayer.

Good and gracious Providence, bless all the McDonalds, and all the McDonalds' children, for a thousand year lang syne; be graciously pleased to send us rivers of whiskies—the very best of whiskies, and mountains of potatoes and bread, and cheeses as big as the Hill of Strathmore; and likewise, furthermore, send us floods of water, so that there may be grass plenty for man and beast; and moreover, likewise, send us tons of tobacco sneeshan, as numerous as the seas on the sand shore; and swords and pistols numerous to kill all the Grants and the McPhersons—ta deevils—for evermore lang syne. Bless the wee stirk and make him a big coo by next Martinmas; and put the strength of Sampson into Dugald's arm, and make him bring forth kail and corn—and lang kail and corn prodidgious. Bless the wee soo and make him a big boar by Martinmas next Bless all the bairns—Duncan and Rory, and Flora, and young Rory, and glorious yours for evermore. Amen, lang syne.

King's County Exhibition, 1889.

THE meeting of Commissioners for King's County Exhibition, held in Georgetown on Saturday, 17th August inst., was attended by a large number of Commissioners from different sections of the County. Hon. D. Gordon, Chairman of the Board, presided. He explained that the meeting had been called to appoint judges for King's County Exhibition. He had also received a letter from the Secretary of the Provincial Exhibition asking the Commissioners from King's County to nominate one judge in each class to attend the Provincial Exhibition. Judges for the Provincial Exhibition were then nominated. The following resolution was proposed by Cyrus Shaw, Esq., seconded by John Larkins, Esq., St. Peter's Bay:—

Resolved, That five judges be appointed from King's County, one from each electoral district to award prizes to successful competitors in the class of horses at the King's County Exhibition, 1889.

It was moved in amendment by Wm. P. Lewis, Esq., seconded by Robert Dewar, Esq., New Perth, "That all after the word 'that' be struck out and the following inserted. three judges be appointed, one from each county in the Island, to award prizes to successful competitors in the class of horses at the King's County Exhibition, 1889."

After a long and lively discussion the amendment was put to the meeting and lost on a division of 13 ayes and 16 nays. main motion was then agreed to.

The judges for the several classes were then appointed.

The matter of maintaining good order on exhibition day being brought up, Messrs. Cyrus Shaw and F. G. Bovyer were appointed a committee to confer with the Georgetown assessors in making arrangements to preserve the peace and prevent all disorderly conduct either in the town or on the exhibition grounds.

The meeting then adjourned.

Regularity of Habit.

One of the mort difficult of all minor habits to acquire, says an able writer, is that of regularity. It ranks with that of order. The natural inclination of most persons is to deter until the last possible moment, or to put it off to another time, where this can possibly be done. Yet habits of regularity contribute largely to the ease and comfort of life. A person can multiply his efficiency by it. We know persons who have a multitude of duties, and who perform a vast deal of work daily, who set apart certain hours for given duties, and are there at the moment and attend rigidly to what is in hand. This done, and other engagements are met, each in order, and a vast deal accomplished, not by strained exertion, but by regularity. The mind can be so trained to this that at certain hours in the day it will turn to a particular line of duty, and at other hours to other and different labors. The very diversity is restful, when attended to in regular order. But let these run together, and the duties mixed, and what before was easy is now annoying and oppressive, and the exact difference between many is at this point. There are those who confuse and rush, and attempt to do several things at once and accomplish little, while another will quietly proceed from one duty to another, and easily accomplish a vast amount of work. The difference is not in the capacity of the two, but in the regular methods of the one, compared with the irregular and confused habits of the other.

The intention of the Canadian Pacific Railway to undertake the construction of some branch lines in Manitoba is very warmly received by the people in the districts concerned. In reference to the Souris coalfield branch from Brandon, the Sun of that city says: "The districts through which the road will pass will enjoy thereby transportation facilities, the absence of which, up to the present, has been a constant impediment to their success. We are sincerely glad that our friends in the Souris district are about to realize hopes that have been so long deferred, and we indulge the hope that they will rapidly acquire and enjoy all the benefits and advantages they have been anticipating these many years.
