The Dead to Rest at Home.

WASHINGTON, October 5.—Arrangements are being made at the war department to bring to this country for interment the bodies of all the soldiers of the American army who died in Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines. Congress made an appropriation of 200,000, for the purpose, and the execution of the law has been placed in the hands of the quartermaster general of the army with instructions to spare no efforts or expense. The present plans of the department contemplate the removal of the remains of the soldiers buried in Cuba and Porto Rico as soon as the weather gets cold enough to justify the action. A ship will be fitted up for the special purpose of transporting the remains to this country.

Sarcophagus for Prince Bismarck.

BERLIN, Oct 5.—The sarcophagus for Prince Bismarck, which Emperor Will a n commanded the sculptor Begas to execute, will be a very elaborate figure. The prince will rest on the sarcophagus bareheaded and in the uniform of a cuirassier, part covered by the German flag. Beside the pedestal a dog will watch the body, symbolizing fidelity. In a niche above the monument will be seated a weeping woman, typifying Germany's sorrow. A man, representing strength, will stand at the right hand, and a figure of justice will be on the left.

Five shots were fired, three of which entered his body. Mrs. Anna C. George has been placed under arrest on suspicion of murder. Mrs. George is the divorced wife of Samuel C. George, and formally was a tenant of Sexton, conducting a dress-making business.

Pleased With Klondike.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct 5.—Mr. H. Maitland Kersey, formerly of the White Star Line, but now manager of the Canadian Development Company, has returned from Dawson, and gives a flattering opinion of the Klondike. He brought a fine collection of nuggets and gold dust. The collection was valued at about $25,000, and was partly owned by the Alaska Commercial Company. The 'Canadian,' and 'Columbia,' the steamers owned by Mr. Kersey's company, have had a very successful season on the Yukon, which, of course, is now over. While in Dawson, Mr. Kersey met the representative of the French Government, who was sent out to inquire into the conditions and prospects of the Klondike. The letter stated his report on Yukon would undoubtedly be very favorable, and that as a result 3,000 men would come out from France and go to the Klondike next year.

Great Britain and Russia.

PARIS, Oct 5.—The London correspondent of the Journal des Debats announces that Great Britain and Russia are about to sign an agreement giving the former preponderance in the Yang Tse valley and the latter in Manchuria.

A Heavy Snow Storm.

ST. PAUL, Oct 5.—Reports from Fosston, Hallock, Aitken and a dozen northern Minnesota points indicate that a heavy snowstorm is in progress. There was a light snow fall in this city.

Turkey Must Get Out.

PARIS, Oct 5.—The ultimatum of the powers to Turkey insists that the Turkish troops must evacuate the island of Crete within a month from today, and their withdrawal must commence within a fortnight at the latest.

A Menace to France.

MADRID, Oct 5.—The Imparcial declares that the naval demonstration which is beginning in Chinese waters is not only a menace to France and Russia, but implies an Anglo-American understanding to prevent the powers from opposing American designs in the Philippine Islands. This fact, the Imparcial adds, will influence the Paris deliberations.

A Wheat Famine in Russia.

LONDON, Oct 5.—Advices from Russia point to an acute economic crisis and probably a wheat famine during the coming winter. The crops in northern and central Russia are a complete failure, and what was thought to be a record harvest in south Russia proves to be a harvest far below the average. The grain is sparse, small sized and very light. The farmers are throwing their stocks on the market in order to meet the Michaelmas demands and the laborers' heavy hire. Prices, therefore, have fallen considerably; but a reaction is inevitable and prices are bound to boom, as experts predict that the supplies are wholly inadequate to meet the winter requirements.

THE DIFFERENCE IN TEA.—The Russian consumer craves tea manufactured by the processes in use on English plantations. In his eyes machinery for rolling the leaf and artificial heat applied to wither it, are abominations. A great Moscow merchant remarked lately, that the difference between hand-made, sundried tea, and that resulting from rolling and withering machines, is the difference between a waltz played by Straus's orchestra, and the same tune mangled by a barrel organ.—Canadian Grocers.

FROM THE KLONDIKE.

Captain Suttis, Experience With a Party of Gold Seekers.

Captain Suttis, late of the Carrie Easler, has received a letter from his father, Captain Thos. Suttis, who is at present with a party of Klondikers. The latter is well known here and is now in command of the barque Agate, formerly a sister ship of the barquentine Herbert Fuller.

The Agate is a vessel of 595 tons net. She left New York on February 15th for a voyage around the Horn. On board were 60 adventurers all eager to reach El Dorado of the north. The vessel was owned by the syndicate who furnished her with everything requisite for the long voyage. A small steamer was placed on deck, which was to be utilized in running up the streams. The vessel was to be banked for the winter and used as head quarters while the creeks were prospected. The vessel reached Copper river, her destination a short time ago and all were in good health. Unfortunately the party had quarreled on the voyage and were undecided what to do. They were broken up into small companies, and each was on its own hook. The winter was fast approaching and there was every prospect of hard times ahead. Discouragement was depicted on every face and they were eager to return. The Bluenose skipper wanted his Yankee friends to remain, but at the time of writing, everything pointed to a speedy return to civilization. Stores of hardships and but luck also served to shatter the hopes of the miners.

NEWS NOTES.

Among the many excellent points in the Sudan campaign was the treatment of the wounded. A correspondent writes to the Lanca: "Not a single man was left on the field moment after his injuries had been attended to, and not a man was left on the field five minutes after the 'cease fire' had sounded. At the present moment all the wounded officers and men are comfortably established in this excellent hospital with every comfort which can be provided." An X ray apparatus of the most modern pattern and perfect in every detail was used for the location of bullets. Altogether the perfection of the arrangements is in marked contrast with what used to prevail in all armies, and still prevails in some.

Owing to the friction between the army and navy, as to the transport service, and the consequent inefficiency and dissatisfaction, Admiral Sampson has recommended the United States Government to adopt as a whole the regulations in force under British rule as to combined action between the army and navy. Some change is certainly needed to prevent the "discreditable exhibitions of jealousy between the two branches of the service during the war, and the disorganization afterwards" which resulted in United States soldiers being sent home in crowded ships, without proper supplies, medicines or attendance.
