Demand For Steel Remains Strong

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some order adjustments will result from a settlement in steel labor negotiations, but it won't cause a market collapse, Steel says.

The weekly magazine says, this is certain for two reasons, "Users haven't gone overboard on inventory building. . . They are consuming steel at a near-record rate. About 6,700,000 tons per month. Automotive demand is second only to that of 1953 and requirements of other industries. . . have seldom been higher."

Demand for steel was well above average for the season despite a sharp drop in order entry attributable to the slowdown in inventory building.

"Customers are pushing as hard as ever for quick delivery—a clear indication that they have not overbuilt their inventories," Steel says.

Steel production appeared to be topping out around 85 per cent of normal last capacity. The magazine estimates production last week at 2,600,000 tons and says the output this week will be about the same level.

The magazine's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap tumbled $2 last week to $25 a gross ton, the lowest since the week ended Dec. 3.

JFK SOUVENIRS SNAPPED UP

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Souvenir hunters descended upon the Hollywood Palladium Tuesday for President Kennedy's breakfast with Democratic women Saturday and cleared out the breakfast table—taking even the president's untouched slacks of orange juice.

One man, Ronald Lamont of Inglewood, Calif., leaned forward to seize the chair which Kennedy had occupied and wouldn't let go until the manager agreed to sell it to him. The price: $30.

The Palladium, however, was only one of the items which vanished—candelabra, the candles, the 1 1/2 p.m. silverware and 52 dozen red and white carnations used for decoration.

"I know Mr. Gordon as I do an intimate friend of mine and I am confident it will contain some imaginative proposals to stimulate business activity."

Mr. Drury's main theme was the new ministry of industry which he said: which industry has long asked for, and which legislation was introduced later in the week.

He said the department would do what it could to ensure the rapid and continued expansion of Canadian manufacturing, adding that Canada must become a much more efficient producer of secondary manufactured goods.

The manufacturers' annual meeting Monday and Tuesday was perhaps the feature event of a week of considerable discussion and announcements.

Observers saw two main trends in the manufacturers' discussions—a more co-operative management-labor atmosphere; and a positive will to seek world trade opportunities.

On the labor front, it was the first time the annual meeting has ever had an iron promoter as labor leader. Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Jodoin said that he favored a better relationship between management and labor and he believed that progress now is being made. He emphasized that labor will remain militant, a note which he said was not in the hands of management.

Carl A. Pollock, the association's president for the last year, said there is much more harmony than disharmony in Canada's labor relations.

He said that the industry and labor have a positive will to seek world trade opportunities.

Business Looks For Boost In Federal Budget Speech

the June bulletin of the Canadian Association of Purchasing Agents says:

"My survey of manufacturing and processing companies indicates activity to have been at a high level—considerably better than in April. Production and new orders gained strength and employment improved while inventories of raw materials and finished goods remained unchanged. Prices were reported considerably higher. Products showing price increases included paper products, sugar, milk powder, rope, flaxseed and nutmeg; and there were no significant mentions of decreases. Scarcities were reported, as in April, in steel plate, cold rolled steel, and some sizes of birch and basswood lumber."

At May 1 the bureau of statistics reported that the index of manufacturing production was unchanged from April 1 at 123.3.

BUSINESS STRENGTHENS — In the United States the June monthly letter of the First National City Bank of New York says: "Business activity has continued to push ahead on a broad front in recent weeks. Strengthened new order flows and accumulated backlogs of unfilled orders have improved confidence that activity will be sustained."

Nova Scotia, which expected to get new non-manufacturing plant, apparently is getting two. Recently Reynolds Aluminum interests announced it would build an aluminum plant in the Halifax area. Last week Continental Can Company of Canada said it will build one in the Annapolis Valley.

Aluminum Company of Canada is increasing aluminum smelter operations by 300 tons a month to 50,000, or 80 per cent of capacity. The increase will be divided between Isle Maline, Que., and Kitimat, B.C.

Walter Leja who was severely injured May 17 when a terrorist bomb blew up in his face, is assured of a high school and university education. The suburban Westmount city council announced it will assume the responsibility for the youth's education as "the most fitting tribute the city could offer to strengthened new order flows Sgt.-Maj.
