Eskimo Is Named To Council Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of the first Eskimo to the Northwest Territories Council has been announced by Prime Minister Pearson.

He is Abraham Okpik, 36, of Yellowknife who worked as a laborer and a labor foreman before joining the staff of the northern affairs department in 1959.

In addition to being its first Eskimo member, Mr. Okpik also is the first resident of the Territories to be appointed to the council since 1946.

The council, governing body of the vast northern region, has nine members of whom five are appointed and four are elected by voters in the Mackenzie district of the Northwest Territories.

All other persons appointed to the council before and since 1946 have been from the southern provinces.

Mr. Okpik now is based at Yellowknife helping Eskimo miners and their families from Rankin Inlet to adjust to life in an urban environment.

Greater Growth Is Stressed As Prime Aim For Canadians

MONTREAL (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon said here greater growth in the domestic economy and in exports, and less dependence on foreign capital, must continue to be the country's main objectives in the future.

He said in a speech to the Canadian Club of Montreal that two cardinal points in achieving these objectives are better basic education and increased productivity. The latter depends on both management and workers.

Mr. Gordon, fulfilling an engagement with the non-political club which he undertook before the current Nov. 3 general election campaign started, also said inflationary pressures and the balance of payments problem must be watched.

As minister of finance, Mr. Gordon said he was trying to be as non-political and non-partisan as he should be in addressing the Canadian Club, though it was difficult for him as chairman of the Liberal party's national campaign committee.

And in speaking of the country's advances on most economic sectors, he chose to compare the past three years of Liberal government with the previous years of Conservative administration.

LABOR FORCE GROWING
In looking ahead, he said, the most important factor is the rapid increase expected in the labor force, as more young men and women—the product of the post-war baby boom—seek jobs and establish new families. Canada has a labor potential for economic growth greater than the U.S. or the European countries.

In order to take advantage of this, young people must have a better basic education and must be better prepared for new technology, he said.

And while better education can help, management must be alert to new opportunities in order to employ labor to its best advantage.

industries that can be replaced by other better ones." Most of the responsibility for increased productivity must inevitably fall on those in industry—management and workers, he said.

The text of Mr. Gordon's speech was given to reporters in advance of delivery.
