The Old Maid's Complaint.

Ye Lords of creation! adorable men,
From your loftiness deign to look down
Upon us, who have woo'd you again and again,
When will you have pity, say gentlemen, when
On the wretched old maids of this town.

And are we, neglected, to languish in scorn,
Until every beauty—shall fade,
'Till toothless from age we are rendered forlorn,
And thus of all hope of provision are shorn—
Heaven help the poor luckless old maid.

Suppose we lack charms of an external kind,
We mentally have them within,
And if riches are wanting, you'll plenteous find
Mines of wealth in the staid antiquated one's mind,—
That ought, we think, surely to win.

And shall every little pert slip of a girl,
That flirts in a butterfly dress,
Be allowed at old maids her proud features to curl!
May Love at the hussy a thunderbolt hurl,
Oh! this is heart-rending distress.

We're oldish you know, but whose fault is that?
Ye monsters, ye know it full well,
Thus you have been solely the parties remiss,
And have cruelly kept us from conjugal bliss,
'Tis truth—sacred truth—that we tell.

'Tis said we are snarlish and ready with sneers
No wonder from all that is past;
We've smirked, danced and capered for many long years,
And toiled to get husbands, and now it appears
Must die in cat's castle at last.

Once more we entreat you, adorable men,
To look graciously down on our case,
Upon us who have woo'd you again and again,
And when will you pity, say gentlemen when,
Th' ill-fated old maids of this place.

If in Charlottetown in future we're not treated right,
To the bliss of Springfield we'll away,
Where of old maids you never get as much as a sight,
And a girl over twenty's esteemed quite a fright,—
Why, its too utterly utter, we say.

The Wife's Lament.

Who took me from my childhood's home,
And said he'd love me all alone,
And for my sacrifice atone?
My husband.

Who grumbled at the poor beefsteak,
And bade me better coffee make,
And told me greater care to take?
My husband.

Who swore because the baby cried,
And to the spare room quickly hied—
While I to quiet vainly tried?
My husband.

Who tears the buttons off his shirt,
And said I could those ills avert
If I was more on the alert?
My husband.

Who bade me rise the fire to make,
While he another nap should take,
Although I'd been all night awake?
My husband.

Who, when I asked for half a crown,
Knits up his brows into a frown,
And asks me "Where's the other gone?"
My husband.

And when I see my mother dear,
Who tries my lonely lot to cheer—
Who says she's dreadful, dreadful queer?
My husband.

Who stays away till late at night,
And then comes home so very tight,
That nearly I expire with fright!
My husband.

Who breaks the china, slams the door,
Leaves all his clothes upon the floor,
And swears its all a dreadful bore?
My husband.

And who do I, for his dear sake,
Of every sacrifice partake,
Lest I his confidence should shake?
My husband.

The Great French Remedy, Dr. LeDuc's Periodical Pills.

For the cure of Leucorrhœa or White's Excessive or painful Menstruation, Green Sickness, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagina, Hysteria, Pain in the Back, or Piles, or for the purpose of invigorating and giving tone to the Generative Organs, two pills should be taken twice daily, or in very enfebled conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cures in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected.
