STARTING A BALKY HORSE.

The Hayseed Put His Finger in the Animal's Ear With Immediate Effect.

A colored man had just delivered a trunk from a one horse wagon. When he came out of the house and climbed to his seat he bade the horse shake himself. The animal apparently did not understand what was said, for his only movement was to place his feet more firmly on the pavement and give his tail a slight tremor. The driver repeated the command, at the same time adding emphasis to his words by a quick stroke of the whip. It was to no purpose, the horse had balked. The blows fell thick and fast on the beast's back, but the horse had apparently come to stay. The man climbed down from his seat and began work on the other end of the obstinate creature by pulling at the bridle and speaking heavily loaded sentences into the auricular receptacles of the horse. The only effect noticed was that the horse pressed its feet so closely to the cobble stones that it almost crushed its shoes. Many were the modes of moving his horseship advanced by the bystanders. At last some one suggested that a fire built on the pavement beneath the animal would be calculated to make him move. It was to be tried as a last resort. A bunch of shavings and some small sticks were placed under the horse, and the driver was just going to apply a match to the pile that was intended to melt the animal into action when a stranger who had been noticed joining the crowd a few minutes before stepped up. The newcomer's browned face and hands, stout boots and broad hat suggested that he had come from the rural districts.

"Hold on there," he said to the driver as he stepped out into the street, "that ain't the way. You climb back into yer wagin an' I'll start the creatcher." The negro did so. "I ken start 'im," said the man as he stepped to the horse's head and began patting him on the neck. Then, without further words, he thrust his finger in the animal's ear and pulled gently. The horse shook its head once or twice in a vain attempt to get away and then started to move off. As it trotted away around the corner the farmer was heard to exclaim: "Begosh, that moves 'em every time."

Ages of European Rulers.

The Almanach de Gotha for 1894 has buried in its numerous finely printed pages some interesting facts as to the ages of European sovereigns. The oldest of all is the Pope, who is in his 84th year. Next comes the Grand Duke of little Luxemburg, who is 76. The King of Denmark and the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar are 75; Queen Victoria and the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, 74. There are six other sovereigns who are older than 70; eleven who are between 60 and 70, and five who are between 50 and 60. Eleven are between 40 and 50, two between 30 and 40, and two more between 20 and 30. The youngest three sovereigns are King Alexander of Servia, 17; Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, 13, and King Alfonso XIII. of Spain, 7½. Queen Victoria has had the longest reign—fifty-six and one half years. Emperor Franz Josef has reigned forty-five years; the Grand Duke of Baden forty-one years; the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, and of Saxe-Altenburg, forty years each. Fourteen of the sovereigns of Europe have reigned fewer than ten years. During 1893 three new sovereigns ascended the throne. They are Prince George of Schaumburg-Lippe, Prince Frederick of Waldeck and Duke Alfred of Coburg, better known as the Duke of Edinburgh.

Destruction of Birds.

The many friends of the birds, who have so often and so energetically protested against their use for the adornment of women's hats, will be interested in the fate of the mohe, one of the most beautiful of the feathered inhabitants of the Sandwich Islands. These birds are now extinct, and Professor Newton, of Cambridge, England, estimates that not above half-a-dozen stuffed specimens of the species exist in the world.

They were clothed with magnificent yellow feathers; and for the sake of these which were employed in making robes for the native chiefs of the islands, the birds were relentlessly slaughtered. When the supply became exhausted recourse was had to another yellow feathered bird of the islands, much inferior in beauty, however, and the name O-o, formerly borne by the mohe, was transferred to this new victim of savage vanity.

It can hardly be a comforting reflection for those who aid or encourage the slaughter of birds for the adornment of human head-gear, that they are simply imitating a thoughtless custom of the uncivilized natives of a Pacific Island.

Lime Water.

The uses of so homely an article as lime about the household are almost innumerable. One sees the hodman on a new building keep his drinking water in a pail coated with lime, and one thinks it is a poor receptacle for the universal beverage. Yet it would not be so good or so pure served in a silver ice pitcher. A tablespoonful of lime water in a glass of milk is a remedy for summer complaint. It corrects acidity of the stomach. It prevents the turning of milk or cream, and a cup ful added to bread sponge will keep it from souring. Allowed to evaporate from a vessel on the stove, it will alleviate the distresses due to lung fever croup or diphtheria. It will sweeten and purify bottles, jugs, etc.

Lime itself, as every one knows, is invaluable as a purifier and disinfectant. Sprinkled in cellars, or closets, where there is a slight dampness, it will not only serve as a purifier, but will prevent the invasion of noxious animals. It is one of the notable instances of the economy and the bounty of Nature that this article so common and cheap is serviceable in so many instances.

His Desperate Resolve.

"You—you will not do anything rash, Mr. Havalong, will you?" exclaimed the young woman, in a trembling voice.

The rejected lover, pale but resolute, rose slowly to his feet.

"Henrietta Plunkett!" he answered, through his set teeth, "I will! Just as surely as you stand there, proud, heartless beauty that you are, I shall be in the South Sea islands six months from now, the happy husband of fourteen wives!"—Chicago Tribune.

AFTER TYPHOID FEVER.

Harvey Neff has Kidney Diserse, which Doctors could not cure—Dodd's Kidney Pills Restored him to Perfect Health.

Port Colborne, April 9—In March, 1893, Harvey H. Neff of this place had a bad attack of typhoid fever. Good nursing and medical attendance brought him round but the attack left him a victim of kidney disease. This the doctors failed to cure, but Dodd's Kidney Pills, the infallable remedy, did the same good work in this case as in all others and Mr. Neff is well to-day. Dodd's was the first kidney remedy in pill form ever offered the public. Its wonderful curing in all forms of kidney disease has led to the introduction of numerous cheap and worthless imitations. Purchasers, for their own safety, should insist in getting Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sold in large boxes: price fifty cents or six boxes for $2.50. To be had of all dealers.

The most palatable preparation of Cod Liver Oil in the world is Miller's Emulsion and is now being taken by invalids with astonishing success. Miller's is "the kind that cures" coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Every bottle warranted. No oily taste like others. In big bottles, 50c. and $1,00, at druggists.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider their duty in the interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

THE OLD FARM.

This dear old farm! Its every rod
Is fraught with memories sweet to me!
Each spot recalls some bygone hour
Of joyous childhood, gay and free!

Here nature seems to speak herself,
In hill and stream and sunny field;
In them I find companionship
The crowded city cannot yield.

What are its shallow joys to me,
Its pomp, its show, its sordid wealth,
Given in exchange for heaven's pure air,
For boundless freedom and rugged health.

Let him who loves the sickly shade
Behind the counter scrape and bow;
To me it seems a better thing
To feel the sunlight on my brow.

And to the one who falsely scorns
The manly farmer's honest toil,
Degrading deems the work that gains
A living from the generous soil—

I'll point him to some famous names,
Our country's pride and glory now,
Of men whose youth did not disdain
To wield the axe or drive the plow.

But let the farmer know his worth,
Lofty and bold his mien should be,
His will full strong, and clear his mind,
His duty and opinion free.

Thus careful thought and industry,
Work wonders with the fertile sod;
His labors high approval win
From man, from conscience and from God.
