Bonnie G. Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Steele (nee Helen Heustis, RN, Summerside), received her nursing diploma recently, placing second in the largest graduating class in the 50 year history of Joseph Lawrence School of Nursing in New London, Connecticut. Miss Steele was named first alternate for the Marjorie Morgan Winship Scholarship and plans to continue her studies towards a degree in nursing.

Bonnie was also chosen, because of her fine voice, to sing two selections for this audience of over 600 people who attended the graduation exercises.

Friday was gift-wrapping day at the CNIB Centre, when members of the Auxiliary met to plan for a December Christmas party, when the sightless folk of Charlottetown and vicinity will be received by Mrs. W.J.P. MacMillan, (charter member), Mrs. Allan J. MacDonald (past president) and Mrs. Lillian Shirley (president of the auxiliary). A special thank you was voted to the buying committee: Mrs. Frank McPhee, Mrs. Emma Bruce, Mrs. Jennie Lewis, Mrs. Ignatius Murphy and Miss Lorna Weeks.

Mr. Steele, who left this province 43 years ago to take a position with the Western Union Telegraph Company in New London, will be remembered by many friends here. He is a brother of Ray, Fred and Al Steele of Charlottetown.

Riverside Hospital patients enjoyed an evening of dancing, games and cards in the auditorium recently, sponsored by the Canadian Mental Health Association. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Montague Royal Canadian Legion provided and served refreshments.

Mrs. Amy Leard, Bedeque, to spend some time with Mr and Mrs. Fred Moyse, Streetsville, Ont.

Mrs. Percy Affleck, Bedeque, is visiting in Watertown, Mass., the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hugh Spence.

Mr. Thomas Campbell and son of Dalhousie N.B., visited the past weekend with Mr. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Campbell, 11 Prince Charles Drive, Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cowley, Sherwood, returned from Montreal recently where they attended the Massey-Ferguson convention. Others attending this convention were Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKenzie, Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Young, Baltic, and E. D. Reid from Charlottetown.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy, Melton Drive, have returned from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends in Mass.

Mrs. Edward Swallow has returned home following heart surgery at Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, N.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Warren, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald, have returned from a motor trip to Dartmouth and Halifax, where they visited brothers of Mr. Warren and Mrs. MacDonald.

Harry N. Currie arrived Monday from New York to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. Agnes L. Crockett, 203 Euston Street.

A meeting of the publicity committee of the Dominion Drama Festival was held at the home of Mrs. R.F. Large, Fitzroy Street, Tuesday night.

Mrs. M.F. Rodd attended and outlined plans for a panel of speakers on DDF affairs to acquaint the public with the background of the organization.

Mrs. W.J. Hancox brought suggestions from the ticket committee, and a new committee member, Mrs. W.A. Farrell, was welcomed.

The huge success of the festival vouches for Christmas gifts and bridge prizes was noted and the number of tickets already sold testify to the wide interest in the festival, and indicates that sell-out houses will be achieved well before curtain time.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Gilt picture frames will return to their original luster if rubbed with a sponge moistened in turpentine.

Place a damp cloth under your mixing bowl to keep it steady on a slippery work counter.

Holes in plaster can be repaired without redecorating the room by adding food coloring to the patching plaster and mixing the colors to match the wall as nearly as possible.

To paint flowerpots neatly, place them upside down over a large tin can and rotate the can as you paint, leaving it until thoroughly dry.

A waffle design on cookies that appeals to the children is easy to achieve by pressing the rolled-out cooky dough with a potato masher

Springfield WI Stages Christmas Tree Contest

A lighted Christmas tree created a festive setting for the December meeting of the Springfield WI which was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Crawford Sinclair, Saturday evening, December 7.

The meeting, conducted by the president, opened with the members singing Christmas carols and the Christmas theme was carried throughout. A total of 11 members answered roll call, each reading a small item about Christmas in another country, and also giving 50 cents to CARE and a wrapped Christmas gift to the Red Cross.

The following are a few of the reports given: Mrs. Regin Laid Haslam received an order from Alberta for 18 Lucy Maude Montgomery booklets; Mrs. Keith Mayne reported Premium blankets sold for $15.00. Mrs. George Dunning visited the school, and a special "shutin"; good progress was reported on the sampler for the Tweedsmuir contest; the president gave a comprehensive report on the leadership course held in Kensington, with suggestions for future programs.

Mrs. Robert Howard and Mrs. Eric Sinclair volunteered to purchase Christmas treat for the children of the district.

The program convener, Mrs. Reginald Haslam, conducted a "Decorating the Christmas Tree" contest with the prize for the nicest home - made decoration going to Mrs. Gerald Loo. The decorated tree is to be presented to a special "shut-in."

An interesting part of the program was a display of "The Nativity in Art." Some of the paintings were by the "old masters", others of a more modern era. A short, descriptive sketch on each completed an enjoyable evening. Lunch was served by hostess and committee.

EBENEZER WI

The Dec. meeting of the Ebenezer WI was held at Mrs. Emerson MacLeod's when roll call was answered by 10 members and two visitors.

Children of the district are to receive treats at Christmas. Mrs. Emerson MacLeod and Mrs. Alex Ford are in charge of this project.

It was decided to have a card party in the school each Wednesday night, with prizes and lunch.

New committees are: sick, Mrs. John MacDonald, Mrs. Ken MacRae; school, Mrs. Robert Simpson and Mrs. Malcolm Munn; Kin Kan, Mrs. Dan MacLeod and Mrs. Greg Doiron.

A surprise package was won by Mrs. Ken MacRae.

Meeting closed by members repeating the Lord's Prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge.

SUMMERFIELD CWL

The December meeting of the Summerfield Council of the Catholic Women's League was held at the home of Mrs. Gerard Allen with a large attendance.

The meeting began with the league prayer by the director, Rev. Basil Croken. The meeting was chaired by the president, Mrs. John L. Murphy.

Correspondence included a letter from Dr. F. A. MacMillan, president of the Tuberculosis League. Members agreed to send $5.00 for a TB bond. It was decided that a mass be said for the living and one for the deceased members of the league.

Several of the members had card parties in their homes and passed in a substantial sum to the treasurer, Mrs. Louis O'Connor.

The president gave a splendid report on the meeting of the Catholic Welfare agency held in Summerside.

The meeting adjourned with prayer. A social hour and lunch followed.

WELLINGTON CWL

The December meeting of the Wellington Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Parish Hall Dec. 8 with an attendance of 13 members. The meeting opened with prayer by the spiritual director, Rev. Leonard MacDonald.

Correspondence consisted of a letter regarding a chocolate drive and one re T.B. seals.

Conveners reports were as follows: spiritual, that a mass was offered for a deceased member. In her report, the social welfare convener, Mrs. Linus McKinnon, reported she attended the annual meeting of the P C Welfare Agency, where those in attendance were reminded, by the president, that the agency feels that some of the rural parishes could do more receptive to the cause of the agency, considering that much of the work is carried on in the rural areas. She also reported two quilts were made during the month for the priory.

The president reported that this group's allotment of chocolates were sold by the members. Christmas cleaning and decorating of the church were planned. A box of groceries is to be packed for Sisters of Precious Blood for Christmas, as are also boxes for needy families. Plans were made to supply refreshments at the New Year's married people's dance being held in the hall by laymen.

In addressing the meeting Father MacDonald expressed his wish that more of the parish would come to benediction, and a discussion followed with many members favoring congregational singing of benediction, giving the boys a better chance to help with choir.

The meeting adjourned with prayer and members received blessing from Father MacDonald.

A social hour followed with the serving of lunch. Films, taken by Rev. Urban Gillis, Graymoor, N.Y. were shown by his sister, Mrs. Russell Barry.

CENTRAL LOT 15 WI

Mrs. Frank MacLaurin was hostess for the annual meeting of the Central, Lot 16 Women's Institute.

The meeting opened with the repeating of the Mary Stewart Collect and 15 members answered the roll by paying their membership fees.

Mrs. Roland Best gave her report for the sick committee and $5.00 was voted to carry on this work.

It was decided to make three quilts, one for each of the fire victim families in this community. Mrs. T. C. Hutchinson and Mrs. C. A. McFadden offered their homes for quilting 'bees'.

The school committee reported that Santa needed a new suit and the members were asked to bring a donation of 50 cents each to the next meeting.

The new officers for the coming year are: president, Mrs. Frank MacLaurin; vice-president, Mrs. Kenneth MacLean; secretary, Mrs. R.W. Betton; treasurer, Mrs. Larry Yeo; school, Mrs. Wilfred Lyle; sick, Mrs. Roland Best.

The program, conducted by Mrs. Wilfred Lyle, was in keeping with Remembrance Day and two minutes silence was observed followed by "They shall grow not old".

Mrs. A. K. MacGregor read an article on Canada's poem "In Flanders Fields" and members closed the meeting by singing "O God our help in Ages past."

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. P. Miller when the men will be invited for a social evening.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Leigh Clark, Mrs. Larry Yeo and

BALTIC WI

The December meeting of Baltic WI was held at the home of Mrs. James Beairsto, when roll call was answered by seven members.

The drawing for the quilt on lottery will be held December 18 at the Baltic School Concert, Mrs. David Cousins and Mr. Edgar Mathews were appointed in charge of tickets and drawing.

It was decided to receive material from the Red Cross for knitting and sewing during the winter months.

A centennial project was selected and will be completed by June 15th, and has been entered in the WI Competition.

Members decided to assist the Blood Donor Clinic in Kensington by providing food and helpers.

Mrs. Edgar Mathews was appointed to purchase apples to treat the school children at Christmas, also three aged people will be remembered with Christmas parcels.

It was agreed that $25.00 be donated to the Kensington Prince County Hospital Ladies Aid to assist them in purchasing a stretcher for the P.C.H. hospital.

A layette for USC was completed and will be delivered to the Dominion Building, Charlottetown.

The secretary presented WI membership pins to Mrs. Wm. Burns and Mrs. James Beairsto as a remembrance for their services on the executive of the Baltic WI for 1962.

Roll Call for next meeting will be answered by a "New Year's Resolution concerning the Institute".

Two Holiday Bags were donated and one member paid her membership fee.

The president extended a vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Beairsto, for her hospitality, noting the charming way she had prepared her home which added to the spirit of this Christmas meeting when gifts were exchanged. Meeting closed by the singing of "the Queen", followed by lunch served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wm. Cousins.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Red Cherries Brighten Holiday Sugar Cookies

"He expects a visitor — he washes his face" we remarked this morning looking up from the dough we were mixing to see the autumn - born black kitten make such preparations by the hearth. Over one ear, the little paw went, then over the other. Tiny jaws flexed. A wee tongue rested.

"But how does he know there is somebody coming?" Peter questioned.

"It must be that Tabby has whispered it in a secret to him. Perhaps she had a feeling" we said.

"But how does he know how to wash his face?" he wondered. "Oh, I guess" he smiled, answering his own question, "cats just know."

Cookies, we mixed. Christmas cookies in an out-of-the-head recipe, which after all is the basic one for sugar cookies. Much the same it came to mind, as that which mother - to - be was wont to follow toward the Festive season in our home by the Strait, in the now long ago.. Raisins and walnuts she added to hers, rolling the dough on the old wooden bakeboard, set on a table in the pantry, which when installed there had been made lower than the standard height, for she was a shortish woman, this mother we always remember. So deft was her touch at the baking, and quick her movements...and tasteful as prettily browned the cookies that came from her oven.

We added too by way of a Christmassy touch of color, slivers of red cherries, then fashioning the dough into bars, put them in the refrigerator to firm. Tomorrow we shall slice and bake them, and arrive at pretty much the same cookie as those she used to bake. And the picture of the young days returned to us as we mixed ours — the one so happy, hands, mind, busy at the preparations for her household's Christmas.

"She wants to go home" one said of a dear one not long ago, an ill and elderly lady then hospitalized. "And I can understand that, can't you? No matter how old one is, or near or far from it, there do come those times when we much want to go home. Nowhere else will suffice."

Home — that best place of all. There folks will gather for Christmas: youngsters, maybe students, come in from their world of books. Or those from the earning ranks. Young married with children, older sons and daughters ... home again, to feel once more the security of the familiar walls, the affection and happiness there.

"Do you know this recipe for happiness, Ellen?" one wrote us the other day.

" ' Take equal parts of faith and courage, mix well with a sense of humor, sprinkle with a few tears, and add a helping of kindness for others. Bake in a good - natured oven, and dust with laughter. Scrape away any self-indulgence, and serve in generous helpings."

Faith, courage, laughter, kindness, these surely have contributed to the happiness of the old year's days. These we should take with us through the white portals of the new.

A winter - like day this was, one on which the little summer wheel barrow was replaced by a sled, at the bring - in - the - wood time.

The blowing - out - the light time it is now. Sweet be Island folks' rest!

Until tomorrow — Diary — Good - night.....

MARY HAWORTH

Separated From Spouse Wife Remains Possessive

Dear Mary Haworth: This is a tale of two women, one divorced, the other separated from her husband (with too little justification, in my opinion).

I am a sort of mutual friend, caught in the middle of a recent unpleasantness, with both women more or less confiding in me.

Helen, the divorcee, cast her nets for John, it seems; and John is Sally's separated husband. Sally resents this, thinks Helen is devious and wants a confrontation between the three in the presence of her pastor.

Helen claims it was John who tried to date her, and she angrily refuses to consider a "confrontation." John says, in effect, that Helen has been imagining things, that he's not interested in her, doesn't know what her trouble is, and can't be bothered, period.

To go back a bit, Helen and Sally drifted together after their marriages broke up. They hadn't known one another before.

Indirectly, Helen learned a lot about John's habits and circumstances from Sally, with whom he continues to be friendly. And Sally feels Helen used this information (purposely acquired), to put herself in his path and make a play for him.

At the latest count, Helen is reported saying that Sally needs psychiatric help to "get straightened out," and that she has a dirty mind."

Frankly I discount Helen's babbling altogether; and I rather think she has a screw loose.

Helen is gainfully employed, and conscientious and efficient in her work; yet she strikes me as a bundle of confusion. I've advised Sally to ignore the whole furore and steer clear of Helen. What is your evaluation of the situation? P.P.

Dear P.P.: In your lengthy letter, here synopsized, you mention that John and Sally have grown children and never have considered divorce, through separated. (Their church sanctions divorce only for infidelity or malicious desertion).

You say also that Sally has an emotional disposition (do you mean excitable?), is rather dictatorial in her personal alliances, and seems to be incompatible with John, who probably dislikes the tedium and big responsibilities of family life.

You infer that Sally was unhappy in their marriage and felt vaguely that it was "unsatisfactory."

You give no marital background on Helen, the divorcee. But you do mention that she is in her early forties, tries to seem younger, has recently transformed herself into a striking blonde (having been a natural brownette) and possibly is vying unconsciously with her blonde beautiful popular daughter (who lives with affluent father).

All of which adds up to a sorry tangle of mixed - up lives, confirming the proverb that "Birds of a feather flock together."

Helen's and Sally's raging unpleasantness over John signifies the enemity of their old hunger, emotional poverty, need of companionship, etc., in the "freedom" they've elected via divorce and separation). Their flashing hostility bears tragic resemblance to starving dogs fighting for a bone.

Your advice to Sally (to drop the argument and also drop Helen) is good counsel, but insufficient. It fails short of the mark.

Sally's furiously possessive interest in John suggests that her only chance of real happiness consists in going back to him, if he will have her, to devote the balance of her life to working hope fully for a mutually satisfactory relationship with him. M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Guardian.

Danish Sauce Adds Tang To Mixture Of Vegetables

The real purpose of Christmas is neither giving nor receiving. It should be a time of joy and goodwill, unhampered by fatigue from frantic rush and over-exertion.

When you begin to feel irritable, rushed, or tired, stop what you are doing as soon as possible for five or ten minutes. Drink a glass of cool water or orange juice, put up your feet, close your eyes and go limp all over—no reading, TV viewing, radio-listening for this period. Instead, let go and empty your mind!

Then think through and list the immediate things you have to do. With confusion erased, all will seem easy!

Measurements level; recipes for 6

DROPPED COOKIES

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2-3 cup enriched cornmeal
¼ tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening, room-soft
1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ tsp. vanilla
2-3 cup raisins
2 tbsp. cinnamon-sugar

Sift together flour, cornmeal, soda, baking powder and salt.

Beat shortening with sugars and egg until light and fluffy. Add flour mixture alternately with sour cream, mixing thoroughly. Stir in vanilla and raisins.

Drop by half-tablespoonfuls, 2" apart on oiled cooky sheet. Dust with cinnamon- sugar. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3 doz.

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Cooked Celery-Avocado Appetizer
Tuna Loaf
Vegetables Danish
Spiced Canned Pears with
Midwest Raisin Dropped Cookies
Coffee, Tea, Milk.

TUNA LOAF

2 (7 oz.) cans tuna
2 tbsp. farina
½ cup milk
1 large egg, beaten
1 tsp. scraped onion or ½ tsp instant onion
1 tbsp. parsley flakes
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. powdered dill
Chop tuna fine. (If flaked canned tuna is purchased, no need to chop.)

Stir farina into milk; cook-stir until boiling and thick. Add to tuna. Beat in remaining ingredients.

Transfer to oiled (5" x 9") loaf pan; set in a pan; pour in 1" water. Bake 35 minutes or until brown and firm to the touch, in a moderate over, 350-375 degrees. Let stand 5 minutes.

Loosen edges; unmold on a heated platter. Serve surrounded by mixed canned, cooked fresh or frozen vegetables in Danish sauce.

MIXED VEGETABLES DANISH

Add 2½ cups canned or cooked fresh or frozen mixed vegetables to the following sauce:

DANISH SAUCE: Into 1½ cups medium-thick white sauce, stir 1 tsp. lemon juice and 2 tbsp. mayonnaise. Reheat; do not boil.

THE CHEF'S COOKED—CELERY AVOCADO SALAD

Drain 1½ cups boiled diced celery. Add 1-3 cup French dressing and 1 tbsp. dairy sour cream. Chill.

Remove peel and seeds from 3 small avocados. Fill with celery salad. Dust with paprika. Chill ½ hr. and serve.

BUY U.S. WHEAT

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary disclosed Tuesday it will buy 360,000 metric tons of wheat from the United States to make up for domestic grain and bread shortages. Deputy Agriculture Minister Janos Mutato told the Communist party newspaper Nepszabadsag the U.S. purchase will be part of 800,000 tons of wheat deliveries from the West. The rest will come from West European countries.

See one of the Island's largest selections of Christmas poultry including Turkey, Geese, Ducks, and Capons.
