

ELLEN'S DIARY

Spicy Aroma Of Pickling Pervades Island Kitchens

So many things the September days offer folks to accept and enjoy. The tangles, the apples from an old tree of orchard, or maybe from wild-lings' boughs that in hedgerow, now plume hang heavily fruited now: notice to be a winter-treat of preserve: vegetables, beans saved in a mustard sauce, made after a recipe of great-grandmother's, cucumbers and tomatoes, and all that kin, that leave a spicy aroma in the kitchen the pickling, and put rows of jars in a satisfying company on a cellar's shelf.

We saw someone gather the orange clusters of berries the other day from a rowan tree. "But why?" Alex questioned. "To make a jelly, it's likely" she said, "a tangy one, to be used with certain meats."

"Or maybe" his sister recalled a memory, "he has a little girl who will make herself a pretty necklace—you know, thread them like beads on a string!"

We lifted recently from a flower-bed, and pulled up to be added brightness against any of the Fall's dull days, favorite chrysanthemums, saving them before the frosts catch up with them in this garden spot. Slips, we shall take too from the geraniums that have grown to over-size plants in the border. One woman is pleased with green thumb, saves for the indoor pleasure, a colorful snapdragon plant, or one blessed with green thumb, sometimes it is a pansy brought up her rooms with their blossoms through bare days of bloom to come.

The intangibles too we collect save to be "fruits of the spirit." You find them suddenly, and you pause and smile, and gratefully, the heart beats warm it.

MR. AND MRS. ARNOLD R. DRISCOLL

Mixed Camellias And Ferns Adorn St. James RC Church

A pretty wedding was held on August 17, 1963 at St. James Roman Catholic Church, Summerside, when Dianne Gall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mallett, Free town, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Arnold Reginald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brendon Driscoll, Summerside. The nuptial mass and ceremony were celebrated by the Rev. J. Basil Croken. The altar was beautifully decorated with baskets and vases of yellow and white carnations and ferns. The pews were marked with white satin bows and artificial lilies of the valley.

Appropriate hymns were sung by Mrs. Gertrude Cahill with the organ.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion Home in Summerside for approximately 100 guests. Miss Paula Morris circulated the guest book.

For her Maritime honeymoon, which included the Cabot Trail, the bride chose a two-piece chocolate brown suit with beige accessories, and a corsage of yellow feathered carnations. Out of province guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Eric Roberts, Montreal, P.Q.; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Mallett, Rumford, Maine; Mrs. Cyril Driscoll, Halifax, N.S.; Miss Louise Mallett, Rumford, Maine, and James Mallett, Rumford, Maine.

Exciting Art Project Has Opening Night

The P.E.I. Art Society opens a wonderful season of study and workshop beginning tonight at Prince of Wales College. Hundreds of yellow leaflets have been distributed by the Society describing their programme for the year ahead. Briefly it will be a study of the Main-streams of Western Art on the first Tuesdays of each month and a Studio Workshop on the third Tuesdays enabling members to practice the techniques discussed at the previous meeting.

A set of notes covering the art and periods not presented on the programme will be offered. With Islanders about to enjoy a beautiful new art gallery in the Memorial Building, a study of this nature is well timed and appreciated.

Here is your opportunity to take part in an exciting program to develop understanding and appreciation of works of art, to participate fully in the Studio Workshops (if desired), and your support to the Art Society members who hope to create a participating and appreciative audience for the Fine Arts.

Membership fees are very reasonable—$2.00 for a single member, $5.00 for a husband-wife team, and $1.00 for
