IN MEMORIAM

EDISON NELSON EASTER
The community of North Wiltshire was saddened by the passing of one of its highly esteemed residents, Edison N. Easter on Monday June 4.

The deceased, born February 22, 1879, was the youngest son of the late William and Elizabeth Dammarell Easter. He was the last surviving member of a family of eleven and the fourth generation to reside in the community. During his lifetime he was a successful farmer and remained active at many small chores until a few months before his death. In addition he always found time to participate in all phases of community activity.

He was a faithful member of North Wiltshire United Church and served as an elder and recording steward for many years. His great Christian faith enabled him to bear his final sufferings with cheerfulness and fortitude. He will be long remembered for his love of music and song, having served in the church choir most of his life. On many occasions the family gathered around the organ to sing the great hymns of the church. It is not surprising to find that a son, a daughter, and a granddaughter are members of the choir at the present time.

His life was saddened in 1933 by the death of his wife the former Sadie Mitchell. He leaves to mourn four sons and two daughters: Harold in Halifax, Sheldon, North Wiltshire, Alvina, Mrs. Neil Campbell, Dartington, Rita, Mrs. Leonard Ling, Wheatley River, Leith, on the homestead and Lorne in Brandon, Manitoba, also eleven grandchildren.

The funeral which was held from his late residence on June 7, was attended by a large number of people who came in tribute to a man whom they loved and respected. The service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. C. R.

Moore. Hymns sung were "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "Lead Kindly Light". A solo, "The City Four-square" was feelingly rendered by Murdoch MacLeod.

There were many beautiful floral tributes bearing their silent messages of love and respect for the departed and sympathy for the bereaved.

The pallbearers were: Leonard Bowman, Alexander Henderson, Robert Duncan, E. Howatt, Arthur Smith and Amos Malone. The flower bearers were: Ralph Noy, Nelson Hatherly, William Larter, William MacLeod, Reg Clark, Albert Bowman, Eustace Smith and LeRoy MacNeill.

Interment was in North Wiltshire Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

DANIEL MURPHY
When the night faded and the morning began June 20, 1957. God called and claimed for his own the life of Daniel Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Murphy, born 66 years ago in Freetown, born of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Murphy, Freetown. Although in failing health for the past year, he continued to take an interest in his family, his friends and in the church and community affairs. His firm christian guidance and kind fatherly ways are not easily forgotten by the members of his family.

He was tenderly nursed by his wife. Everything available was done but God willed otherwise and called him home where there is no more pain.

He was a farmer since boyhood, formerly with his father then settled on the Frizell homestead in Norboro, where he has lived till now. His beautiful memory will always remain.

He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, the former Lena Duffy, Kinkora; two sons, James, a geologist, Knobs Lake; and Martin on the homestead, William.

Also to remain are three sisters and three brothers, Lillian in the U.S.A.; Beatrice, Mrs. John Cash, Emerald; Pearl, Mrs. Geo. Hughes, Norboro; John, Freetown; Emmet, Freetown; and Ale, Charlottetown.

The funeral, largely attended by relatives, friends and neighbours, was held from his home June 23 to St. James Church, Summerfield, where Rev. John Cash, nephew of the deceased who also said the committal service at the grave. The large number of Masses, cards and messages of sympathy received testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pallbearers were all neighbours of the deceased: Andrew Jardine, Joseph Reeves, Sterling Andrews, Earl Murphy, Damien Duffy and James Lawless. May his soul rest in peace.

GREGORY MURPHY
Suffer the little children, And forbid them not to come to me, for the Kingdom of heaven is for such (Matt 19: 14).

On July 2, 1957, the Angel of death visited the residence of the late Stephen Murphy and Mrs. Murphy of Summerville, P.E.I., and in the ways of an all wise Providence took unto Himself their darling son Gregory Alexander at the early age of three years old, his brief illness and subsequent death came as a severe shock to his beloved family and a grief.

He was ever the amiable, sweet and loving child, who shone as a model for all who knew him, thus the sympathy of the entire community goes out to his sorrowing mother, little brothers and sisters namely Kenny, Reginald, Bridget Anne and Stephanie.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, July 3rd, his tender remains were conveyed to St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. Father Cash.

The pall bearers were four little cousins of the deceased: Michael Murphy, David Murphy, Duncan Carmichael, Patrick Curran. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Stephen Murphy and family wish to extend their sincere thanks to those who, by flowers, telegrams, messages of sympathy and other kindness, did so much to ease the shock of their recent sad bereavement. Special thanks goes to Father Gillis, Father Cash and Father Croken, also to Doctor McIntyre, Bob Bradley, Wilfred McKenna, Thomas Curran and Mrs. Martin Hynes.

Newcomers to Borden this past week are Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy and family who have occupied the house of Mr. Emmet MacDonald. Mr. Murphy is employed at the C.N.R. power house at Borden.

Mrs. Everett McKenna and daughter Nancy Ann, of Borden, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Griffin at Burton, Lot 7.

Mr. William Oron, who is fireman at the P.C. Hospital, Summerside, is spending a few weeks at his home in Borden.

Predict Middle East Will Remain Chief Source Of Oil

LONDON (Reuters) - European experts predict the Middle East will remain the world's main source of oil even though exploratory projects are proceeding in 90 countries.

At the same time, these experts admit they are still at the crossroads of evolving a future network for oil distribution. There are too many "imponderables," they say, to predict the future pattern of world oil movements.

At present, the world tanker building program is the biggest in history with 30,000,000 deadweight tons of oil tankers planned. This compares with the present world tanker fleet of 43,000,000 tons.

The new tanker investment totals $6,000,000,000. It is going ahead despite doubts about the long-term future of the Suez Canal, the pattern of future world demand, and the outlook for supplies from such areas as Venezuela and Canada as well as traditional supply areas.

In the meantime, experts of the major oil companies are thrashing out the economic and engineering problems of pipeline building in order to decide upon the best methods for moving oil.

One question that hangs over the study is the future of United States demand. The oil companies here foresee an increasing rate of U.S. consumption from foreign markets as their own demand increases and her production begins to lag. Both, say the experts, seem inevitable.

The future of Venezuelan supplies could affect the U.S. demands on the Middle East, however, as presents another imponderable in Eastern Hemisphere discussions.

Oil executives here say Venezuela stepped up her production in a "very remarkable and healthy way" when stimulated by the Suez closure.

The answer to Venezuela's potentialities is being left in the air until drillings in the newly-designated exploratory areas yield results.

BIG QUESTION

But experts throughout Britain and Europe are confident that there must be a vast increase in Middle East production in the future.

The future of the Suez Canal is a major imponderable. Dredging it still said to be necessary before the canal can cope with the same traffic that it did before its closure, when 75,000,000 tons of oil annually went through.

The waterway will have to be widened and deepened before the 60,000-ton super-tankers, many of which are building today, can negotiate it. The old Suez Canal Company had plans to improve the canal until it was capable of carrying 300,000,000 tons of oil annually.

It is estimated that 300 tankers in the current building program are in the super-tanker class. Oil experts say that with further development of the canal, it might be possible to get 60,000-ton tankers through partly loaded and "top them up" in the Mediterranean. This is one of the possibilities under consideration.

It could be linked with pipeline schemes. The "committee of seventeen" comprising representatives of the 17 leading oil producers in the world is studying engineering and financial problems associated with building a pipeline from the Persian Gulf area to the eastern Mediterranean. Another committee of oil producers is studying the "Sappes" plan, a proposed pipeline from Marselles to north European refineries.

Oil experts say it is always cheaper to move oil by ship than it is through a pipeline.

Creeping Inflation Worries Eisenhower Administration

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (CP) - The spectre of creeping inflation is giving the Eisenhower administration political nightmares.

President Eisenhower, whose government came to office pledged to curb inflation, twice in recent weeks has urged labor and industry alike to exercise statesmanlike action to keep prices down and preserve the stability of the American dollar, now rated by some U.S. economists at 49 cents in terms of 1935-39 purchasing power.

His pleas largely have fallen on deaf ears. Just one day after his first such appeal, steel prices jumped $6 a ton, with every likelihood that the rise will eventually be passed on to the consumer in the form of higher retail prices for products using the metal.

OMINOUS SIGNS
Three recent developments underscore the anxiety over inflationary pressures being felt in government circles:

1. A government report that the cost-of-living during May reached an all-time high—113.6—for the ninth straight month in a row and that purchasing power, falling steadily since December, still is dropping. No hope for a let-up was seen before August. The U.S. index is based on 1947-48 prices averaging 100.

2. A price increase of $6 a ton by the pattern-setting United States Steel Corporation, bringing steel to an average of $155 a ton. The increase put steel, which goes into almost everything from bobby pins to bridges $14.50 higher than it was a year ago. The U.S. Steel Company's price hike was followed by other producers.

3. Disclosure that the U.S. budget surplus for the fiscal year ended June 30 previously estimated at $1,700,000,000, barely reached $1,000,000,000.

The U.S. consumer price index, steady for the first three years of the Eisenhower administration, began its upward swirl 15 months ago. Since then, every month except August, 1956, has seen a rise.

VIOLENT CIRCLE

The May rise, attributed to higher food prices, contributed to inflationary pressures itself since it meant pay boosts of two to four cents an hour for nearly 1,000,000 workers in steel, meat-packing, aluminum, aircraft and container industries whose wage contracts contain escalator clauses tied to the cost of living.

The Eisenhower administration, which may face political problems in the 1958 congressional elections if the rise continues, obviously hopes that inflation will be braked down by its tight-money policy and continuing high taxation without recourse to direct controls on installment buying, prices and wages.
