MR. EARLE says the Emerson Comedy Company "take the bun." No doubt of it. They are the best yet. Every member was eulogized last evening, and applauded to the echo. Mr. Pelham is an imitable imitator. The Company will entertain the people of Charlottetown again this evening. Don't miss the opportunity.

MR. LAURENCE'S advertisement has been unavoidably crowded out to-day. He announces that Mr. Theo. Chappelle has been appointed Agent for the Sale of the celebrated spectacles of Mr. B. Laurence, Optician. Among those who have secured those magnificent glasses from Mr. Laurence and who appreciate their excellent qualities are His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, ex-Mayor Dawson, Owen Connolly, Esq., and David Siring, Esq. All who require spectacles to see and improve the eyesight should call and see Mr. Laurence before his departure.

THE Moncton Times reports that the plans for the proposed General Railway Offices building, as approved by the department, have been received from Ottawa, and that the building is to be much larger and more costly than was suggested by the plans forwarded by the officials here as noticed some time ago. It is to be 170 feet long, 56 feet wide and three stories high and of the very best description as to architectural design and otherwise. It is to be of brick and stone, with slate roof. It promises to be an ornament to the town and the expenditure of money in its construction and on the proposed Custom House during the coming summer cannot fail to be of considerable local advantage. Tenders for part of the work on the General Offices building will be invited, it is expected, in about ten days.

LAST Wednesday afternoon three gentlemen, well known in boating circles here, left Peake's No. 1 Wharf, in the yacht "Syndicate." At the time of their departure a good stiff breeze was blowing, which they thought would continue until their return. They, therefore did not take the necessary oars to propel their craft in the event of a calm. Now, for once their calculations were erroneous, as the sequel will show. After sailing up and down the harbor several times, enjoying the exhilarating breezes, the effect of which must be experienced to be appreciated, the noble trio thought it was about time to turn their little craft in the direction of home. But no sooner had they decided upon doing this than a calm set in, the sails flapped loosely against the masts, and the yacht refused to move. No friendly boat was to be seen. The fates appeared to be against them. They thought of writing a note, detailing the circumstances of their sad fate, corking it up in a bottle, and transmitting it to the tender mercies of the waters. But, alas! no bottle could be found, and this course had to be abandoned. A horrible fate stared them in the face. Visions of the life of Robinson Crusoe flitted rapidly before them. They feared a like fate was in store for them. Lots were drawn, and one of their number was appointed to watch for a friendly sail or breeze, while the others slept. Thus time passed on, alas, too slowly for our friends, who were longing for daylight in order to discover their position, and to ascertain how far they had drifted during the night. But the darkest night must have its morning, and this one was not an exception. Morning came at last, and with it a good stiff breeze, which filled the sails of the good ketch "Syndicate" with wind, and the hearts of the crew with gladness. With a fervent "thank God," the delighted yachtsmen turned their craft in the direction of home, which they reached in a short time. On landing on terra firma they vowed they would never, well, hardly ever, go sailing again—without oars.

A London paper says that Mr. Jay Gould will save some £1,500 a week by shutting up his town house and taking to the high seas, where his expenses will be about £100 a day. "As he is worth some twenty-millions, it is difficult to see why he could be so pleased at the notion of an economy so relatively small."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

SIR,—In glancing over the speech of Mr. L. H. Davies, reported in the last Pioneer, (which was heralded by a flourish of trumpets in a former number), I observe a witticism from the pen of the Rev. Sydney Smith, a well known politician and humorist of a former age, once applied to England, but which, from the context, Mr. D. appears to think was written about the year 1830 or 1840. I have not the means of reference at hand, but the learned gentleman appears to have stumbled over an old number of the Edinburgh Review, and to have applied what was written many years ago, when England was carrying on her Continental War and needed every penny she could raise by taxation, to the future of Prince Edward Island. I am, Mr. Editor, old enough to remember to have read Mr. Smith's very talented Philippic many years ago, indeed when I was a boy—I am afraid to say how long since. Mr. Smith was editor of the Edinburgh Review in 1802, and continued to write in it, as a contributor and friend of Lord Brougham and Mr. Jeffrey, a subsequent editor for some years. At the time Mr. Smith wrote there was some truth in his observations, which are of course written in the language of party, but most of the taxes he refers to were either taken off or modified after the peace, and we need not fear either the window tax or that on hair powder here in Prince Edward Island. I am, &c., SENEX. May 29, 1883.

THE Admiration OF THE WORLD. Mrs. S. A. Allen's Hair Restorer IS PERFECTION! Public Benefactress. Mrs. S. A. ALLEN has justly earned this title, and thousands are this day rejoicing over a first-hand of hair produced by her unequalled preparation for restoring, invigorating, and beautifying the Hair. Her World's Hair Restorer quickly cleanses the scalp, removing Dandruff, and arrests the fall; the hair, if gray, is changed to its natural color, giving it the same vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth.

COMPLIMENTARY. "My hair is now restored to its youthful color; I have not a gray hair left. I am satisfied that the preparation is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. My hair ceases to fall, which is certainly an advantage to me, who was in danger of becoming bald." This is the testimony of all who use Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. "One Bottle did it." That is the expression of many who have had their gray hair restored to its natural color, and their bald spot covered with hair, after using one bottle of Mrs. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER. It is not a dye.
