

Frick Seeks Stand On Loop Expansion

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) Commissioner Ford Frick has asked American and National League presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, respectively, to take a definite public stand on the subject of expansion.

Frick, cognizant of charges that the majors are trying to sabotage the proposed third major league, the Continental, said Monday he talked to both Cronin and Giles by telephone last week.

"This is no ultimatum, merely a suggestion," said Frick. "I told Joe and Warren I thought the time had come to take a definite stand. They promised they would. Expansion talk was expected to emanate from the major league meetings at Miami Beach next week, although the subject is not officially on the joint meeting agenda.

Cronin reiterated the American League is "seriously considering expansion by 191."

"I expect our three-man fact finding committee to make a report Monday," he said. "Any talk that we are merely creating a smokescreen to harass the Continental League is ridiculous."

"Our league voted to explore the possibility of expansion five years ago."

Giles said the National League's position is the same as before—no immediate plans for expansion.

National YPCs Dodge Issue Of Civil Service Salary Hike

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Young Progressive Conservatives, mindful of the federal government's rejection of a civil service pay increase proposal, declined to put themselves on record as favoring higher pay for government employees.

The young Conservatives at their convention here also side-tracked a resolution advocating recognition of Communist China and its admission to the United Nations.

But they voted approval of a resolution calling for outlawing of all trading stamp plans—a non-marketing device which came under royal criticism in the report of the royal commission on price spreads issued earlier Monday.

The question of civil service COMMISSION STUDY

The question of civil service salaries arose on a resolution proposing endorsement of the government's "announced intention" to set up a commission to study efficiency in government operations.

In fact, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has gone no farther than to say the matter is under active study.

But the issue centred on the tail end of the resolution, which said the inquiry "will ultimately result in a better paid and more efficient civil service."

That part of the resolution was deleted after William Whiteacre of Toronto said it "flies in the face of government policy." Earlier this fall Finance Minister Fleming rejected a pay-increase recommendation of the civil service commission on grounds it would increase the government's deficit.

"I would rather see a balanced budget next spring than see that part of the resolution adopted," Mr. Whiteacre said.

SOME CONCERN

Attendance at the convention gave rise to some expressions of concern.

About 200 young Conservatives were present to hear a kick-off speech by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, urging them to make known their views and resolutions—"however radical."

But the afternoon meeting dealing with resolutions was nearly one hour late starting, for lack of attendance. It began with two dozen present, and attendance didn't top 100 while resolutions were being debated.

Meanwhile, crowds of delegates paraded through corridors of the hotel where the convention was being held, shouting campaign cheers for the competing candidates for president.

Douglas Rice of Petitoctiac, N.B., said the convention seemed to have missed the point of Mr. Diefenbaker's speech.

"The prime minister asked us to pass along our suggestions, I think he was more interested in our resolutions than in who we are going to elect."

But the meeting hall was jammed soon after the elections.

FIRE LIBERALS

Another delegate, Albert Vincent of Saint John, N.B., came up with the proposal that the government "fire all the Liberals in the civil service." He said he would support the resolution only if that were done.

"We'd be a lot better off if we fired half the civil servants who are Liberals and let the rest do the work more efficiently," he said.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

In other resolutions adopted Monday, the Young Progressive Conservatives:

1. Proposed immediate enactment of recommendations of the McCreary royal commission on criminal sexual psychopaths which, the resolution said, would provide more stringent preventive and deterrent penalties for dangerous sexual offenders and ensure isolation and treatment of them.
2. Favored construction of a national theatre at Ottawa in time to mark Canada's centenary in 1967.
3. Decided to sponsor visits of high school students from each province to Ottawa to see Parliament in session.
4. Endorsed the government's policies in international affairs.
5. Asked for greater promotional efforts to open new markets for Canadian grain.

Aussies Cut Import Bans

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade department officials said Monday they are "highly pleased" that Australia will cut import restrictions on about $56,000,000 worth of dollar goods a year, effective today.

Goods mainly affected are materials for industry.

Opening lead—eight of hearts. I, for one, never did cotton to the idea held by the members of the club that Sylvia's triumphs were all inadvertent and entirely a matter of luck.

They say some people are born under a lucky star and whatever they do comes out all right even when they don't know what they're doing. I grant there are taxpayers whom a merciful providence seems to shield from disaster, and furthermore, I've met many a bridge player who appears to fall into this category.

But Sylvia, contended the membership, was out of this world when it came to these happenstances. They insisted that Sylvia didn't even know what time of the day it was when it came to playing bridge, and couldn't conceive that Sylvia ever consciously performed the feat recounted here from time to time.

In support of their contention, they would cite this example of Sylvia's sheer dumb luck. She got to five clubs on a reasonable enough sequence of bids. West led a heart and Sylvia won the ten with the ace.

She entered dummy with a spade and led a low club. East played low and Sylvia won with the king, catching West's queen.

The situation looked hopeless. East obviously had to make two trump tricks and there were still two diamond losers to be taken care of. True, she could discard one diamond on the king of hearts, but the other one would then constitute the setting trick.

But Sylvia, with indomitable spirit, carried on. She led the king and another spade, ruffing in dummy. Then she played a diamond to the ace, forgetting, in the excitement of the moment, to take a discard on the king of hearts. She was heard to gasp at this juncture, but it was too late to retract the play.

Now Sylvia led a trump. East cashed two trump tricks but then, having only hearts left, had to lead one into dummy's K-J thus permitting Sylvia to shed both losing diamonds and make the contract.

Would you call it luck?
