

NY Giants In Dramatic 8-7 Win Over Cardinals

(By The Canadian Press)
Bobby Thomson came through in the clutch again Monday, slugging a grand-slam home run in the ninth inning to give New York Giants a dramatic 8-7 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

Thomson, hitless in 17 previous times at bat, slugged a home run in the ninth inning to give New York Giants a dramatic 8-7 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

The National League victory enabled the Giants to draw to within three games of Brooklyn's tie pace-setting Dodgers, and they owed it all to Thomson, just as they did when he struck his homer to win the final 1951 playoff game against the Dodgers.

Eddie Yuzas, second Cardinal pitcher, walked Hank Thompson to start the ninth and pinch-hitter George Wilson lined to Red Schoendienst. Schoendienst threw wild attempting to double Thomson and the Giant center-fielder moved to second on the error.

Davey Williams followed with his third hit of the game and Thompson held up at third. Lefty Bill Werle relieved Yuzas at this point, but he walked Whitey Lockman to load the bases and was removed in favor of Schmidt, a fastballing right-hander. Thomson's belt brought a Williams, Alvin Dark and Wes Westrum also clouted home runs for the Giants.

Richie Ashburn's triply and a long fly by Granny Hamner broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning and enabled Philadelphia Phillies to nip Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4, despite homers by Ralph Kiner and George Strickland.

A fly by pinch-hitter Bill Nicholson had tied the game in a two-run sixth-inning rally that knocked Pirate starter Ronnie Kline from the mound.

Jim Konstanty, the third pitcher for the Phils, was credited with the victory, his third against one defeat. The loss was charged to Paul LaPalme, who relieved Kline. All other major league clubs were idle Monday.

Famous Royal Ascot Race Meet Opens Today

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
LONDON, June 16 — (CP) — Form and fashion mingle in a proud old pageant tomorrow at the opening of Royal Ascot, one of the world's most famous race meetings.

With an air almost of piety, as befits an occasion which has had the royal blessing since Queen Anne started attending Ascot races in 1711, the backers and bookies will assemble at the beautiful Berkshire course for a four-day meeting which has gradually assumed a special place in Britain's social calendar.

Through the years, Royal Ascot has become the battleground not only for some of Europe's fastest thoroughbreds but for a silent struggle between fashionable women in summer finery. Once there was talk of "democratizing" Ascot's ritz royal enclosure but the outcry from London's fashion houses quickly killed it.

The Queen, attending her first Ascot as sovereign, will drive in ceremony through the golden gates at the bottom of the course on each of the four days of racing. She continues a royal patronage inaugurated by Queen Anne and recently perpetuated by George IV, who is said when dying to have commanded latest results from the course.

As usual, Royal Ascot will be highlighted by the running of the Gold Cup, a 2½-mile race worth 10,000 sovereigns and added money, the Royal Hunt Cup over a middle distance and the Queen Alexandra Stakes, longest in the country at two miles, six furlongs and 75 yards.

The latter race was won six times in a row by the almost legendary Brown Jack. After his sixth victory, Brown Jack returned to the unsaddling enclosure with his tail perceptibly diminished through the efforts of souvenir hunters.

There will be special Canadian interest at Ascot this year. Two horses owned by sportsman-publisher Max Bell of Calgary — the sprinting Royal Serenade and the Derby failure Indian tiemp — are heavily engaged at the meeting and will probably run.

WHAT'S AS HIGH AS HE GOT — 26017

Baseball managers and hockey coaches may get paid handsome salaries in professional sport and as far as we are concerned most of them earn their money. There are few occupations in which the mortality rate is as high, the life expectancy so short and the abuse which most such officials take during their term of office is usually enough to make the most thick-skinned squirm. There are always a few every year who come in for warm praise but these are the winning mentors and if they don't keep winning their feats of the year before are soon forgotten.

This consideration of managers and coaches is brought to mind by the recent firing of Rogers Hornsby, Manager of the St. Louis Browns. Hornsby was one of the greatest players who ever lived and his tenure as a minor and big league manager has been unpopular. He lost his job with the Browns because his strict discipline with the players made him disliked. Had he been easygoing he probably would have lost his job for other reasons.

There has been a lot of controversy over the firing of Hornsby by the baseball writers in the States. Many of them, who favor strict discipline have been supporting the firing and chiding Brownie owner Bill Veeck and his players for their childish actions. This has been brought about by statements issued by Veeck and the presentation by the players to Veeck of a trophy with the following words inscribed upon it: "To Bill Veeck for the greatest play since the Emancipation Proclamation, June 10, 1952."

Hornsby often got results in the minor leagues but was never popular. This spring he brought his St. Louis Browns north from their spring training camp he arranged for an exhibition game in a town where he had formerly been a manager. The next morning he was greeted by the following newspaper headline: "The Grizzled Grouch of Baseball Returns." The people of course remembered the time when they had presented him with a car and Hornsby had waved it aside with a "Let's get on with the ball game."

This business of a manager or coach demands characteristics which few possess. The late Knute Rockne, coach of the Notre Dame football team, was probably the greatest and most loved coach who ever lived. At that time college football was not tainted with the win-or-else attitude which prevails in all branches of professional sport and in some parts of amateur athletics today.

In professional baseball and in professional hockey the only type of coach or manager which survives for any length of time is the winning one. There has been a long standing joke in baseball that the only manager that was never fired in the American League was Connie Mack. Mack owned and coached the Philadelphia Athletics for almost half a century. The others, after varying degrees of time, usually wound up looking for a job.

Last year Leo Durocher was regarded as the Miracle Manager when his New York Giants won the National League flag after a thrilling series with the Dodgers.

NO LARCENY TODAY — Outfielder Hank Bauer of the New York Yankees is out at second on an attempted steal in the first inning at Yankee Stadium. Johnny Pesky, Tigers' shortstop, applied the tag after taking peg from catcher Joe Ginsberg. Ump is Scotty Robb. Yanks won, 7-2.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

Related congratulations to Donnie MacLean for his no-hitter of over a week ago. Those no-hitters are rare enough in these parts. Two or three of the no-hitter contests we had here were seven-inning games, and strictly speaking a seven-inning no-hitter is not a no-hitter at all. The eighth and ninth innings are generally the hardest frames to get through, and many a no-hitter dream has been shattered in those last two frames. So Donnie has every right to feel elated over his achievement. He wasn't pitching against a line-up of pushovers either. Glen Matheson was in there, as was Elmer MacNeill, Arnold MacCallum, Irv MacKinnon and Lorne Hennessy.

We've had a lot of games with imposing arrays of strike-out victims this spring. We must be making some kind of a record in that department. Sometimes this doesn't mean too much. We've seen pitchers get pretty badly mauled in an inning, and yet the three outs for the frame would be via the strikeout route.

Those Curran & Briggs youngsters have decided to regain possession of their goat which Alan Stewart has been keeping on his property for the last two or three years. The boys really teed off on Alan's offerings Friday night. Because their luck couldn't be any worse against the talented right-hander than it has been, looks as if it decided to take a turn for the better on Friday, the thirtieth. Alan has every reason to believe that the day was really a hoodoo, for the Curranites never before took such liberties with his slants.

It's still true that the Holman intermediates have a pair of pitchers as good as they produce in this league. It is also true apparently that they will have to be extra good to win ball games Holman's have played three games this season, and have an average of 1.67 runs per game. The game they won they scored only one run. In the other two they managed two runs. Certainly they're not likely to get the nickname, "Murders' Row" are they?

The three ladies' softball teams from Summerside don't have too much hope of coping the league championship as we write this. They are up against a Major obstacle, and her first name is Marilyn. She throws a ball across the plate so fast that the girls of Summerside who have been used to much slower pitching find their reflexes are just a bunch of slow pokes. It's a great thing for the girls hereabouts though. They're smart, and they'll learn to cope with this fast ball pitching in time. No doubt they'll develop a few fast ball pitchers of their own too. When all these things happen, ladies' softball in Summerside is going to get a real shot in the arm, and they'll be able to hold their own with anything the Maritimes can produce. We'll have Mrs. Major to thank for it.

Nell Walker, Curran & Briggs center fielder de luxe is now right up there among the Island League leading hitters. If Nell can stay up there, he's going to be a mighty valuable piece of baseball property. Young Walker is the kind of outfielder that would probably be carried on the team if he were hitting in the vicinity of .100. He covers an amazing lot of territory, and any

CAHA Officials Meet In Annual Session

MINAKI, Ont., June 16 — (CP) — The flow of junior hockey player talent from Western Canada to the East was effectively choked off today for two seasons by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, governing body of the sport in the country.

With only a few stated exceptions among them students, armed forces personnel and players moved by their employers—no West-to-East transfers will be granted juniors from the West for the 1952-53 and 1953-54 seasons.

Officials hope the action will give the West time to build up its Memorial Cup contenders. The once-mighty West, which has produced some of the greatest junior clubs in Canada, has been soundly beaten by Eastern clubs in the cup final in recent years.

The association's decision was the highlight of a day-long meeting of officials from all provinces, held at Newfoundland here for the association's four-day annual convocation, the highly-explosive question of calling for a general revision of the C.A.H.A.'s agreement with the National Hockey League was deferred for further study.

No discussion was made on the agreement resolution, presented by the Ottawa and District Amateur Hockey Association, but it is expected some harsh words will be said about the agreement when the issue reaches the general meeting tomorrow or Wednesday.

The meeting was given registration by Durocher, of course, was a very changed man from the days when he managed the Brooklyn Dodgers. He is almost dead in front in the American League. The following year the Yankees finished third, about two games behind the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox. During the World Series that fall Harris was fired. Harris' dismissal was about par with the treatment given Marty Marion last year. Marion in his first year as a manager brought the St. Louis Cardinals home in third place although he was supposed to finish in the second division. At the season's end he was given his release and replaced by Eddy Stanky. The Cards right now are in fourth place about ten games off the pace.

Last year two great baseball players were coming near the end of their playing careers. One of them was Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves and the other Phil Caravareta of the Chicago Cubs. They were both appointed managers of their teams and their contracts were renewed this spring. A little over a week ago Holmes was fired. Caravareta, thanks to the booming bat of Hank Sauer, is doing famously. After four years of failure Sauer is hitting with the authority which stamps him as another Ruth. So far he has hit 18 home runs, has the most RBIs in the National League and is near the top in batting. Should he ever bat Chicago to the National League pennant Caravareta will be set as Cubs manager for a number of years.

There are a lot of peculiar angles in this managing business. Hornsby was fired this year because he was too strict. Marion was fired last year because he was too lenient. Now this year Marion is fired to replace Hornsby. Caravareta looks set because he has Sauer while Holmes was fired because he didn't have such a player. Casey Stengel is a master-mind with the Yankees while he was a bust with the Dodgers and Braves. It's no wonder no one has ever heard a growing boy say "I want to be a baseball manager or a hockey coach."

Bunny Ahearne Resigns From CAHA In Europe

MINAKI, Ont., June 16 — (CP) — John F. (Bunny) Ahearne of London today resigned as European representative of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in a surprise move at the association's annual meeting here.

The Irish-born hockey executive who has held the position since 1939 referred to a clash he had with president Doug Grimston of New Westminster, B.C., at the Winter Olympic Games in Norway and said that "In fairness to everybody it is best that I resign."

Ahearne and Grimston had a brawl in an Oslo hotel over the financial set-up connected with the European tour of Edmonton Mercurys before and after the winter games. Grimston entered the picture when the Mercurys, Olympic champions, told Ahearne they would not complete the series of exhibition games arranged that would keep them in Europe until the end of March.

Ahearne, who arranged the three-month European junket, told the meeting that $3 a week pocket money for each player was only half the story. He had arranged tours for five Canadian teams since the war ended and in addition to the $5 weekly pocket money they had received from him a total of $4,500.

The Mercurys, he said, received a bonus of $450 in addition to which $500 was paid for hotel accommodation during the games at Oslo. The Canadian and American Olympic hockey teams were the only athletes at the games whose hotel bills had to be financed from exhibition games.

Grimston admitted to the meeting later that Ahearne had beaten him to the punch. "I had intended to ask him for his resignation but he has taken the air out of my balloon."

The Westerner said Canada would review hockey participation in the 1956 games at Italy. C.A.H.A. officials probably would meet Canadian Olympic Association officers one year previous for a full review of a hockey team entry.

Track and Field Films Shown

Films dealing with various phases of track and field sports were shown last night at the Empire Theatre to the Abbots Track and Field team following a club meeting held there. It was decided that the team would hold a practice at Memorial Field at 6:30 tonight. Manager E.V. Cutcliffe has extended an invitation to all who would like to take part to attend the session. He stated that everyone would be welcome regardless of the fact that they never before took part in track and field sports.

Barons Meet All Conditions For N. H. L. Admittance

CLEVELAND, June 16 — (AP) — Cleveland Barons have met all conditions for admittance to the National Hockey League tomorrow when the league's governing meet in Montreal, Jim Hendy, general manager of the Barons, said today.

Hendy left by plane for Montreal carrying a bank book and certified proof that 60 per cent of the Barons' voting stock now is held by Clevelanders. As an American Hockey League club, the Barons had been controlled by Detroit interests.

Hendy said the Barons were required by the N.H.L. to pay a franchise fee of $50,000, demonstrate they have $318,000 of working capital for hockey operations, and deposit with the league $57,500—equal to the undivided equity of each present member in the N.H.L.'s reserve fund.

Softball Games This Evening

Two City League softball games are scheduled this evening for six o'clock. At the Knights of Columbus diamond the Guardian Angels will meet Bruce Stewart while The Ligonian Youth Club and the North End Bowery Bombers are slated to play on the Parkdale diamond.

"Bobo" Newsom Joins Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 — (AP) — One of the most travelled men in baseball, Louis (Bobo) Newsom is back in the major leagues today — this time with Philadelphia Athletics.

General manager Arthur Ebers of the A's said the garrulous 43-year-old Bobo, who started the year with Washington Senators, will join the A's in Chicago tomorrow.

Newsom broke into the big time in 1929 and has played with every American League team except the Chicago White Sox.
