The Croken-Arsenault Marriage Is Solemnized

A very pretty wedding took place at the church of The Holy Family, Kensington, on Monday, November 17th, at 8 a.m. when Jean Marie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Arsenault of Kensington, became the bride to Julian Edward Croken, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Croken, also of Kensington.

Rev. Fr. Louis Callaghan performed the double ring ceremony. Assisting at the Mass as altar boys were: Junior Arsenault, brother of bride, and Wendell Croken, brother of the groom.

Miss Donald MacDonald sang appropriate hymns during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a ballerina length gown of aqua blue nylon tulle over taffeta topped with a matching bolero with long sleeves tapered to points over the hands.

She wore a matching feather that studded with pearls and carried a brides pearl prayer book gift of the groom. The prayer book was trimmed with a miniature bouquet of white mums. Her jewellery was pearl necklace and earrings.

The bride's only attendant Miss Kaye Croken, sister of the groom. She wore a ballerina length gown of coral nylon chiffon over taffeta and wore a matching feather hat and long gloves. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow and white mums.

Mr. Reginald Arsenault, brother of the bride, supported the groom as best man and the ushers were Mr. Maurice Blackie and Mr. Robert MacGahey.

Mrs. Arsenault chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of white mums.

The mother of the groom wore a brown dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride for over fifty guests.

The bridal table was centred with a three tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Rev. Louis Callaghan proposed the toast to the bride which was fittingly responded to by the groom.

For a short wedding trip through the Maritimes the bride wore a suit of teal blue tweed and matching accessories. Her corsage was white mums.

Upon their return the newly-weds, will reside in Kensington. Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Cyril Gallant, where she received many lovely and useful gifts.

Charlottetown BPW Club Hold A Christmas Party

The December meeting of the Charlottetown Business and Professional Women's Club, held at the Charlottetown Hotel, opened with a candlelight procession and the singing of carols to set the scene for the Christmas spirit which pervaded the meeting. Table decorations of miniature trees and candles along with a large Christmas tree were arranged by the program committee consisting of Mrs. Marjorie Coffin, chairman, Miss Adele McLellan, Mrs. Hilda Bears, Mrs. Holly Taylor, Miss Gertrude Love and Miss Dorothy Cullen.

At the business meeting, presided over by Miss Iphigene Arsenault, President, a report was given by Mrs. Ireta Sutherland on a meeting sponsored by the Unemployment Insurance Commission re winter employment. A group of Club members volunteered to assist with a telephone campaign which is to be organized early in 1959.

Mrs. Christene Pickard reported on a visit by Club members to Beach Grove and commended Mrs. Ruth Osborne's work in arranging these visits by different groups to senior citizens there.

In an effort to promote interest in and knowledge of civic affairs, it was decided to have a number of Club members attend the City Council meeting each month. Christmas donations were voted for the Protestant Family Bureau, the Catholic Social Welfare Bureau and the Salvation Army, as well as a sum of money to be sent to the Unitarian Services Committee for a gift to the school girl in India whom the Club adopted last year.

The Program Committee chairman, Mrs. Coffin, introduced Miss Lena McLure, who gave an interesting account of a visit with Miss Margaret Hyndman of Toronto, President of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She told of Miss Hyndman's outstanding career in law and business and depicted her warm and attractive personality. Miss Margaret MacIntyre, accompanied by Miss Florence Simmons, then sang "O Holy Night," and "Little Boy Blue" and Mrs. H. W. Davidson gave two entertaining readings.

Miss Adele McLellan thanked those who contributed to the program. A visit from Santa Claus climaxed a festive December meeting.

MARY HAWORTH

Flirting With Philanders Sparks Serious Crisis

Dear Mary Haworth: I am in my late twenties, married eight years and have four children. My husband and I have worked together for everything we have. Our eight years have been wonderful; no major problems or anything. I've never thought of another man; nor he of another woman. And yet I have coasted into a terrible trouble.

Less than a year ago I had occasion to go out to evenings week for a while. On one of these evenings, it happened that a man in my office was outside the building I visited. We talked a few minutes and in the next few weeks I saw him six times. He kissed me, said he loved me, and asked if I loved him. I said "He is married, almost twice my age, and would write me notes at work. I wrote him a note that my husband found. Hank (I'll call him) was very hurt and angry and told me to leave. I left, and he came after me. He said he loved me and would try to forgive. I assured him that the other man meant nothing to me.

PASTOR HELPS
Now it seems like a crazy dream that it ever happened; and although it was eight months ago, things are getting worse instead of better. Hank says he wants to foret the whole thing; but every song, every play, everything anyone says, reminds me of the episode. He begs me to help him have faith in me, but I don't know how.

We have talked to our pastor, who said that although I was "faithful," there's no reason I can't get over it; he has known couples in worse cases straighten out. I am so very ashamed of having acted so foolishly. I love and need my husband and want to keep him, but no matter what I do or say I just can't make the grade. Can you help us? P. K.

NEUROSES DEEP ROOTED
Dear P.K.: Any self-confidence in relation to woman that Hank had was a structure built up and I gather, his recent erratic behavior is acutely neurotic; and a person doesn't get into that condition as a result of one blow to his ego. Unless, of course, his ego was in very poor shape already—which is the point that applies to Hank.

EARLY SAWMILLS
The community of Milton in Nova Scotia, then known as the Falls, had three sawmills in 1764.

"real" helpmate—a spouse less childish, dependent and jealous—you might have been better insulated against the temptation to "escape" temporarily into a situation where nothing mattered (figuratively). My advice to Hank is to realize that man and wife are one flesh; and problems of this kind don't develop simply because a rival beckons, but chiefly because something already was wrong at home—that set the stage for trouble and opened the door.

To get on the beam of help, read "Society and Sanity" (Sheed and Ward) by Frank J. Sheed—paying particular attention to the chapters on love, sex and marriage. M.H.

New Committees were appointed: School, Mrs. Reg Ross; Sick, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. E.M. Martin; letter, Beth and Kay; lunch, Mrs. Bruce Ellis, Mrs. Pat Horgan and Mrs. Herb Kiely. It was decided to write for Charity bundles and auction sale to be held at the next meeting.

Mrs. Kipping kindly invited members to her home for the January meeting. Roll call to be a "get-well" card. Collect on amounted to $2.60.

An exchange of gifts with Secret Pal followed the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess and a lively sing-song brought the evening to a close.

NEW LONDON W. I.

The members of the New London W. I. brought along a small decorated Christmas tree when they met for their December meeting, at the home of Mrs. Harold Mayhew. They also exchanged Christmas gifts for roll call.

$3.00 was voted to be sent to Mrs. Burge to go toward expenses for a delegate to attend A.C. W.W. meeting in Scotland. Mrs. Eric MacEwen, Mrs. Dan Morrison are to attend annual hall meeting.

A card party is to be held in the hall, Monday, Dec. 29. Each member is also to make candy for Christmas concert. A box of articles for a man that had lost his home by fire was packed.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close. A very dainty lunch was served by hostess and committee in charge.

ORWELL COVE W. I.

In spite of the cold windy weather the members of the Orwell Cove W. I. met on schedule at the home of Mrs. D. M. MacDonald on December 10.

The new officers, who had been appointed at the annual meeting in November had their first opportunity to show a few new ideas on conducting a meeting.

The retiring president and secretary were each presented with a lovely cup and saucer. Roll call was answered by exchange of Christmas gifts.

The business of preparing Christmas treats for the school and pre-school children, the shut-ins and men in the services was divided amongst the members. The several committees gave their reports, correspondence was read and discussed. The president and secretary gave interesting reports on a leadership course, which they attended at Central Royalty in November.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. MacLeod.
