Scores Amazing Upset To Take Decision Over Sugar Ray Robinson

LONDON, July 10 (AP)—Ran-dolph Turpin, 28-year-old British Negro who never had fought more than eight rounds, scored the most amazing upset in 25 years of boxing history tonight when he de-feated the great Ray Robinson to win the world's middleweight cham-pionship.

It was Robinson's first defence of the crown he won from Jake LaMotta in Chicago, Feb. 14, and only the second loss in a fabulous career that stretched through 11 years of pro fighting and 17 bouts. A sell-out crowd of 18,000 in Earl's Court Arena cheered wildly as the honey-skinned youngster, British and European champion, opened a deep gash under the 31-year-old Sugar Ray's left eye in the seventh round, brought blood from the New York Negro's nose in the 12th and had him on the verge of a knockout in the 14th. A left hook to the jaw staggered Robinson in the 14th and the crowd yelled for Turpin to finish off the sleek champion. Robinson weighed 154 1/2 lbs. Turpin 156 3/4.

On Feb. 1943, LaMotta out-pointed Robinson in a 10-rounder in Detroit. Sugar Ray made up for that by beating Jake five times, including last February's cham-pionship fight.

Robinson, hailed as the greatest fighter of the generation by ring experts, was stripped of his welter-weight crown by the United States National Boxing Association and the New York Athletic Commis-sion when he won the 160-pound title from LaMotta.

Keen Racing Promised In 10 Dashes Tonight

Racing fans are assured of an-other great night of racing to-night when ten dashes will be run off at the Charlottetown Ex-hibition Track.

A nip and tuck battle is ex-pected in the trot when Nell and Jennie Kalmuck, Annie Scott, Feather Duster and Walt N'Scud line up behind the starting gate in the fifth and ninth heats. Annie Scott and Nell Kalmuck were the dash winners in this class last Saturday night.

The battles in the other classes should be just as keen. Twelve horses are lined up for the 222 pace, a three dash event at $200 a dash. A long list of well known horses will be out looking for the money in the other three events.

The $125 sweepstake is still waiting for someone to pick the winning horses and claim it. Sat-urday night one Charlottetown woman picked six of the seven winners but she missed out on the last heat which was won by Peach Butler.

Rousing Wrestling Card At The Forum Last Night

Bull Curry and Bull Montana won a rousing Tag-Match at the Forum last night when they de-feated the team of Len "Cowboy" Hughes and Sal Balbo by taking two falls to one in an action-packed battle that gave a small crowd of wrestling fans plenty in the way of top-notch wrestling entertainment.

In two single fall matches of a 20-minute time limit, Montana and Balbo fought to a draw af-ter going the full limit in a snappy bout, while Hughes won out over Curry in a bruising contest that lasted nine minutes and 28 sec-onds. Hughes was awarded the bout after Curry the "one-man riot squad" heaved Hughes out of the ring and then went out af-ter him, landing on his opponent with both feet while Hughes was down on the bare boards. Len got his man before it was broken up, however, to give Curry a terrific body-slam and then climbed back into the ring. Curry wouldn't come back in but heaved... one of the timer's chairs into the ring after Hughes and then went to his dressing room.

It was the team Tag-Match that provided the big thrill of the night. Getting the crowd against them right from the start with il-legal tactics, Montana and Curry tangled with the Hughes-Balbo combination in a wild battle that gave the crowd a thrill a second. Curry finally won the fall for his team when he pinned Hughes at 17:40 after taking a bad beating from the two Bulls. Curry con-tinually worked Hughes over to the corner where his partner Montana was and both went to work on him together.

It was a different story in the second fall, however. Using per-fect team work, Hughes and Balbo

North Sydney Club Quits Hockey League

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., July 10 (CP)—North Sydney Hockey Club will not enter a team into any league this year, it was an-nounced tonight.

At a meeting of shareholders and directors of the hockey club and directors of the Forum, it was de-cided that anyone could have the North Sydney Hockey Club fran-chise debt-free for the sum of $100 next season.

The club had a deficit of about $16,000 last season.

The club operated in the three-team Cape Breton major circuit last year and were prospective entrants of a new Maritime league, composed of Cape Breton and Maritime major league squads.

Bill O'Connor, the Brooklyn Dodgers scout who visited the Province here over the week-end, was more than favourably im-pressed with what he saw here in the way of players and facilities. At least it was enough to encour-age the talent scout to hold two schools here next year to explore the possibilities more thoroughly and at the same time give local aspirants here a chance to learn more about the finer points of the game and receive first hand in-struction.

National Leaguers Score 8-3 Upset Victory In 18th All-Star Encounter

By Jack Hand

DETROIT, July 10 (AP)—The brawny young men of the Na-tional League exploded a four-homer barrage today to upset the stunned American Leaguers 8-3 in the 18th All-Star baseball game at Briggs Stadium.

While 52,075 gaped in wonder at the visitors from the National, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Bob Elliott of Boston, Gil Hodges of Brooklyn and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh rode home runs into Walter O. Briggs' neatly painted green seats.

The best favored Americans could do in the home run league was a pair by the Detroit con-tingent—Vic Wertz and George Kell.

As a result of this muscular ex-hibition, the Nationals boast their longest win streak of the peren-nial series—two games. They still trail the Americans 12-6.

Unsteady Eddie Lopat of New York Yankees caught the full force of the National blast. His first pitch to Musial in the fourth disappeared into the upper right field stands. After he got one out, Gil Hodges singled. Then Elliott, a senior star of the Braves, lofted a long fly some 360 feet into the lower left field seats.

That was enough to hang the loss on Lopat, who came after fuzzy-checked Ned Garver of St. Louis zipped through a three-inning stretch.

It was a 1-1 tie when Musial did his stuff. Before Lopat de-parted for a pinch hitter in the fourth, Casey Stengel's Americans trailed 4-1. They never caught up on a regular Brooklyn players school. On the July visit he will bring with him two of his most experienced instructors to conduct

Rovers Down Falcons 10-1 Last Night

Paced by a smooth two-hit pitch-ing performance by Donnie Mc-Lean, Northeast Rovers trounced the Northwest Falcons to the tune of 10-1 in a regular City Baseball League fixture at Memorial Field last evening.

The win salts away the top spot for the Rovers at the end of the first section of scheduled play with a two-game bulge over Fal-cons. The first section ends Thurs-day night with a dash between Anchors and Stars, but the result of that game can't effect the standings of the two leading teams.

Taking advantage of some er-ratic pitching by Wendell Gillis in the second innings when he gave up one single and walked three men, Rovers pushed five runs across the plate. They collected an-other run on a hit and a walk off Jack "Spy" Ready who came in to relieve for a six-run inning that decided the game right then and there. Breaking out on another rally in the sixth for four more runs added the final touch to Rovers' landslide victory.

A triple off McLean by Brian Lewis in the fourth, who came home on an error on the play, gave Falcons their one and only run of the game, which was called on ac-count of darkness after six in-nings.

Falcons chalked up four errors and Rovers three. Gillis was chal-lenged with the Falcon's loss with five runs on one hit and striking out two. He was credited with only one inning pitched when Ready took over in the second with none out. Ready gave up three hits in five innings, allowed five runs and had no strike-outs. Mc-Lean the winner, struck out five and allowed one run on two hits for six innings.

Although this was strictly a home-run ball game with little emphasis on defence, little Richie Ashburn of the Phillies brought the crowd to its feet in the sixth with a dazzling catch to rob Wertz of a near-homer. Leaping against the 10-foot screen in right centre near the 415-mark, Richie pulled down the long drive with a one-handed stab.

Manager Eddie Sawyer, quiet and reserved as usual, was ob-viously pleased by the power dem-onstration by his big boys.

"But don't lose sight of the pitching," he said. "Newcombe and Maglie were great. Roberts obviously didn't have it. So I pulled him out."

Robin Roberts of Sawyer's Phils, starting his second straight All-Star game, was yanked after yielding four hits and a run in two innings. He was lucky to es-cape as lightly as he did.

Then came Maglie, and New-combe for three-inning stretches with Blackwell finishing the ninth.

Garver, Casey Stengel's Ameri-can starter, cuffed eight men in a row in a brilliant effort. That was after Richie Ashburn hit his first pitch of the game for a double. A fly ball a walk and an error by second baseman Nelson Fox of Chicago let a run dribble home. After that he was superb.

The Americans made up for that one run in the second when Yogi Berra of Yanks singled and Ferris Fain of Philadelphia smashed a triple off the right field screen. Roberts was on the ropes and the same old American League story seemed in the making.

Then came a break for the Nats. Chico Carrasquel dumped a Texas League single into short centre. Pain, afraid the ball would be caught, waited too long. He stumbled when he started and was a dead duck for Ashburn's beauti-ful peg to the plate. Then nipped Roberts was on the ropes and the same old American League story seemed in the making.

Sawyer wisely derricked Roberts after that close call. Outside of the homers off Maglie, his other pitchers shut the door.

The game, played on a hot steaming afternoon, produced re-ceipts of $124,284.97 after taxes were deducted. The cash went to the player Pension Fund as well as about $100,000 from radio and television rights.

Boat Races Scheduled Today At Three Places

Sporting fans are in for treats in the eastern and western sections of the Province today as mammoth water races and other athletics have been lined up for Souris, Malpeque, and Wood Islands this afternoon.

The Wood Islands enthusiasts will go off their meet with the skirl of the bagpipes tonight while Souris and Malpeque will hold dashes and other amusements. Engine racing, dory sailing and swimming will feature the meet at Souris. The same will be featured at the other centres with ball games being played at Malpeque. For old and young alike the afternoon promises to provide the utmost in aquatic and land sports.

"I hope I'm able to keep this for you for a long time," said the jubilant Turpin to the roaring crowd.

Turpin's first stop after leaving the ring was Robinson's dressing room where he told Robinson "you were a real champion just like they told me."

Robinson replied "you were real good. Just like they said you were." "I have no allbills. I was beaten by a better man."

Miss Wilson Wins N.B. Golf Title

SAINT JOHN, N. B., July 10 (CP)—Miss Cairine Wilson, of St. Andrews, N. B., and Ottawa, today won the New Brunswick Ladies' Golf Association championship for the fifth time.

Playing steadily over the River-side Golf and Country Club course, Miss Wilson fired a second round of 92. Her two-round total of 178 was one stroke better than last year's winning score by Mrs. G. Blair Gordon, of St. Andrews and Montreal, who also won the Mar-time ladies' crown in 1950.

Mrs. Gordon finished as runner-up today with a total of 180. Six strokes off the pace after the first round, she made a strong bid but was unable to close the gap.
