Toronto Exchange Not Ready To Give Up Self-Policing

By LARRY DWORIKIN TORONTO (CP)—Despite recent wide spread demands for tighter controls over the Toronto Stock Exchange, its new chairman isn't ready to surrender all its self-policing powers. John S. Deacon, 53, elected last week for a two-year term, agrees with outside critics that Canada's biggest securities centre has to be operated as a public institution. "But, he argued in an interview, this doesn't necessarily mean the exchange has to give up what a recent Ontario royal commission called its private club aspects. "A law cannot fully protect the public because there will

Italy Backs Proposal To Save Seals

HALIFAX (CP)—The Italian government has sent a letter to the International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries supporting a proposal for conservation measures in seal hunting off the coasts of Newfoundland and Labrador. The other 12 member countries of the commission—including Canada—previously had agreed to the formulation of such measures. A federal fisheries department official confirmed Tuesday the Italian letter had been received by the commission. The Canadian government moved two years ago to protect harp and hood seal herds in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Last year there was a harvest limit of 50,000 harp pups in the Gulf, while there was no open season on the disappearing hood seals. However, the herds which breed on the ice off Newfoundland and Labrador are being decimated by hunters since the hunting takes place outside Canadian territorial waters. Now that the necessary unanimous agreement of the member countries has been obtained, the commission is expected to draft international laws limiting the kill of seals, governing methods of hunting and deciding on the season. Canadian and Norwegian ships, and sometimes Russian and French vessels, have taken part in the offshore hunts.

Dow Brewery Plant Closed

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman for Dow Brewery Ltd. said Tuesday the company's plant in Quebec City is shut down and no decision about a resumption of operations has yet been made. The plant was shut down March 30 in what Health Minister Eric Kierans of Quebec called a voluntary step taken by the company to facilitate research and reassure the public. The action was taken after it became known that 18 men in the Quebec City area had died of cardiomyopathy, a rare degenerative heart disease. Beer may have been one of "an association of several factors" causing the disease, the investigators said. The Dow spokesman said today the investigation by provincial, federal and independent experts "is not quite finished." Dow's customers in the provincial capital have been supplied from the firm's Montreal brewery.

United Presbyterian Church In U.S.A. Revises Confession

BOSTON (AP)—The governing assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. Tuesday approved a new confession of beliefs, the church's first credal revision in three centuries. Work on the 4,600-word declaration "has been going on for eight years. "An historic moment," commented the presiding moderator, Rev. Dr. Ganse Little of Pasadena, Calif., after the climatic vote. The approximately 1,500 Presbyterians then broke into prolonged applause and singing of the doxology, Praise God from whom all Blessing Flow. The new confession now goes to the denomination's 188 area units (presbyteries) for ratification. Assent of at least two-thirds is needed for final authorization. However, the action by the representative legislative assembly meeting here is regarded as decisive in the long process. Since 1649, Presbyterianism has used the famed Westminster Confession as its doctrinal guide. The revision seeks to render Christian principles more understandable in contemporary style and to focus them on moral issues of modern times. Under discussion among the 3,300,000 members of the denomination for the last year, the new confession was debated intermittently for seven days at the assembly here before the approving vote. Only scattered negative votes were heard when the decision came.

Russian City Of Tashkent Hit By Quake For 3rd Time

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet central Asian city of Tashkent, where 100,000 already were homeless, suffered Tuesday its third major earthquake in less than a month. The earthquake struck in mid-afternoon. Many of the city's 1,100,000 residents were in safer, newer office buildings. No casualty figures were disclosed immediately. But it appeared they might be lighter than those in the earlier quakes, which occurred at night and caused heavy damage to many old, frail homes. The news agency Tass said the quake was the third-strongest to hit the stricken city since the April 26 tremor, described as the worst in Tashkent in 96 years. The second big quake came May 10. Tass said that 40 ambulance cases had been reported, including 33 heart patients, two premature births and five injuries. No deaths were reported. The Soviet government has refused to let Western correspondents into Tashkent. Since April 26 there have been more than 300 minor quakes. Tens of thousands of the homeless are living in tents. Outdoor medical stations and stores have been set up. Tanks and bulldozers work around the clock to clear away the rubble. OLDER WOMEN QUEUE UP MONTREAL (CP)—The YWCA found that most applicants for Vistas for Women, an educational and guidance service, were 40 to 49 years old. The service is so popular there is a 10-day waiting list, says director, Phyllis Poland. SWIMMING IS RISKY More than 200 types of fish, including stingrays and some types of shark, are venomous.

UC Appoints Co-Ordinator

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Warren Bruleigh, 33, of New Waterford, N.S., has been appointed co-ordinator of the United Church's national project of evangelism and social action. Mr. Bruleigh now is staff associate of the Atlantic Christian Training Centre, Tatamagouche, N.S., one of five lay training centres operated by the United Church. Mr. Bruleigh will have responsibility for carrying the church's centennial programme of evangelism into every congregation during 1967 and 1968.

125 Deaths Recorded In Accidents

By THE CANADIAN PRESS In the worst fatality toll on record for a Victoria Day holiday, 125 persons died accidentally on the three-day weekend, 80 of them in traffic accidents. In addition, another four may be added to the drowning total of 30, with four Toronto men missing on Lake Ontario. The highway toll was in excess of the prediction of 56 by the Canadian Highway Safety Council. Provincial totals were: Newfoundland 1; P.E.I. 3; N.S. 9; N.B. 1; Quebec 45; Ontario 43; Manitoba 5; Saskatchewan 4; Alberta 3; B.C. 11. The total in a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, local times, also included five deaths in two separate plane crashes, and three fatalities from exposure. The worst three-day holiday period since CP began recording accidental deaths in 1949 was the 1963 Dominion Day weekend when 172 persons died, 85 of them in traffic. The previous high for Victoria

PM, Dief Are Agreed On Security

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker agreed Tuesday that Parliament's security system should not be tightened without a prior debate in the Commons. Mr. Pearson said no "extraneous measures" are needed to protect legislators. He hoped that any proposed change in security arrangements would first be discussed in the House. Mr. Diefenbaker said there has been considerable comment on Parliament's security since Paul Charrier killed himself in a washroom last Wednesday in an apparent attempt to throw a bomb into the Commons chamber. The Conservative leader said protective measures around politicians in other countries often incite violence, rather than prevent it. He asked for an assurance that MPs be consulted on any added security steps. Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said Thursday he would review the protective arrangements on Parliament Hill and asked MPs for their views. The subject also will come under scrutiny at Charrier's inquest, expected in about two weeks. Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said 45,000 tourists—25,000 on holiday alone—visited the Parliament Buildings during the Victoria Day weekend and he praised the Commons protective staff for efficient handling of the influx.

LSD Seen Start Of New Aids In Mental Health

WASHINGTON (AP)—The director of the U.S. National Institutes of Health described the drug LSD Tuesday as a prototype of things to come for mental health. Dr. Stanley F. Yolles said scientists are "very close to a breakthrough" in the treatment of mental depressions and are hopeful of having new means not only of alleviating the distress of the mentally ill but of curing such illness. "LSD is a prototype of what is being developed," he told a Senate subcommittee on U.S. government operations investigating use of the hallucinatory drug. Senator Robert F. Kennedy

Joey Calls Conference On Electronic Education Aids

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood announced Tuesday an international conference on the use of radio, television and other electronic aids in education is being called here for late August or early September. In a prepared statement, the premier said the idea resulted from talks and discussions with Chairman Andrew Stewart of the Board of Broadcast Governors, Acting President M. O. Morgan of Memorial University, President Don Jamieson of the Newfoundland Broadcasting Company, Newfoundland education minister H. R. B. Earle, and others. Mr. Jamieson, whose company operates radio and television stations CJOV and CJOX-TV here and others in Newfoundland, will organize the conference. Mr. Smallwood said an "enormous increase and speeding up of this great new technique" is needed to help the 150,000 students and more than 5,000 teachers in Newfoundland schools. Invitations will be extended to specialist technological colleges and schools in Canada, the United States, Great Britain and other countries. "I am anxious to have the CBC play an important part in this conference," Mr. Smallwood said. "I hope to make this the most comprehensive conference of its kind yet held anywhere and it is our strong hope that Newfoundland can pioneer in this whole field."
