"By a thorough knowledge of the laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save many a heavy doctor's bill. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitutional may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. A Teaspoonful OF
ESTEY'S EMULSION

Contains more curative properties than can be found in four times the same quantity of any other Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It is therefore the Cheapest and Best.

The day has gone by when you can get people to take the nauseous doses that used to be given. In taking Estey's Emulsion you don't taste the Cod Liver Oil in it. Still it is there, half of it being Cod Liver Oil, but the taste of the oil is gone; that is all, everything else remains, don't forget that.

For weak, puny children, it is invaluable, making them fat and rosy and strong. Ask your druggist, or write to Estey, 111, St. Nicholas St., New York, N. Y. Take no substitute. It has 25¢ bottles.

Marrying to Reform.

THE ATTEMPT NOT ALWAYS A SUCCESS

Ladies who think of marrying ex-convicts to reform them can get points from Mrs. Charles Callen, of Oakland. That estimable lady, when Mrs. Ella Higby, became interested in the Convicts' Home of that city, and subsequently transferred that interest to ex-convict Callen and married him to complete his reformation. The experiment does not appear to have proved a success as Mrs. Callen is now trying to recover $3,000 that her husband appropriated from the safe of a part of her property, and she had to seek refuge at a neighbor's to avoid an irate ex-convict spouse who was brandishing a revolver. Marriage as a reformatory institution for convicts and drunkards is decidedly a failure, whatever success it may be as an institution to be cultivated for his own sake, but this is a truth that ladies of a reformatory frame of mind have to learn by their individual hard experience.

Wooing Sleep.

A NEW METHOD BY WHICH A WAKEFUL MAN MAY FIND SLEEP.

The Desartian doctrine of rest by voluntary muscular relaxation is somewhat confirmed by the experience of those who have acted upon this theory in overcoming insomnia. Nothing so quickly brings sleep as the voluntary disposal of the body and limbs in such a fashion as to produce muscular relaxation. The legs and arms should be so placed as to bring them in contact with the mattress at as many points as possible. This affords support and relieves the muscles. The body should be disposed in like fashion, and if all has been done properly the wooer of sleep will presently have the consciousness of resting with his whole weight directly upon the mattress. When once this feeling comes sleep usually follows. The plan is far better than the old one of repeating the numerals or forcing some meaningless series of words, for it has the double advantage of putting the physical man into an attitude of repose and of distracting the mind from whatever thoughts are at enmity with sleep.—New York Sun.

The Jews in New York.

HOW THEY HAVE BEEN BEHAVING THEMSELVES DURING THE YEAR.

Judging by police reports there has been less of the deceptiveness, chicanery, and fraud that are popularly and often unjustly held to be distinctive of the poorer Jews in the acquisition of this amazing wealth and influence than among an equal number of nominal christians of similar class. It is certain that the homely virtues of which King Solomon, Franklin and Suniles are the apostles have been the principal creators of Jewish affluence and power. The prudence which confines expenditure within the limits of income, the diligence which rejoices in improving opportunity, the far sightedness which deposits money where it will do the most good, and the promise which is held to be as binding as the legal contract, are the chief factors of fortune with them as with all men. The best proof of the moral standing of the Hebrews is to be found in the relatively low percentage of their numbers in prisons and reformatories. Only two murderers, it is said, have sprung from their ranks in 250 years. Drunkenness is not a Jewish vice. Neither is anarchism a Jewish insanity. Its subjects disavow and even revile Judaism.

As Bad as a Sea Fight.

BRITISH JACK TARS IN THE CLUTCHES OF LA GRIFFE—CONDITION OF THE FLEET.

Despatches from Malta say that the British fleet at that place is in a state of weakness which might be compared with that of a fleet having passed through a severe engagement with an enemy. The flagship Victoria, 15 guns, 10,470 tons, has 11 men in the hospital suffering from influenza; the Amazon, 10 guns, has 39 men down with the same disease; the Inflexible, 12 guns, has 40 men under treatment; the Trafalgar, 10 guns, the flagship of Rear Admiral Lord Walter T. Kerr, has 39 men in the surgeon's hands, and the crack torpedo boat, Polyphemus, has a third of her crew sick with the grip. Finally the Dreadnought, 4 guns, is coming back from Saloniky, where half her crew are suffering more or less from the prevailing epidemic. Of course these figures give only a slight idea of the spread of the disease in the British Mediterranean fleet, for the Agamemnon, the Australia, the Benbow, the Colossus, the Edinburgh, the Temeirarie, and the Undaunted, the battle ships in those waters, have had many influenza sufferers among their crews.

The above list does not include the many cruizers and gunboats of the British Mediterranean fleet whose crews have not escaped the grip. This causes people to remark that if there is any serious trouble in the Mediterranean, the British sailors will have to go into action in a slightly demoralized condition.

Mayor Washburne, of Chicago, has three children born on St. Patrick's Day, July 4, and Christmas Day.

The great event of the season at Rome has been the marriage of Donna Marie Barberini, the heiress of the late Prince Barberini, to the Marchese Sacchetti, a member of the Pope's noble guard, who has been authorized by His Holiness to assume the name and title of Barberini. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a magnificent Eberhardine, composed of large diamonds and rubies, the family arms being three golden bees on a field of azure. The brother and sister of the bridegroom gave a necklace of 10 rows of pearls, forming such "ropes" as would have satisfied even the Theodora of Lothair.

News in Brief.

Thieves recently held up a small funeral procession in Hillside county, Mich., and robbed the minister and undertaker.

The Chicago pension office has on its rolls the oldest pensioner in the United States. He is 103 years of age and was a sailor in the navy in the war of 1815.

A disolute linguist, a teacher of seven different languages, has been jailed at Laramie, Wyo., for beating his wife, who supported him by taking in washing.

Mrs. Catherine Fisher, a widow, eloped recently in Madison, Ohio, on her 64th birthday, with a man four years her senior, whom she met only two days previously.

A despatch from Hong Kong says 60 of the passengers of the wrecked steamer Nanchow, which foundered off Caphri points, were saved by fishing boats near by.

The works of the Waterbury Brass Co., at Waterbury, Conn., were burned on the 13th, a loss $360,000, insurance $187,000. Over 250 hands are thrown out of employment.

A distinct shock of earthquakes was felt at Memphis, Tenn., at 2 o'clock on Thursday morning. Buildings were shaken and suburban residents awakened from their slumbers.

The king and queen of Denmark will celebrate their golden wedding the 26th of next May. Nearly every European sovereign will be present, and the occasion will be one of great brilliancy.

A young Norwegian in Minnesota fell heir to a baronetcy and fortune in Norway, and the good news so elated him that he proceeded to get drunk and was frozen to death in a barn.

While D. W. McLeod, of Amherst, was visiting his home at Glengarry he went out to his brother's lumber camp and there shot two large bears, one weighing 400 lbs., and the other a little over 300 lbs.

The queen of England has written two books which have never been published. They are works of travel, recounting her impressions on the Continent. She has refused to have them published till after her death.

A colored mad of Madison, Ga., claims to have discovered a process of extracting live worms from decayed teeth. He exhibits some specimens of worms said to be so extracted, about a quarter of an inch in length and of a flattened shape, and dark brown or nearly black in color.

A queer libel suit has been instituted against a newspaper in Indiana for averring that the plaintiff's horse was fed the soup, being too old to eat corn. He claims $2,000 damages, alleging that he has suffered great mental anguish on account of the publication.

A dense fog on Thursday enveloped New York and vicinity, and traffic of all kinds, both on land and water, was much impeded in consequence. All the ferries on the North and East rivers experienced some difficulty in making their landings, and in some instances the boats took nearly an hour to cross.

You may talk as much as you please of the grip and diphtheria. No doubt their ravages are sufficiently alarming. But if you want your hair to stand on end with horror just contemplate the epidemic that has committed to an untimely grave nearly every New York resolution which on Jan. 1st was so hearty and robust. Hardly one of the whole tribe is left.

The Boston Herald declares the smallest American city is Vergennes, in Vermont, which, with 103 years of cityhood, has a population of only 73, and covers a territory of but 1,200 acres. "There are offices enough for nearly every man in the town to have one. In this way the political squabbles and selfish struggles for power common to most cities are entirely overcome."

A new article of fuel was utilized by the steamer Dundelin on her last trip from Clontarf, Cuba, to New York. She ran out of coal and the crew had to tear down the woodwork of the cabin and fore-cabin to supply the furnaces. This also being consumed, and a heavy storm prevailing, the captain ordered the firemen to shovel sugar into the furnaces. Before arriving in port fifty tons of sugar (about $2,500 worth) were burned.

Chicago has started a crusade against the man who persists in carrying his hands in his pockets on the streets, and thereby converting his elbows into instruments of positive danger to his fellow-citizens. It will enlarge that platform so as to include the woman who carries her umbrellas at an angle of forty-five degrees, and the youth who puffs cigarette smoke in one's face, Boston will join the windy city in its campaign and make a national affair of it.

A rather peculiar incident recently happened a short distance outside of Riverdale, Cal. A telephone wire broke between two offices, about 15 miles apart, and yet an ordinary conversation could be carried on over the wire after it was broken, though the magnetic bell would not ring. There being no other wire on the same poles at that part of the line where the break occurred, it is supposed that the current was carried between the ends of the broken wire through the wet ground. A few feet below the surface there is what is known as hardpan, which probably acted to some extent as an insulator between the upper and lower strata of earth.

A Russian newspaper recently undertook to investigate the conditions of the basin kemandia, or tramp fraternity of Russia, and declares that in Kief alone they number more than 2,000 persons, living in the alleys, barge and other available hiding places along the Dnieper, and that two-thirds of the number are men of culture, graduates, many of them, of the universities and theological seminaries. "A more wretched and dissipated crowd," remarks the paper, "it would be hard to imagine. All the more dismal and appalling appears their life for the very reason that men of culture and knowledge are enlisted in the ranks of this wretched fraternity."
