

the surprise renovations

The UPEI Sun staff in conference with Hartwell Daly, a noted Island journalist

the door: the rear view of the office is seen on the cover

Last semester! A mish-mash of wacky but harmless students emerged and offered their talents(?). The group now could almost be called a family, and their weekly baby, the SUN, could almost be called a newspaper. Not only have they managed to produce a newspaper every week, but they have managed to do it with smiles on their faces, like ripples in a slop bucket. Also, on Wednesday evenings they entertain the nearly empty gym with their volleyball attempts.

Over the holidays, they remodelled their dingy room on 4th floor Main, and now proudly offer any new recruits (for the paper), an excellent working environment.

So what's stopping you? You don't need talent—just a friendly disposition and an eagerness to contribute to a great piece of journalism—your student newspaper.

L CLUB WANTS YOU

Main Media Centre.

Photography: If it weren't for the pictures, people would flip through the paper and say that there was nothing in it.

A photo will force (due to curiosity) the reader to stop and look at it. As soon as he stops, his eyes glance the rest of the page and if the headlines are written well, and if the design is appealing and if it was all put on the page properly, the reader will continue to read the page and then we gottem. Of course the pictures have to be of good quality but if enough are taken, one will hit upon a good one. Do you want to develop your photography (sick)? We're waiting for you.

Odd-jobs: If it is one thing we have it is odd-jobs. You can kill fifteen minutes between classes cutting up addresses with knives. If basically you are into rolling, you can spend an hour rolling papers to mail them. For the Felix Unger in anyone, we have our offices. Just clean away to your little heart's content.

Do you like making posters? Coincidentally so do we! We also have the world's funnest typewriter.

Aren't you just dying to use it? Okay, we'll let you. There is our endless number of ways to spend your time. But it can only be done if you come on up.

Working on the newspaper may prove much more profitable than you think. More and more, jobs are requesting experience in some form of the media and the printed media is the largest of them all. The U.P.E.I. Sun is one of the ways you can get a technical education at U.P.E.I. Try it - you'll like it.
