PRESIDENT OPENS TB CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Harry T. Holman, Summerside, president of the Prince Edward Island Tuberculosis League, initiates the 55th annual Christmas seal sale campaign by making the first purchase from Dianne Clow, Grand Tracadie, and Ida Bell MacKenzie, one of the 14 children being treated at the Provincial Sanatorium. Some 20,000 letters containing seals have been mailed to Island homes. Funds from the sale of Christmas seals are used to maintain the service of a mobile chest X-ray unit, TB research and health education.

PCs Speed Organization For Coming P.E.I. Election

Moving swiftly following yesterday's election announcement by Premier Walter R. Shaw, the Progressive Conservative party has called an "immediate" meeting of the electoral district presidents.

The PCs will hold conventions in all 15 electoral districts. One of the first will be in Premier Shaw's First Queens district.

Meanwhile Premier Shaw has elaborated on his reasons for calling the Dec. 10 election.

He said yesterday that because the government's large program was so comprehensive and all-embracing the government members felt they should go to the people for a mandate to carry on.

He said plans proposed for solving fishing industry development problems will be announced later.

The government, he said also intends with the approval of the local school boards, to develop the regional high schools as centres for economic and cultural activities.

CENTENNIAL PLANS

Another reason, Premier Shaw said, was to give whatever government that comes into power the opportunity to have a full year to organize and carry out plans for the Island's Centennial Year activities in 1964.

"Among other things, we seek support of our adult education program, a movement that will influence all our people," he said.

Referring to statements made by Liberal Leader A. W. Matheson, Thursday, Premier Shaw said "It was the Liberal administration that imposed the premium system of hospital insurance on the people of the province; they said it would be voluntary, then broke their promise and made it compulsory."

Mr. Matheson has said that if the Liberals are elected his government will call a session of the Legislature and have the premium system abolished.

ABOLISH PREMIUMS

In announcing the election Thursday, Premier Shaw said the Conservative administration would abolish the premium system and pay the cost of the hospital insurance plan out of the general revenue of the province.

He also stated that the Conservative record will be bared in answer to Mr. Matheson's charge that the state of the province's finances is "tragic."

Mentioning New Democratic Party Ian Webster's suggestion that "the PCs are using the premier, trying to drag into power on his skirts, knowing that he is about to resign," the Premier said "my health is very good, and I think I will be in politics for a long time."

Appeal On 'Wash' Possession Conviction Allowed At S'side

SUMMERSIDE — An appeal from a conviction of possession of "wash" laid against Claude Lester McKenna, Elmsdale, March 10, 1962 was allowed yesterday by Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell in Supreme Court.

In addition, the conviction and sentence was quashed and $50 as portion of the costs will be paid by the respondent to the appellant.

McKenna was convicted by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald in Prince County Magistrate's court earlier this year.

William Reddin acted for the crown. Defence counsel was J. Watson MacNaught QC.

Brother of the accused, Lloyd McKenna had testified that he ran the farm and that he had put the liquid in the barrel when accused was away.

During the argument of the case, Mr. MacNaught stated that the case was so elementary that he allowed the original evidence to be accepted here "there was no conflict whatsoever", stated Mr. MacNaught.

Mr. Reddin, in his argument, stated that Mr. MacNaught referred to the case as being so elementary. "I believe elementary my dear Watson is the expression", stated Mr. Reddin. "Amazing", said the Chief Justice.

Mr. Reddin stated, in explaining the Excise Act section, that even though accused may not have set up the operation, if he knew of it then it would be the same as if he had set up the articles.

agricultural shows where the opposition invariably includes some of the most famous herds in the United States as well as these in this country.

He was the first private breeder to win the coveted Master Breeder's Shield, which is the breed's most distinguished award.

The Jones herd held many Canadian records and several world records. The herd held forty-eight records of more than 600 pounds butter fat, which is unusually high, and five of them ranged between 1,000 and 1,317 pounds butter fat.

Another achievement of the herd was posting a Canadian ROP record of performance 3 year average test for 38 milk cows of 4.96 per cent, which was believed to have been the highest average herd test ever recorded in Holstein history.

There were at least three world records made in the herd Countess Abbekerk Heimke earned his first world record back around 1926. Abegweit Milady made world butterfat records as a 3-year old and 4-year old in the 305-ay division in 1944 and 1945.

Abegweit Stardust completed her world record in 1954, the year Senator Jones died in his Ottawa office. It was for 1,317 pounds fat from 26,172 pounds milk as a nine year old cow.

sider that the time now has come when we should place this record before the public and seek their verdict.

"There was another consideration of equal importance. We are now prepared to put before our people a program for the development of the province of Manitoba during the next four years.

The election had been considered by the cabinet for the last few months but nothing definite had been decided until certain conclusions had been reached about future politices.

CALLS IT COINCIDENCE

Mr. Roblin said it was "coincidential" that he tried Wednesday to appoint former Liberal Rene Prefontaine to the cabinet, only to have Mr. Prefontaine, son and grandson of Manitoba Liberal - Progressive cabinet ministers, back out at the last moment.

However, Liberal Leader Gil Molgat saw a connection.

"It seems the province is being run on fits of temper tantrums. The premier didn't get his way Wednesday and we have an election Friday."

A. R. (Russ) Paulley, provincial leader of the New Democratic Party, said: "I'm surprised Mr. Roblin called a winter election. I don't think it is the proper time for an election in Manitoba, but I can understand his trying to clear the air and get a new mandate from the people in view of his recent faux pas."

Reg Pearen, president of the Manitoba Social Credit League, said: "I must say I didn't expect an election this year."

All opposition party leaders hoped to have candidates in all 57 ridings.

Shaw Tried To Inform Matheson

Immediately after Thursday afternoon's decision by the government to call a provincial general election, Premier Walter R. Shaw made several attempts to inform Opposition Leader A.W. Matheson of the Dec. 10 election date before the official announcement was made.

"It was unfortunate that the news leaked out ahead of the official pronouncement," the premier said, "and that Mr. Matheson learned of it from another source.

"However, every attempt was made by myself to contact Mr. Matheson. After Thursday's meeting, I phoned his office several times, tried another number I was given, and phoned his home. I could not locate him and left word for him to call me."

Mr. Matheson said Thursday night that it "is only a matter of common courtesy that the leader of the opposition should be informed before a general announcement."

Premier Shaw said "that courtesy was extended but Mr. Matheson could not be located."

POLITICAL

The Third Queens Liberals meet at Mt. Stewart next Thursday evening to name their candidates. Former agriculture minister Eugene Cullen, Charlottetown is again available and is almost sure to be named on the councillor ticket. Five names are suggested as possible candidates on the assemblyman ticket. They include Cecil A. Miller, Frenchfort, who contested Queens in federal elections on several occasions; Harry MacLaughlan, Stanhope, president of the Queens County Liberal Association; Oliver Smith, a Savage Harbor fisherman, Smith MacFarlane, Harrington and Roland MacDonald, Southport.

Mr. Miller is available for nomination if the people want him, it was reported reliably last night by a member of the several delegations who have called on him since the election date was announced.

Mr. Smith is available for nomination it was learned reliably, and Mr. MacLaughlan is "giving the idea consideration." Mr. MacDonald said he has been approached to offer for nomination but had not reached a decision last night. Mr. MacFarlane could not be reached for comment.

Ian MacLeod, Charlottetown lawyer said he will offer for nomination in Second Queens, although he is not sure on which ticket he will offer. He ran on the councillor ticket in 1959 and then gave over to George Kitson, Hampshire for the by-election in July, 1961.

Fred iKtson, who operates a farm machinery dealership at North River said he is available if the convention wants him, and Horace Willis is mentioned as a strong possibility. The nominating convention will likely be held in Kingston on Saturday of next week.

FIFTH QUEENS

The situation in Fifth Queens was uncertain last night. Elmer Blanchard, Charlottetown lawyer said he is giving the matter consideration, but there was also a suggestion that his entry into the field may depend on whether Alex A. MacIsaac, who represented the district from 1935 to 1939 is ready to offer again. Mr. MacIsaac was in Moncton last night and could not be reached for his reaction.

Reliable reports indicated that pressure is being brought to bear on B. Earle MacDonald, former provincial treasurer and health minister to offer again. Mr. MacDonald who had indicated sometime ago that he was retiring from politics was not available last night for comment.

The Charlottetown convention will be held Saturday, November 17, it is expected.

Questions Are Raised At PE Conference Here

Have the professionals in the field of physical education and recreation given cause for public misunderstanding of these two professions? This was the question raised by John Wilkie giving the keynote address to the 14th annual conference of the Atlantic Provinces Physical Education and Recreation Association yesterday.

Mr. Wilkie, director of physical education for Saskatchewan, spoke on the theme "live, do not exist". The conference, attended by about 200 delegates from the four provinces, is being held for the first time in this province, and runs through to this evening.

Premier Walter Shaw officially opened the conference yesterday afternoon following the president's welcome by Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore. Councillor Dorothy Corrigan brought greetings from the City of Charlottetown on behalf of Mayor A. W. Gaudet.

Mr. Wilkie's address maintained that one of the chief problems faced by the profession is the lack of understanding by the general public of "what we are trying to accomplish". Physical and mental fitness is relegated to a "fun and games category".

He raised the questions whether or not physical education instructors and recreation officials have contributed to such various ills as the attitude that 'phys. ed.' and recreation programs are sports, a nation of spectators through emphasis on winning teams or an over-emphasis of program areas for gate proceeds.

Other points raised were whether the programs contain too much activity and not enough solid content? Is there a desire for programs for all citizens? What is the stand on athletic scholarships?

He suggested that the profession should interpret the real role of physical education and recreation, be aware of other programs, successes and failures, and "make sure that ours is a growing virile profession."

Divided sessions on a general program for elementary schools, wrestling, girls' basketball and space for the future filled up the remainder of the afternoon. Following dinner by courtesy of the commercial exhibitors, Hugh Noble, physical education director in Nova Scotia, reported on the Canadian Conference on Education.

A tour of Charlottetown followed by square dancing at St. Dunstan's University completed yesterday's activities.

Liquor Case Is Adjourned

SUMMERSIDE — The case of Joseph Percy Gallant, Summerside, charged with keeping liquor for sale, was further adjourned yesterday in police court by Magistrate R.S. Hinton at the request of defence counsel J. Watson MacNaught. Gallant had earlier pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Joseph Kenneth Blacquiere, Summerside, was given a one years suspended sentence and his father signed a $100 bond, for having possession of an offensive weapon in the form of a blackjack on Hallowe'en night. Blacquiere earlier pleaded guilty to the charge.

Thomas Chappell, Summerside, was fined $100 and costs after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Rotary Anns Commended At S'side

SUMMERSIDE — Christmas motif will be used for the Rotary Ann tea and bazaar in aid of retarded children, it was decided at the meeting of Rotary Anns held at the home of Mrs. Claude Ives Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs. C. E. Corney presided.

J. Watson MacNaught, QC, the president of the Summerside branch of the Association for Retarded Children, was introduced to the meeting and spoke briefly to the members.

"A phenomenal change has taken place," he said during the last few years in the attitude of the public towards the problem of the retarded child and predicted that, "in a short time, all governments would recognize their responsibilities and take over the functions now performed by volunteer groups."

He reviewed briefly the highlights of the annual meeting of the national association held in Halifax in September.

Rotary Anns were to be commended, he said, for their dedication to their work for retarded children and stated that their enthusiasm would ensure that their tea and bazaar Nov. 28 would be an outstanding success.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. J. M. Logan and Mrs. W. E. MacCausland. Mrs. MacCausland graciously invited the members to her home for the next meeting to be held on the first Wednesday in December.

St. Roch Man, Wife Injured In Home Fire

TIGNISH — A fire at the home of George DesRoches, St. Roch, at 8 a.m. yesterday sent Mr. and Mrs. DesRoches to the Western Hospital in Alberton, suffering burns and shock.

The fire broke out when the water tank on a kitchen stove was filled with gasoline. The can used to fill the water tank had been loaned, and when returned it was thought to contain water which was used to fill the tank. The blaze broke out when wood was being put in the stove and the tank became ignited.

Neighbours quickly gathered and were able to put out the fire. The Tignish fire department was called and gave what assistance it could. Considerable fire and water damage was caused.

Mr. and Mrs. DesRoches were badly burned about the hands and face.
