

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 5, 1883.

King's County Exhibition.

The annual Exhibition of the Agricultural Products of King's County, was held at Georgetown yesterday. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather, the attendance was very large. All portions of the county were represented by the "sturdy yeomanry," with their sisters, cousins, etc., who appeared to manifest a lively interest in the success of the Exhibition. The management of the affair was in excellent hands, and the arrangements for the convenience of spectators and exhibitors, were first-class. In all classes over eight hundred entries were made. This shows that competition was generally brisk, and that the good people of King's are becoming alive to the improvements wrought by an annual display of the farm, garden, and dairy products.

The live stock exhibited yesterday, was, in our opinion, superior to that of previous years. Still, in some classes, cows for instance, a vast improvement in breeds can yet be made. The horses, generally, were good. Carriage colts and filly's were particularly fine, and a number of substantial draft mares with foals were to be seen on the grounds. The show of bulls was creditable. A fine Ayershire, four years old, owned by John Nicholson, Dundas, attracted much attention and was awarded first prize. Two fine Durham's, owned by Mr. Daniel McCormack, and Mr. Alex. Smith, respectively, were also shown, and received prizes. The exhibit of sheep was first-class. Downs and Longwools were well represented. Among the chief exhibitors were Mr. Robert Dewar, New Perth; Mr. F. G. Boyer, Georgetown; Mr. D. McDonald, New Perth. The show of pigs was very small, but some fine bred porkers were to be seen, nevertheless.

The exhibit of grain and grass seeds was large and very good. The wheat which took first prize, weighed sixty-eight pounds, the first prize barley weighed fifty-eight pounds, the white oats forty-nine pounds, and black forty-three pounds. In roots and vegetables the competition was particularly brisk, and the exhibit large and creditable to all concerned. Altogether the exhibit in the Drill Shed was far in advance of previous years. The butter, cheese, fruit, fancy work, textile fabrics, etc., were excellent. Where so many contributed to make such an interesting and successful show, we are at a loss to make distinctions.

We are pleased to congratulate the Chairman—Hon D. Gordon—the Secretary—Geo. F. Owen, Esq.—and the King's County Commissioners, on the success of this year's Exhibition, and we now express the hope that the exhibit of 1884 will be as well managed and a greater success than the one of yesterday.

The prize list will be found on our first page.

Editorial Notes.

—The Department of Agriculture have received advices from Liverpool to the effect that a cargo of 1,000 sheep from Canada have been ordered for slaughter on account of one sheep, said by the authorities there to have been affected with scab on landing. A strict investigation has been made by Prof. McEachern, the chief quarantine inspector at Point Levi, and he greatly doubts that the disease was scab at all, for if scab had shown itself during the voyage all the sheep in the pen would have been affected. It is his opinion it was some skin eruption that had shown itself during the voyage in consequence of bad weather. It is a well-known fact to the trade that skin eruptions are more common among sheep at sea during boisterous weather, and that sheep wet with salt water and closely penned are apt to suffer from eczema, which may easily be mistaken for scab. It is hardly needful to point out that it is absolutely necessary for Canadian shippers, seeing that our stock is exposed to such severe and apparently one-sided inspection, to use the greatest care in forwarding only healthy animals. In this case 999 sheep were sacrificed because one poor lamb was announced tainted with a scheduled disease. This ought to emphasize the absolute necessity for the greatest care being exercised by our shippers and all concerned.

—Earnest efforts have recently been made in London to improve the condition of the laboring classes of that city, and with the most gratifying results. There exists no people in the world that have harder struggles with poverty than a large proportion of the artisans of London. Working, as numbers of them do, on what would be called in America "starvation wages," and having proportionately speaking high rents to pay to exacting landlords, out of the pittance they earn, perhaps there is no class that have degenerated into such carelessness and apathy as they. Referring to the latest efforts in the direction of improvements, a London paper says: The opening of Noel park—100 acres to be covered with dwellings—is a memorable event. The public mind has been a long time taking in the urgent need of a wholesale reform in this matter. But the subject is now being grappled with in real earnest, and men like Lord Shaftsbury (who for forty years has been agitating for better homes for the working classes) have some reason to congratulate themselves. Movements such as the Artizan's Dwellings' Company, and there are many other similar organizations, are among the most healthy signs of the time. Yet it should be remembered that the aggregate of all such efforts barely suffices to meet the annual increase of the working population of London.

—A public meeting was held in the Albert Hall, Leeds, by the Parnellites, on Saturday, the 29th September last. Thomas Power O'Connor presided over the meeting, which was largely attended. Sexton, in the course of his remarks, said the immense gathering before him proved the truth of the saying that there was a greater Ireland beyond the sea. It seemed as if Irishmen had taken peaceable possession of the British Isles. The speaker reminded his hearers that they were children of emigrants who left Ireland in tears. He solemnly asserted that the day had come when the elect of the Irish race would assemble on College Green. The Convention had given a fresh proof of confidence in Parnell by committing the fortunes of the federation to seven of his followers. Sexton declared that he cared nothing for the contempt of English men. Biggar said Irishmen were not afraid of a Tory Government. In some prospects Tory rule would pay the Irish well. For instance, they would profit from a foreign war. The meeting passed resolutions unanimously expressing confidence in the Irish leaders, pledging itself to the policy in local parliamentary elections best calculated to promote the Irish cause, promising its support to the executive, and congratulating Ulster on its campaign against landlordism and bigotry. A resolution was also unanimously adopted denouncing mob violence and rebuking journals for hounding Protestants to outrages.

—Faction fights in Ireland between Orangemen and Parnellites are creating considerable excitement and alarm. The latter had laid out a programme for a brisk campaign in the North of Ireland, which, with but one single exception, the County Down, has been hostile to the policy and principles of the Home Rule party. This party purpose making strenuous efforts to capture Antrim, Armagh and Tyrone at the next general election. Already has the campaign commenced, and on Thursday last a meeting was held at the town of Dunganon, in Tyrone county, famous as the place where the National Parliament was organized. The population of the city, especially the voting population preponderates in favor of Orange representation, as it is almost entirely Orange. To meet the necessity of the case the Home Rulers intend bringing out an ultra-Protestant candidate, but an active supporter of their own. The meeting held on Thursday last was, however, very far from being satisfactory to the Parnellites. The Orangemen held a meeting at the same time and passed resolutions strongly antagonistic to the views of the National Party. Soon afterwards there was a collision between the two parties and a free fight ensued. A story was circulated and which received considerable credence, to the effect that Mr. Parnell was killed. Though a great many were inclined to ridicule the report, yet they were numerous, who believed it to be only too true, and for a time the wildest excitement prevailed. Happily, however, the great Irish agitator turned up all right. The Orange demonstrations still continue and military have been sent North to keep the peace.

—The steamer "Worcester," Capt. Blankenship, sailed for Boston, yesterday, with a cargo consisting of 1,100 barrels mackerel, 1,000 cases of eggs, 25 bags potatoes, and 3 barrels of sounds. She had also the following passengers:—Katie A McCormack, Maggie McKinnon, Miss B McNevin, Mrs James Hennessey, Isabella McDonald, Katherine McDonald, Annie Hennessey, Florrie Scott, Bertha Jones, Maggie Finlayson, E Martin, Miss D Nicholson, Katie Munroe, Ella J Fleming, Jessie Gillis, Miss Beaton, Katie Beaton, Annie Beaton, Dan Beaton, Maggie Beaton, Miss McDougall, Daniel Lane, James Kelly, Mrs Balson, Martha Sulliphant, Lizzie Sulliphant, Mrs James Robertson, Jessie Robertson, Lydia Robertson, Dolly Robertson, Mrs Bourk, Jane Martin, Sarah Machon, Peter Gillis.

—The steamship "Coban," Captain Daniel Anderson, arrived at this port yesterday and is now taking in freight at Conolly's wharf. The "Coban" is one of the Black Diamond Steamship Company's vessels of Montreal. She is a large handsome steamer with superior cabin accommodations, and every facility for carrying freight. She leaves this evening for Montreal.

—ARCHIBALD McNEILL, Esq., arrived home from the St. John Exhibition last evening, and speaks in the highest terms of the courtesy and kindness extended by the people of St. John to himself and all other Islanders as well. In every class, he says, represented by the Island at the exhibition, we took prizes more or less.
