

Inserted by the family MICHAEL F. MURNAGHAN Many friends and neighbours of Tarantum and surrounding districts were shocked at the sudden passing off Mr. Michael F. Murnaghan, of the Charlottetown Hospital on Monday morning, January 24th, 1966, aged 76 years.

He had entered hospital just three weeks previously and was thought to be improving when he was suddenly stricken with a heart attack. There he was administered the last rites of the Catholic Church of which he was a faithful member.

He was born and lived at Tarantum where he was a successful farmer.

He was the son of the late Dennis Murnaghan and Susan Croken.

Left to mourn are his wife, the former (Anna Brazel), six sons: Andrew, Rudolph, Stephen, Dennis, John and Joseph. Also thirty-five grandchildren. His only brother predeceased him in 1909.

His funeral which was largely attended, was held on Wednesday morning, January 26th, 1966 from his late residence to St. Patrick's Church, Fort Augustus, where High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Vincent G. Murnaghan. Seated in the sanctuary were: Rev. Basil Croken, Rev. Allan MacDonald and his organ for Rev. James Smith Service at the grave was conducted by Rev. Vincent G. Murnaghan.

Honorary pallbearers were: Joseph Holland, John Beagan, Jethro Beagan, Cornelius Cumiskey, Maurice Cumiskey and James Murnaghan.

Active pallbearers were the six sons of the deceased.

A wonderful husband and father has gone to rest. For all of us he did his best. His life was true, his heart was kind. A better father none could find. May his soul rest in Peace.

CARD OF THANKS The wife and family of the late Mr. Michael F. Murnaghan wish to extend their sincere thanks to Dr. F.A. MacMillan, sisters and nursing staff of the Charlottetown Hospital, Rev. Father Reid, the Reverend clergy who visited him, also those who sent Masses and sympathy cards or helped in any way during their recent sad bereavement.

WHERE QUE. LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DIED

Quebec Lieutenant-Governor Paul Comtois died early Monday in a fire that swept his official residence in Silley, near Quebec City. The fire began around midnight and less than 15 minutes later all Bois de Coulonge was ablaze. Everyone else in the 104-year-old residence, including Mme. Comtois, escaped, some with burns. The fire is believed to have started in a men's cloak-room but Lt.-Col. Martin, aide to the lieutenant-governor did not deny reports that a series of explosions were heard at the start of the fire. Sanderson Steer Is One Of Top Trio

By NEIL A. MATHESON The Fulton Sanderson steer that was grand champion at the Atlantic Winter Fair last November was one of the three best steers in Canada last year, it was learned here yesterday through the Canada department of agriculture.

So far as could be learned the top animal at Canadian steer shows in 1965 was a show topper in Saskatchewan that had a total of 65 out of 72 points in carcass grading. The Sanderson steer by comparison had 60 points, though he very probably had more in the live weight placing - the Sanderson steer had 17 points there out of a possible 18.

Where the Island steer went down in this comparison was in the points earned for average weight per day of age. The Island steer earned nine points out of the 18.

That's where our Island steers often fall down, observed H.C. Hearty, Livestock Officer with the department here. Only one of the steers that showed at the Provincial Exhibition show here last year earned any points in this category. That, by the way, was the grand champion that was shown by Mr. Justice R.R. Bell.

Island steers, however, are not the only ones that go down in the weight-per-day-of-age category. The Ottawa steer that came second at Halifax, for example, earned 50 points in that category. His grand total of 73 1/2 points was 12 points behind the Sanderson steer, so he was a very poor second.

HOWLAND STEER BEST The best steer in the weight-per-day-of-age category was the steer shown by Bruce Carruthers, Howland, P.E.I. with a total of 16 points out of the possible 18.

British Defence Position Being Changed By Healey

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON LONDON (AP) - With the precision of a plastic surgeon, Defence Minister Denis Healey is changing the face of Britain in a world dominated by super-powers. Healey is at the centre of the most far-reaching survey ever taken of this once mighty realm's military policies at home and abroad. His philosophy reflects that of the Labor government he represents. "Britain is a world power whether we like it or not," he once wrote. "But we are no longer in a position to impose our views by force, least of all by nuclear force." Healey's aim: -To define the limits of what Britain can do, in order to survive, and achieve her international goals. His measuring-rod: -An annual budget of $3,600,000,000 until 1970 to fulfil those jobs which the nation is honour-bound to carry out. This has involved calculating the cost-effectiveness - in the style of U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara - of every British soldier, gun, tank, plane and ship.

MAYHEW RESIGNED One member of Prime Minister Wilson's labor government, Navy Minister Christopher Mayhew, resigned Saturday after voicing growing disagreement in the country with the government's defence policy and the philosophy behind it. Mayhew claimed Britain is far too over-committed to the defence of the world, especially east of Suez, and money allotted to carry out defence policy is far too little.

First conclusions of Healey's 15-month review are due out Tuesday. They would affect about 100 nations around the world with which Britain has treaties or commitments. Among the chief decisions: 1. East of Suez Britain will maintain a military presence, sharing with the Americans and other allies the task of guarding peace and order. This commitment has been assumed on the understanding that such countries as the United States, Australia and New Zealand will never leave Britain to cope alone with a medium power such as Indonesia.

2. In weaponry, British policy will be rationalized on the principle of inter-dependence. Air power will be based on the American Phantom and F-111 planes which can carry nuclear payloads. No more aircraft carriers.

about the possibilities of the Beef Producers Association. Just before I completed this column I talked to Mr. McIsaac and he has an unusually interesting meeting lined up here in Charlottetown for the afternoon and evening of March 16.

He has two of the best men in Canada, he tells me, on corn silage and on Urea - this is a synthetic produce that's figuring strong in the livestock feed world now. This story is carried elsewhere in this paper. Further stories and column reference will likely come later when more details are available.

We had a bang up meeting at O'Leary and we're planning other ones at Kensington and Souris, he tells me, before the big one in Charlottetown on March 16. The planning for Charlottetown is so large they just might try to get Confederation Centre, Leo tells me, although the Basilia Recreation Centre is another possibility.

Before being elected to the House of Commons in 1962, Healey worked as head of the Labor party's international department. He wrote several pamphlets, including one which explained why Labor in Britain felt it had to side with the U.S. against the Soviet Union.

Healey was an intimate of the Labor party's late leader, Hugh Gaitskell, whom Wilson succeeded. During the party's long period of office Healey studied the implications of nuclear warfare. He frequently visited the universities of what he terms "the egghead belt" in the eastern United States. He argued the need for facing the risks of the terror balance without panic and then to consider how nuclear arms can be kept under control.

Outcome of his studies was a series of writings which shaped Labor philosophy. In "a neutral belt in Europe" he advanced the idea of a neutral zone between Russia and the allies. In "the race against the H-bomb" he called for a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

Reaction Is Seen Favorable To Canadian Peace Ideas By ARCH MACKENZIE WASHINGTON (CP) - A cautious Canadian peace initiative on Viet Nam so far has drawn "nothing but the most favorable reaction," External Affairs Minister Martin said after talks with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

Canada now awaits the response of India and Poland, its partners on the International Control Commission established in 1954 but never effective as a truce referee in Viet Nam.

Martin's objective is a renewed Geneva conference on Viet Nam, with a unanimous three-national request for such a conference to co-chairmen Britain and the Soviet Union. Russia has resisted such requests.

Martin suggested the commission might be used to bridge the gap between peace efforts in the United Nations Security Council and the Geneva conference.

COULD BE USEFUL The commission is equipped to play a useful role but a conference should not be expected soon, Martin said.

That is the general assumption here where Martin's visit coincided with a climax in the often-heated debate on the official U.S. policy on Viet Nam and critics on the Senate foreign relations committee.

Rusk Friday made it plain to the committee - Martin said privately he was greatly impressed with a head-to-head dialogue between Rusk and the committee chairman, J. W. Fulbright - that the U.S. feels North Viet Nam won't bargain until it has been hit harder. There was no sign of any softening in the U.S. on conditions for talks.

Martin's visit was received quietly. It was coupled with some spade-work on the annual cabinet discussions of economic and trade matters here March 4-5.

Martin, who will attend the talks, said he repeated two Canadian concerns to Rusk. Both will be aired further. One is the impact on Ameri-

Mrs. William Acorn returned to her home in Souris East following treatment in St. John Hospital. Mrs. Floyd MacLean was hostess to the members of the Missionary Society in the Kingsboro Church basement room recently. Mr. Lloyd Kennedy, Boston, Mass., is spending some time with friends and relatives in Charlottetown and Kingsboro. Mr. Kennedy came home to attend the funeral of his uncle, Harvey Stewart, Kingsboro.

Mr. (Ross) Johnnie Young Red Point, accompanied with Mr. Layton Green, Albany, are spending some time in Montreal and Sudbury, Ont. Both are dealers with Massey-Ferguson Company.

Following the Sunday night Church service in the Kingsboro Baptist Church, all proceeded to the Church basement for the monthly Hymn Sing. Refreshments were served by the members of the World Wide Guild.

Mrs. Daniel Bruce accompanied by her young son returned to their home in East Baltic from the Souris Hospital.

Mr. Ralph Robertson returned to his home in Kingsboro, having been a patient in the Souris Hospital for the past three weeks. On Thursday night an enjoyable get-together took place in the Church basement, Kingsboro, when a large attendance of the congregation of both churches went to spend the evening with their pastor and his wife, Rev. M.O. Smith and Mrs. Smith.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Richard Ching and the choir members and audience had an enjoyable sing-song of hymns. Mrs. Carl MacVane also played the accordion and Mrs. Smith sang a favorite old hymn.

MISCOCUCHE Friends and neighbors with Charles W. Mallett of Miscouche, a speedy recovery in Prince County Hospital.

The attendance of 250 people is said to be a record for a first aid class in this province. Guest speakers last week were Dr. George Lea and Dr. J.L. Saunders. Examinations were held this week for those taking a refresher course and following week the exams for the beginners will be held.

The group committee of Miscouche pack consisting of Cubs, Brownies, Guides and Scouts are presenting a variety show to promote scouting in the community. There will also be a handicraft display by the various groups. A church parade will be held on Sunday morning. These activities are to celebrate the joint birthday of Lord and Lady Baden Powell.

How to be a two-account family the permanent way

(it makes sense and it makes money—for you!)

Here's what you do: Pay household and personal bills from your Regular account which earns 3 1/2% interest. No service charges either! Meanwhile, save with a Special account which earns you a big 4%.

You can make withdrawals at any time on your Special account, but not by cheque. This makes you save! A cheque is too tempting. Be a two-account family the permanent way and watch your cash reserve grow and grow.
