Confiscation Request Made In Lobster Case

ALBERTON — Two Cascumpec residents, Ralph Arsenault and Harold Stirling Arsenault, pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald at Alberton yesterday to possession of 300 undersized lobsters.

Fishery Officer Norman MacLeod described the seizure of the five lobsters along with a 1951 Ford half-ton truck and requested an order for confiscation of the vehicle.

Chief Protection Officer Warren Farrar stated that one of the accused, Ralph Arsenault had three previous convictions under the fishery regulations and requested a severe penalty. The men also had a 12-year-old boy with them, Mr. Farrar stated, which he considered a poor way to teach conservation of the lobster industry.

Judgement was adjourned to Summerside on Nov. 1 at 9.30 a.m. The prosecution was conducted by George McMahon.

Charles Patrick Powers, Alberton South, was found guilty of possession of 792 undersized lobsters and fined $200 or 60 days. Defence counsel J. Watson MacNaught, QC, asked for a nominal fine by reason of the age of the accused which he gave as 16 and also the fact that it was his first offense under the fishery regulations.

A quantity of equipment, including a flame thrower, seized in connection with the case, was ordered confiscated by the magistrate.

For failing to stop following a highway accident, Harold William Lidstone, Knutsford, was fined $50 and costs.

Charles Edward Deagle, Minnegash was fined $10 and costs for driving without a licence and a second charge for a similar infraction was adjourned for a week.

Joseph Alfred Gallant, Tignish, was fined $25 and costs for possession of liquor not purchased from a vendor and two others were each fined $20 and costs for possession of liquor in a place other than their residence.

Bannerman Mitchell Lockhart, Coleman, pleaded not guilty of driving while impaired by alcohol or a drug and the case was adjourned to Dec. 5.

Hector DesRoches, Tignish, was fined $25 and costs or 15 days for driving without due care and attention and Harold Hazen Gard, Mill River, was given a warning for a similar charge.

LABOR COUNCIL

ON STRAIGHT TIME

The council feels that the hourly rates should only apply to straight time, and should have no bearing on the number of hours worked per day, or vacations with pay, punitive overtime rates, service on statutory holidays or Sunday work.

In regard to any regulation to regulate the various aspects of vacations, statutory holidays, and punitive overtime rates, the council felt that at present any observance of a standard rule for the various services supplied throughout the province would make it impossible to set a rule of law that could successfully be applied to all employers.

On this subject of overtime rates the council claimed that it was not insisting on any set rate of overtime pay, and suggested that such a section should not be included in the act.

SEES ADVERSE EFFECT

Mr. MacLean noted that forced payment of fixed overtime rates would have an adverse effect on many small businesses. He pointed out that many of these types of operation are compelled to remain open for business longer than a normal seven or eight hour day, in order to keep their heads above water.

While the majority of them could still manage to operate under the minimum $1 per hour rate straight time, Mr. MacLean was of the opinion that a forced overtime rate could eventually force them out of business.

Under these circumstances the council urged that such a section be excluded, and the matter of overtime pay be left entirely to negotiation between employer and employee.

In asking for this to be left out of the act, the council stated that the present Labor Relations Act, is such as to make it possible for labor to improve their minimum wage, hours of service and overtime, through negotiation.

COST OF LIVING

In further support for the Minimum Wage Act, it was pointed out that the 1939 cost of living was used as the 100 per cent base, and at that time the common practice in Charlottetown was to pay labor 34 cents an hour. Than when the 1949 costs of living was used as the 100 per cent, the index had actually risen to 200 per cent over 1939.

Applying this to the 1939 wage rate it shows that the minimum hourly rate should have been 80 cents per hour. The council noted that since 1949 the cost of living index has risen to over 120, and applying this to the 80 cent rate of that year, it now brings the minimum rate to roughly $1.

Under these circumstances, with the minimum rate set at $1 the council felt would not appreciably improve the hourly rate, but would tend to bring the standard of living to about what it was in 1939.

In addition to Mr. MacLean, other council members waiting on the board were, Richard Carroll, Parkdale, recording secretary, Clarence Mason, Charlottetown, treasurer, and D.F. Cheverie, Souris, chairman of the legislative committee. The session was presided over by Charles R. McQuaid, chairman of the Labor Relations Board.

Tignish Enjoys Co-op Rally Marking Credit Union Day

TIGNISH — A co-op rally was held in the Tignish Regional High School auditorium Tuesday evening with Kenneth McRae, master of ceremonies welcoming the large crowd to help celebrate Co-op Week and International Credit Union Day.

John McInnis spoke on international credit union "People helping people to economic progress" and reminded the members that Oct. 18 is a day of thanksgiving. He spoke on the founding in Germany in the year 1849, and how Alphonse DesJardins brought the Credit Union movement to North America in 1900.

Urban LeBlanc of the extension department of St. Dunstan's University spoke on behalf of the Tignish president, Valmore Arsenault who is attending a credit union policy owners convention in Madison, Wis. He urged the members to support their credit union, encourage it, be active, study what it means, and go out and encourage your neighbour to join it. Mr. LeBlanc also showed some interesting films.

Special features during the evening included violin and piano selections by Alcid Richard, Henry Arsenault, and John Richard, and step dancing by the flying feet of Arsene Gallant and Mrs. Frank Hogan.

Solos were rendered by Mary Handrahan, Marie Buote, Ann Marie and Catherine Doucette. Piano accompaniment was by Miss Jean Perry, Terry Arsenault provided fun for the younger generation as he sang some of Elvis' latest hits.

Aubin Gallant led the happy audience in an old fashioned sing-song.

A door prize of $5 was won by Frank Doucette. Refreshments were served by the sponsoring committee with Mrs. Foster Sherry in charge. An hour of old time dancing was enjoyed following the refreshments.

Hospital Aid Has Card Party

ALBERTON — A card party, sponsored by the Western Hospital Aid was held at the hospital Tuesday evening. There were four tables in play.

Hostesses were Mrs. James O'Brien, Mrs. A.J. Bernard, Mrs. Joseph Gaudet, Mrs. Broderick, Mrs. Leo Gavin and Miss Frances McAlduff.

Calcutta Tourney Goes Saturday

SUMMERSIDE — The Calcutta, a golfing event much postponed by the weather, will at the Summerside Golf and Country Club at 1 p.m. on Saturday, and will be 18 holes. The draw will be made Friday evening during the oriental dinner and dance. A brand new list of entries for the draw begins this morning. The old list is now pretty much out-dated, and it is possible some who had entered will not be able to participate now, and others will want to enter.

All players on the old list should re-enter if they wish to take part.

P.E.I. Horses Are Winners

SACKVILLE DOWNS, N.S. (CP) — Two Summerside, P.E.I. horses, Security Scott owned by Andrew Perry and Echo Ridge Eddy owned by George Calbeck, were winners on the harness card Wednesday night. Security Scott, with 2:09 in race three, had the fastest time of the night.

Echo Ridge Eddy snared the exacta with Scott's Command.

Lord Knight, winning race five, split the quinella with Curtain Raiser for the highest combination return of the night, $97.70. The daily double was Knight Norris and Lee Texas.

Other winners were Master Bud, Armbro Barney and Harmony Bob.

Drama Class Reviews Problems

Mrs. Norma Springford of Montreal, director of a drama seminar here this week, said yesterday the seminar helps participants recognize, and possibly counteract, directional problems.

Approximately 12 drama enthusiasts from Summerside and Charlottetown are attending the week-long seminar at Prince of Wales College, sponsored by the Dominion Drama Festival Association.

"They learn through discussions on production difficulties in theatre and script," Mrs. Springford explained. She said she was favourably impressed with what she described as "a very good class."

In the informal sessions held each evening, the class discusses literary values of plays, as well as their dramatic styles. Members of the class take turns demonstrating techniques they have learned.

Mrs. Springford, who was 1962 adjudicator for the Prince Edward Island zone of the Dominion Drama Festival, is a free-lance professional director and producer. She also teaches drama at Sir George Williams University, Montreal.
